Still Growing, Los Angeles. Fit at 50? Why Not at 100? Garbo Talks. Only $150,000 a Year?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 23.

LOS ANGELES, stretching from the mountains, toward the East, to the great seaport on the Pacific, continues to grow and feel happy.

A proud native son talking by telephone to a friend in New York says first of all "I am sorry for you. The sun is so bright here, it puts your eyes out." And that is hardly an exaggeration.

Children with bare legs and bare arms play and grow in the warm air, all through the winter. No wonder they produce Californians like Helen Wills.

CALIFORNIA has a "Fit at Fifty" club, which politely sends you an honorary membership and says it is indorsed by the governor of the state.

California and every other state should have a "Fit at One Hundred" club. In this country fifty should be only the beginning of fitness, and hard work.

WHAT ships are to the Clyde, packing houses to Chicago, big banks to New York, and fat goose livers to Strassburg, moving pictures are to this Hollywood land.

The two biggest billboards read "Garbo Talks." They don't even mention the lady's first name, which is Greta.

And "At last the voice of voices, Norma Talmadge."

Two ladies, Bernhardt and Duse, might dispute that, but they are dead. Norma Talmadge much alive.

A LADY stockholder in the Fox Film Company complains that "William Fox paid himself a salary of $150,000." If that's true, Mr. Fox, like a distinguished servant of the East India Company, must be amazed at his own moderation.

One company that he controls pays each of two managers three times $150,000. And moving picture stars hired by him get $150,000 for one picture.

Even humble newspaper employes get more than that modest $150,000 salary. It isn't what you are paid, but what you produce that counts.

CHARLEY CHAPLIN has not made up his mind about the "talkies," although friends assure him that he would talk as well as he walks. He will come to the microphone in time.

MEANWHILE he wants to give up comedy and play Napoleon, Hamlet and Svengali. Chaplin is a genius and would play the parts well. But to ninety-nine out of one hundred it would be Svengali, Hamlet and Napoleon playing Charley Chaplin.

Millions that are vague about Napoleon know Chaplin and would recognize him in any disguise.

THE printer or telegrapher caused this column to say yesterday in the Los Angeles Examiner, and other papers perhaps, "five hundred pounds of water are needed to produce a ton of alfalfa." Production of one pound of alfalfa requires five hundred pounds of water. Under irrigation a ton of alfalfa requires one million pounds of water.

LOS ANGELES would like you to know that in manufacture of automobile tires, it is now the second city in the industry in America.

All great Eastern industries will eventually establish branches here, as the United States Steel Corporation has done and, gradually, the Pacific branch will outgrow the Atlantic headquarters.

HALF the water power in America goes to waste in this big ocean. Industry will harness all that and use the water for irrigation after the power is taken from it as it falls down hill.

THIS nation needs 250,000,000 more people to eat the food and use the automobiles, clothing, houses, and radio sets the country could produce.

Some day 500,000,000 Americans will live on the hill tops and mountain tops, and fly down to business or to work on plains and in valleys.

SOME, perhaps, not feeling very well, will fly, in airplanes carrying their own atmosphere up to that "ozone blanket" that covers the globe thirty miles above the earth's surface. Ozone is good for the health, multiplies the red blood corpuscles.

This is a very interesting planet already. What will it be when men develop it fully, in the "millions of millions of years" that science tells us we surely have ahead of us?

THE sale of radio sets tells the tale of American prosperity. 60,000 in 1922, 10,000,000 in American families now. So says W. D. Terrell, radio chief of the Department of Commerce. Eight years ago 75,000 listened in, now more than 40,000,000 listen.

PRESIDENT HOOVER got up before 5 o'clock in the morning to hear King George's speech.

A photograph of King George reading the speech was sent under the ocean by Western Union cable, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific over the telephone wires, and because of difference in the newspaper presses in California were printing the photograph, several hours before the King delivered it on the same day in London.

CABS READY TO OPERATE FRIDAY, IS REPORT

Violence and Picketing Near Stands Are Forbidden by Court on Company's Plea

Judge Ambrose B. Reid today granted a preliminary injunction against striking drivers of the Yellow Cab Company restraining them from interfering with operation of taxi cabs.

The court's action came as the Yellow and Green Cab companies prepared to make another effort to end the strike of 1,400 drivers, now in its twelfth day.

Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cab Company, declined to state when operation will start. Some reports say cabs will be sent out tomorrow morning.

250-YARD PICKET LIMIT

In the order, striking cab men are enjoined from threatening or molesting employes of the company, from picketing within 250 yards of any garage, cab stand or employe's home, or from calling epithets. Tuesday was set for a hearing on making the injunction permanent.

A petition by the company set forth that drivers have been brutally beaten and are fearful of their lives. A dozen acts of violence occur daily, the company avers.

Named as defendants in the suit are Charles A. Osgood, secretary and business manager, and members of the executive committee of Local No. 249-A, Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, with which the striking drivers are affiliated.

"PROTECTION"

"This injunction will act as a protection for the old employes who may return to work under the terms of the Davis agreement, under which all of the men agreed to return to work before midnight, January 23," Laird stated.

The agreement proposed by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis was accepted at first, but later was repudiated by the drivers.

P. J. McGrath, secretary of the Central Labor Union, parent body of organized labor, today declared union labor was backing the cab drivers and had indorsed the strike at a meeting January 16.

WARMER WAVE TO CHASE COLD

Clear and continued cold weather tonight will be followed by rapidly rising temperature tomorrow, Forecaster W. S. Broiz-man announced.

The mercury fell to 4 degrees above zero at 9 o'clock this morning, the lowest point of the last 24 hours, then started slowly upward. The temperature tonight will be around 10, Broizman predicted.

Warmer weather is on the way from the West. The cold was moderating over the Plains states today the map showed.

With two inches of snow on the ground ideal coasting conditions prevailed.

ANGLO PACT UP AT PARLEY

LONDON, Jan. 23.—America's naval agreement of parity with Great Britain was laid before the assembled naval powers of the world today at the first full session of the London naval arms conference, which saw an extremely cautious beginning of the difficult task of naval armament reduction.

By common agreement, no specific programs or demands were presented. The figures given by each chief delegate were confined to self-presentations of his particular nation's needs from the standpoint of naval strength as related to geographical position and political responsibilities.

PEACEFUL ATMOSPHERE

A peaceful atmosphere pervaded the meeting, none of the delegates exhibiting a desire to question the positions of the others.

Secretary of State Stimson started his speech by declaring that he would make no complete statement of America's requirements at this meeting, but added that "these requirements are well understood and cheerfully recog-

Realtors Move to Make Capital Model Dry City

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—A new move in the efforts to dry up Washington and have the capital the model city of the land was made today by real estate men through organized action pledging their support to the United States attorney's office to report all information that might lead to the closing up of speakeasies or the stopping of other prohibition violations.

John A. Petty, executive secretary of the Washington Real Estate Board, announced board members had been urged to report any suspected dry law violators in their respective properties with the view of ejecting all tenants found guilty in this respect.

The board has also given Leo A. Rover, Federal attorney, an up to date record of all realty transfers to aid in ascertaining the actual ownership of property.

Board officials in addition have taken up with Rover means of obtaining witnesses and evidence necessary to eject prohibition offenders from hotels, apartment houses, business buildings and other property under board control.

Byrd Facing Starvation

POLICE PUZZLED BY WEDDING KILLINGS

Five Hundred in Dance Hall Thrown Into Terror as Bullets Fly; Inquiry Opens

Out of the gayety which reigned at a wedding feast in Eagles' Hall, Stockton and Sherman avenues, last midnight there remained today only murder and mystery.

Two of the guests were dead and others of the 500 men, women and children were recovering from hysteria which followed a gun battle on the dance floor.

Salvatore Cirlingione, 34, of 1416 Nixon street, and Leo Badetto, 37, of 106 East Robinson street, were the victims.

Police say Badetto had shot Cirlingione, but they don't know who shot Badetto. The motive is a mystery.

WEDDING FEAST

The guests were celebrating the wedding of Angelina Gamaleese, of 1306 Liverpool street, and John Cancellieri, 26, of 1215 Liverpool street. They had been married in the morning and the feast had begun immediately.

It was midnight. Some guests were preparing to leave. Cirlingione had just danced with Lena Casanti, 15, of 1416 Nixon street, and was walking across the dance floor toward his wife when Badetto, wearing his hat and overcoat, approached.

Two shots rang out. His wife saw Cirlingione sink to the floor.

GUESTS IN PANIC

Badetto turned to leave, police reported, but guests crowded about him. Several shots were fired. Badetto fell.

Women screamed hysterically. Children ran to their mothers. When police arrived both men were sprawled on the floor, dead.

Police told of finding three revolvers in the basement of the building, one with six empty shells.

Charles Spallino, 30, of Pennsylvania avenue, a guest, was arrested, but police admitted he was taken simply because he is known in police circles. Today Magistrate Leo Rothenberg turned him over to the coroner.

DRY CRUSADER KILLS BOY

Another innocent victim, sacrificed in the name of prohibition enforcement, is registered on that ever increasing roll written in the smoke from the weapons of misguided officers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Gilbert Fox, a schoolboy, was killed by Barney Wells, a policeman of Northfield, Minn., August 28, 1926. P. A. Smith, coroner of Rice County, Minnesota, in reporting this shooting to the Washington Herald on July 3, 1929, wrote:

"This boy was riding with his aunt in the back of a little Ford truck. The officer, on the lookout for bootleggers, had parked his car in the middle of the road in the shade of some trees and when the Ford approached he stepped out on the road and ordered them to stop.

"The woman, fearing it was a holdup—it was 9:15 p. m.—failed to stop, but ran around the car in the road. The officer shot at the Ford and the boy received the bullet in the chest and died immediately.

"They found no liquor in the Ford."

IRENE, FAINTING, UNMANACLED ON TRAIN

Dague Worried, Solicitous, Doctor Called as Blonde Collapses on Way to Trial

By AL GOUGH

Sun-Telegraph correspondent and photographer aboard the train bringing Irene Schroeder and her sweetheart back to Pennsylvania. He made the westward journey through snowstorms by airplane, train and automobile.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Jan. 23.—(En route by rail to New Castle.)—Irene Schroeder, the blonde trigger woman, collapsed today on the train which is speeding her nearer to the scene where she will battle to escape the electric chair.

At her side stood her prisoner sweetheart, Glenn Dague, worried and solicitous. For the moment neither had thoughts of the murder of Corp. Brady Paul, for which murder they are being returned to New Castle, Pa., and although closely guarded, they were unmanacled.

Irene was improved as the train halted here. Her condition was at first believed by those on the train to be appendicitis, was blamed on recurrent after-effects of a previous operation for that ailment. Frequently the blonde complained of pains in the side.

DOCTOR SUMMONED

Dague was visibly worried. He sat upon the berth fanning her and chafing her wrists trying to restore consciousness and after a physician had administered to her he sat immobile at her side for hours, finally stretching out beside her on the berth for a brief nap before daylight.

At Vaughn, N. M., Dr. Z. E. Funk boarded the train. He had been summoned by telegraph. After a hasty examination he was ready to leave the train, having left medicine to be administered during the night.

CASE OF NERVES

"Only a case of nerves and what I would call a run down system," he said, but she became worse soon after he left.

During the day Irene and Dague chatted about inconsequential things, mostly with Lieut. Boettner, Detective Lee and the guards. Once in a while they talked of

Orie Begins Jail Term Secretly

John W. Orie, former police magistrate, is serving a six-month sentence in the county jail.

Quietly, Orie slipped into the United States marshal's office late yesterday and surrendered. He had been convicted in Federal Court of failure and refusal to file an income tax for 1925. The government contends his gross income for that year was $58,000. He was refused a new trial.

FIGHT TO HOLD DONNIE OPENS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—District Attorney John S. Powers today took action designed to keep 4-year-old Donnie Schroeder, son of Irene Schroeder, in the custody of Lawrence County authorities.

The prosecutor filed a petition which seeks to establish Donnie officially as a material witness in the murder of Corp. Brady Paul.

Thus Powers hopes to offset any attempts by relatives of Donnie to take him from custody of the police. Counsel for Donnie's family, former Congressman Ben Rosenbloom, was expected to start such an attempt.

It was also reported that the school teacher-wife of Glenn Dague, arrested with Irene, would be here to greet her husband, who deserted her two years ago, when he is brought back from Arizona.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Charged with accepting valuable gifts from Harry F. Sinclair and Henry Mason Day, wealthy oil men, Albert E. Kling, dentist in the District of Columbia jail, where the men were held, today was cited to appear before a special board of inquiry Saturday morning.

Capt. M. M. Barnard, superintendent of district penal institutions, after an investigation, reported today that Day gave Kling an automobile and that Sinclair had presented the dentist with a $150 wrist watch in exchange for what he said were special favors received while the oil men were serving sentences in the jail.

EXPLORERS TRAPPED IN ICE

U. S. Bares Antarctic Party's Peril by Appealing to Norway for Quick Aid

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Starvation and death from the sub-zero temperatures confront Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd and members of his South Polar expedition if they are unable to leave the wastes of the Antarctic before the impassable ice packs form next month, the State Department declared today.

The department admitted the seriousness of the situation now facing the Byrd party in its instructions to American minister to Norway Swenson to appeal to that government to have Norwegian whaling vessels, now in the vicinity of the polar region, help Byrd's boats to penetrate the ice.

FOOD ALMOST GONE

The department's instructions read:

"The Byrd expedition now is icebound and is not equipped to spend another winter on the barrier, as the food supply is virtually exhausted and Admiral Byrd has reported that several members of the expedition could not survive such an experience."

Swenson was told that unless Byrd received aid within 30 days no vessel, no matter how large and powerful, could get through the huge ice drifts. Safe passage of the expedition would be ensured if the powerful Norwegian Whalers could haul the little party from Little America within 15 days, the department said.

The minister was informed that one of the Norwegian whalers, the Nilsen-Alonso, was reported close, "steaming north through the pact, its master, Vermeli, having declined to assist Admiral Byrd without direct orders from his owners."

WHALERS LISTED

The instructions said the whalers north of the pack besides the Nilsen-Alonso, were the Cosmos, the C. A. Larsen, and the Sir James Clarke Ross. The State Department told the minister:

"Please take up this matter at once with the foreign office and request that the Norwegian government use its good offices to induce the above mentioned Norwegian whaling companies (the vessels owners) immediately to designate one of their vessels and to order the master to proceed to Little America and transport the 40 men of the expedition who are there and their equipment to the Byrd expedition's own vessel north of the ice pack. The relief vessels should get under way at the earliest possible moment and not in any circumstances later than Febbruary 5."

The department also made public instructions sent to Ambassador Dawes, at London, to ask the assitance of a British vessel, the Southern Princess, understood to be whale fishing in the vicinity of Ross Sea, and ask that vessel to be ready to proceed to Admiral Byrd's assistance upon Dawes' request.

TAMPICO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Twenty-two fishermen are believed to have perished in the sinking of two fishing vessels off Tampico Harbor during a storm. None was saved from the schooner Jose Luis. From the Conde Sigfredo only one of its crew of 10 was saved.

Jury Reaches Verdict But Woman Foreman Loses It

"Have the members of the jury reached a verdict?" Judge Frank T. Patterson asked the jury trying the case of Charles L. Streiner against the Keller Brothers Company.

"We have," chorused the jury.

"Who shall answer for you?" queried the judge.

"Our foreman," replied the jury.

"B-b-but, Judge," replied the foreman, Mrs. Carrie Davis, searching wildly in her pocketbook, "I—I can't find the verdict."

Judge Patterson sent the jury back to bring in a substitute verdict. When it was read, it awarded Streiner $200 for injuries suffered in collision between his car and a company truck.

SENATORS BACK U. S. OFFICIAL ATTACKED BY DRY LEAGUE

ASK HOOVER TO RENAME FORAN

Charges That Customs Officer Keeps Bar in Hunting Lodge Aired in Row

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—As a direct reply to the Anti-Saloon League attack on Col. Arthur F. Foran, controller of customs for the port of New York, Senators Hamilton F. Kean and David Baird, Jr., Republicans, of New Jersey, today asked President Hoover to reappoint Foran for another term in office.

Kean and Baird recommended Foran in the face of the league's charges that he permitted gambling and maintained a bar in his sumptuous hunting lodge at Mount Airy, N. J. The lodge was raided by men representing themselves as federal agents a few nights ago.

CONFIDENCE IN FORAN

Kean announced he had every confidence in Foran's integrity.

"These charges have been made before and were fully answered by Col. Foran," said Kean. "My reply to the raid on Col. Foran's home is that I've recommended him for reappointment this day. If the way Col. Forans' home was raided is the way the government is going to conduct such raids then I am against the raiding of people's homes. I have every confidence in Col. Foran's integrity."

Kean would not comment on the action of the Rev. James K. Shields, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League. He said he did not wish to be drawn into a controversy with the league. He also declined to comment on the league's charges that Herbert L. Pratt, a director of the Standard Oil Company of New York, was allowed to bring in $25,000 worth of champagne, smuggled from Europe.

HASTENED ACTION

"I was very glad to join with Senator Kean in recommending Col. Foran's reappointment," said Baird. "Indeed, this senseless raid on Col. Foran's home hastened our decision to recommend his reappointment."

A general investigation of charges against New York customs officials by the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey and others was launched today by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman.

Meanwhile, the army of dry shock troops in the House won a strategic victory by blocking a wide-open investigation into prohibition enforcement and all related issues.

With the drys in control, the House Committee on Executive Expenditures refused to extend its present prohibition inquiry into a general investigation of all dry law enforcement conditions. The verdict limited the present inquiry merely to questions arising out of the proposed transfer of the prohibition enforcement machine from the treasury to the Department of Justice.

AGREE TO QUIZ

The liberals got some solace, however, when the committee agreed to investigate the industrial alcohol situation in the Thirteenth (Chicago) prohibition district. It was in this area Rep. Schafer, (Rep.), of Wisconsin, charged that bootleggers got a large portion of their supplies of alcohol from perfume and cologne manufacturers.

The Schafer motion to compel Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran to furnish information on industrial alcohol was unanimously agreed to by the committee. This forecast further delays in carrying out the proposed transfer of enforcement. If the committee waints 10 days for the formation from Doran, the major proposal to prohibition enforcement be delayed at least a ... longer.

Commissioner Doran was charged with "blowing hot and cold" on the poison liquor issue by Representative William I. Sirovich (Dem.), of New York, in renewing his fight on the House floor to halt governmental poisoning of alcohol.

Doran, he declared, was on record as declaring that harmless denaturants could be used to prevent bootleg diversion of industrial alcohol.

nized by the country that is our host."

"We are agreed that there shall be naval equality between us," he went on, "and believe that is the best method of promoting the beneficent aims of the conference."

Col. Stimson stressed the fact that naval needs were relative to world conditions and that if a way were found for general reduction of navies, the United States Navy could be reduced. He expressed a fervid hope that a way for general reduction would be found.

FRANCE'S NEEDS

Premier Tardieu, of France, made the most extensive speech of the day. He quoted voluminous statistics designed to show that France was entitled to rank with the highest from the standpoint of naval needs.

He served notice that France's needs must be considered most seriously and declared that she must be represented by a navy large enough to protect her far-flung colonial possession on all Seven Seas.

He asserted that the absolute requirements based on the needs he described could only become relative if it were made clear whether in the event of a conflict France would have to depend solely on her own navy or whether there would be international collaboration against the aggressor nation.

Premier MacDonald dwelt heavily upon the fact that the isolated position of the British Isles made Great Britain depend on her sea power for her very bread.

Foreign Minister Grandi, of Italy, declared his country had to have parity with any other continental power but was prepared to reduce to the utmost any other power would go.

He said that Italy favored a maximum reduction in armaments and was willing to leave it to the powers at the conference to determine the size of armaments, but would have to reserve the right to determine the complexion of her own navy within the limitations prescribed by the conference.

FACTS MISCONSTRUED

MacDonald, in talking to the press after the plenary session, warned against misconstruction of facts by imaginative writers attending the conference.

"We were horrified at a tale which was alleged to have appeared in the American papers yesterday which was the greatest fantasy and exercise of imagination ever indulged in," the Premier said.

This "tale" was a purported interview with Premier Tardieu.

The "interview" quoted Tardieu as saying the British and American governments had failed to reach an accord on naval policy and were further apart than ever. Tardieu had previously declared the report "pure invention."

It was regarded as likely that another full meeting would not be held until next week. MacDonald said more could be accomplished by individual negotiations between the delegates upon specific points of difference than in a general meeting.

Thus French and Italian delegates will negotiate privately on the issue of parity of their navies, the Mediterranean powers will hold similar private negotiations over the proposed security pact, the United States and Great Britain will discuss cruiser strength and Britain and France will discuss French cruiser ratios.

Leathernecks Ask Expense 'Parity' With Stenogs

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—The 10 husky Marines assigned to guard the American delegation to the five-power naval parley today brought to the attention of the delegation a delicate and unexpected problem of parity.

They had been allowed room and breakfast at local hotels and $3.50 per day for expenses. This was deemed satisfactory until they discovered that the girl stenographers accompanying the conference are allowed $5 a day expense money.

The Leathernecks pointed out that this discrepancy offers opportunity to test the principle of parity, and have asked that something be done about it.

JUDGE ATTACKS DRY LAW

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The suggestion that the United States Supreme Court pass on the constitutionality of that section of the National Prohibition Act which permits personal injunctions against habitual offenders was made by Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough after he had ruled it was unconstitutional. He said the high court must eventually rule on the question.

Judge Woodrough's opinion was given in the case of Frank Cunningham, of Scottsbluff, Neb., against whom the government had brought personal injunction proceedings after he had been arrested several times as a bootlegger. He dismissed the case, holding that "jury trial, guaranteed by the constitution as the Bulwark of Liberty and a shield against the oppression of government, simply fades out of the picture," so far as the injunction section of the law is concerned.

The court in a nine-page opinion, said that the section of the law which permits personal injunctions has been a "dead letter" for 10 years.

His opinion is directly contrary to that of Federal Judge T. C. Munger of Lincoln, who has held that personal injunctions in such cases are constitutional.

Inspired By Blonde, Trio Robs Millvale Store

"The blonde woman shot her way through and we will too," exclaimed one of three armed bandits as they entered the crowded Lincoln Pharmacy, Lincoln and North avenues, Millvale, late last night.

The trio, together with their look-out man, escaped in an automobile after taking more than $100, several boxes of cigars and a toilet set.

Two robbers herded patrons into the prescription room, while the third stole the money.

Oscar Cohen, proprietor, entered the store during the robbery. He was searched and $3.50 taken.

When the thugs left the store, Cohen commandeered an automobile and gave chase in the direction of the North Side. Lieut. Leo Kleber and Patrolman Anthony Fruth, of Millvale, sped in a motorcycle to the Etna Borough line, but neither Cohen nor police could find trace of the holdup men.

IRENE, FAINTING, UNMANACLED ON TRAIN

New Castle and Donnie, Irene's 5-year-old son.

The blonde trigger woman was ever anxious to discuss this subject with anyone. Sometimes she would ask newspapermen in the party for news from her offspring, and at all times did she lend a willing ear to stories in which the little fellow was the central figure.

This correspondent spent more than an hour with her relating incidents that occurred just after Donnie was taken from his uncle's home in Bellaire, O., to New Castle.

"You've got a son of whom any mother could be justly proud," Irene, in one of these receptive moods was told.

"I'll say I have and I am proud, too," was her beaming reply.

DONNIE'S HABITS

The conversation was devoted entirely to the child's good behavior, his anxiety to see his mother who went "far away," and some of his "cute" habits. She was told how Donnie, under questioning by officers, decided it was his turn to ask a few.

"Who's a bum?" the little fellow insisted of his questioners, and when anybody appeared willing to answer him he gleefully shouted, "Bumble bees a bum-bum-bum-bum."

Irene laughed heartily at this and Dague joined. His smiles have been few and far between. Usually his grim lips remain silent, and the taut lines around his mouth have given him the appearance of a man with a great sorrow. The change from the gray steel walls of prison to the luxurious comfort of a Pullman stateroom has worked wonders with him. He seems to have regained interest in life, which he denied a day or so ago in the Maricopa county jail at Phoenix, Arizona. Fresh linen, a chance to bathe and the opportunity to be with Irene even in some one else's company seem to have been largely responsible for the change.

GLAD TO POSE

Photographs of Irene and Dague were taken in their drawing room yesterday. Before Dague would consent, however, he asked that he be given an opportunity to trim his mustache. A barber was provided. The pair posed for several pictures. The prisoners were released from their shackles for a few minutes while the pictures were being taken. Irene bunched her chubby hands into fists. She made several playful passes at Dague's side, inviting him to "Come on now, let's fight." Dague grinned: "No, Honey," he remonstrated, "not here. I can't run away."

Guards and prisoners joined in the laugh.

Lieut. Boettner and his guards have not relaxed their vigilance a single instant. Someone is always at the side of Irene and Dague. Mrs. McKibbin, New Castle policewoman, attends to the wants of Irene throughout the day, and at night the officers take turns sitting at the side of their berth, Dague in the upper and Irene in the lower.

Illinois Union Wins Fight Against Lewis

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Harry E. Fishwick, President of District 12 of the United Mine Workers of America, won his fight to prevent John L. Lewis, International President, from revoking the state charter and installing provisional officers in a decision handed down in Circuit Court here by Judge Norman L. Jones today.

Judge Jones in his decision refused to dissolve the temporary injunction granted Fishwick restraining Lewis from interfering with the district's affairs but granted Lewis an appeal to the Appellate Court, Third District.

TESTIFY SLAIN AGENT HAD GUN

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Testimony of two officers that they found a loaded gun cocked and clutched in the hands of P. R. Patterson, dry agent, as he lay mortally wounded on the floor of the home of George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger, following an attempted raid on the place last Saturday, was presented today at an inquest into the killing of Patterson and another prohibition officer, James K. Moncure.

The testimony of the officers, Sheriff R. C. Baker, and City Detective H. F. Hazard, was contradictory to that presented yesterday by James S. Kugler and W. M. McNulty, two dry agents who survived the shooting. Kugler and McNulty testified that all four officers were armed at the time of the attempted raid, but that none of them drew their weapons from their holsters.

Hazard also contradicted the testimony of Kugler and McNulty that the attempted raid was made during daylight hours. Defense attorneys declared that the warrant for the raid was a daylight warrant, but that the raid occurred after dark.

LEADERS SEE PINCHOT AS CANDIDATE

Speech at Harrisburg Taken as Indication; Lewis Talks on Roads

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—Political observers today had little reason to doubt that former Gov. Gifford Pinchot was eager to re-enter state politics either as a candidate for governor or the United States Senate.

This belief was based on the Pinchot address last night before the Pennsylvania Threshermen and Farmers' Protective Association in which he attacked the Public Service Commission with even stronger epithets than those he heaped upon it during his incumbency as chief executive.

Samuel S. Lewis, who is one of the leading contenders for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and who as an elective fiscal officer fought many of the Pinchot policies, spoke from the same platform.

Completing a strange political trio before the threshermen and farmers was John A. McSparren, Democratic nominee for governor when Pinchot was elected in 1922.

ATTACKS P. S. C.

The Pinchot address was confined entirely to a scathing attack on the Public Service Commission. At no time did he say anything to commit himself as a candidate, but in summing up he asserted that the situation demanded another sort of a Public Service Commission and that such a thing was possible if the public really wanted it.

In the famous case in which S. Ray Shelby and James S. Benn were "removed" from the commission by Pinchot, the Supreme Court held that the Governor did not have the power of removal. Both were reinstated and are now members of the commission.

To remove the entire commission would require amendment of the public service law. Pinchot's hearers were led to believe that Pinchot would like to be governor again and attempt to get the necessary enactments through the Legislature.

The former governor took care to point out that "one third of the money the average citizen spends goes to public utilities, either directly or indirectly," with the proportion increasing every year. He concluded:

"I believe there is hardly a township, borough, town or city in this commonwealth whose citizens have not been given a raw deal by the Public Service Commission. I believe there is no other body under the government of Pennsylvania that has been so completely, so continually, and so notoriously controlled by the corporations as the Public Service Commission. And this is the very body whose plain duty under the law is to control the corporations in the public interest."

LEWIS ON ROADS

Lewis took for the subject of his address a theme popular during pre-primary speechmaking—"Digging the farmer out of the mud." He offered a plan under which the state would take over and maintain as part of its system the 70,000 miles of township road. He said this could be done without additional taxation of the motorists.

3 TO FACE TRIAL IN LOTTERY

A downtown bootblack and his two assistants were the first to be held for court for "writing numbers" in the clearing house pool.

More than 20 lottery books were confiscated, Detective Pat Tully testified. The men admitted they were writing "numbers". Bond was set at $1,000 each.

New Radio Tube Invention Gives Service of Two

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—A new radio tube, hailed as forecasting a reduction in receiver cost by cutting down at least one-half the number of tubes required, has been announced today.

It is the "twin-screen grid," Pentode, or five element tube for house current receivers, having more than double the efficiency of the four element A. C. screen grid tube to which the public was introduced a year or so ago.

Engineers said that the tube, a development of the Ceco laboratories at Providence, R. I., would make possible the designing of a three or four tube receiver that would be equivalent in output to some present day sets containing up to eight tubes.

GROCER, SON HELD AFTER NORTH SIDE BLAZE ROUTS 25

FIRE STARTS IN 2 PLACES AT ONCE

Kerosene Oil Jug Reported Found Under Cellar Steps; Dog Saved, Another Missing

A North Side grocer and his son were under arrest today following investigation of a fire in their store which routed 25 persons from their beds.

The two held are Stanley Schultz, 37, and Joseph Schultz, 16, of 837 39-41 Progress street.

Deputy Fire Chief Michael Shanahan told of finding a jug of kerosene beneath the cellar steps of the building which houses the Schultz store and home. He reported that the fire had broken out in two parts of the building simultaneously.

SECOND FIRE IN TWO WEEKS

The fire was the second in two weeks in the building. Shanahan said he had learned that after the first fire Schultz had sent his wife and pigeons elsewhere. Father and son were held for investigation in North Side Police Court.

Schultz, his son and three brothers-in-law, Joseph and Edward Kosack and Edward Wiesorkowski, escaped from the building after Patrolman Samuel Jones had discovered the smoke.

CHILDREN, PARENTS FLEE

Neighbors also fled to the street. They were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wilhams and their two children of 835 Progress street, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Calmerio and four children, of 835 Progress street, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Leutkovich and their seven children, of 833 Progress street.

The fire ruined the interior of the store and threatened the adjoining houses, but damage was no more than $3,500, Shanahan estimated.

Bubbles, a bull dog found in the burning store, was led to the street by the elder Schultz. A second dog was reported missing.

VICTIM OF TAX THEFT AIDED

James Clark, 743 Montclair street, robbed of $105 while paying his taxes in the city treasurer's office, is to be reimbursed, John S. Herron, president of Council, said today.

Herron, after Council defeated a motion that the city give the man the money, "passed the hat" and collected $50. He intends to get the whole amount.

He had asked Council to pass a motion requesting a complete report from City Treasurer Roy D. Mooney, and that if the report warranted it, the man be reimbursed. Council refused to sanction the latter clause in the motion.

Six councilmen dropped $5 a piece into the hat, and the other three, who were absent, are expected to donate their $5. City-County Building employes made up the remaining $20.

1,100 SAVED AS STORM RELIEF SHIP HITS ROCK IN WEST, SOUTH

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—All the 1,100 tourists aboard the German steamer Monte Cervantes, which went aground on the rocks in the Straits of Magellan have been safely landed, it was definitely learned today.

The steamer, which left Buenos Aires on January 5 on a cruise which was to have ended the end of this month, ran afoul of the rocks in the Beagle channel of Magellan Straits.

The Argentine war transport vessel Vicente Lopez rushed to the steamer's aid when a wireless message from the grounded vessel was received early today and aided in landing the passengers.

Only the officers and crew of the vessel remained aboard. Whether or not it will be possible to refloat the steamer is not yet known.

The Monte Cervantes is a vessel of 13,913 tons, registered at Hamburg. Most of her passengers, according to reports here, were tourists from Buenos Aires and other Argentine cities.

Honeymoon Cottage Destroyed by Fire

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—Fire last night destroyed the cottage of Marshall Thomas, a Waynesburg miner, and his bride of a month. The couple fled into a sub-zero temperature. They were cared for by the Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Harvey, neighbors.

Doctor 'Mushing' Through Blizzard To Save Miner

GRANGEVILLE, Ida., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—A team of "huskies" headed into the wild snow country of Central Idaho today with a surgeon, who hopes to reach Roy Burke, a miner, before blood poisoning takes his life.

Burke, a miner in the isolated Green Mountain country, was reported to be near death from infection. To reach him Dr. J. P. Weber, Grangeville physician, must mush over 42 miles of the wildest terrain in the West, which in summer is difficult to cross, and in winter presents a problem that can be solved only by dog sled.

The mushers expected the trip to take three days, but "old-timers" who knew the wastes in winter said that blizzards and from three to five feet of snow would hold them back. Temperatures of 30 to 38 degrees below zero prevailed.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Sub-zero temperatures that brought death and suffering to a large portion of the United States continued today with the prospect of relief by weather forecasters. Throughout the Middle West temperatures continued between eight degrees below zero in the Great Lakes region to 30 below in parts of Iowa and Western Illinois. Moline, Ill., reported an unofficial temperature of 32 below zero, while Darlington, Wis., was held in the grip of an unofficial 35 below. In Northwestern Colorado temperatures ranged from 45 to 52 degrees below zero.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Below zero temperatures are blamed for scores of pneumonia and influenza cases reported today among the hundreds of families marooned by flood waters from the Wabash and White rivers. Red Cross surveys show that 2,265 families are flood sufferers, with 1,025 of these families homeless and the rest in need of assistance. No word has been received yet from 85 residents of Decker township where several feet of water and ice has covered the territory.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Further attempts by rescue parties to bring relief to several hundred flood victims in Northeastern Arkansas and Southern Missouri were to be made today in the face of zero temperatures. Hundreds of farm people and village dwellers sought temporary shelter in the area when the St. Francis and Big Lake rivers overflowed.

MARKET HOUSE RATED LOSS TO CITY

Deficit of $25,000 a Year Reported After Inquiry; Survey to Be Extended

The city loses $25,000 yearly in operating the Diamond Market House, according to a report submitted to Council by J. W. Cree, Jr., president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board.

Council requested the report after Cree and J. W. Bamford, representing the Building Owners and Managers Association, protested in vain against a tax increase.

"NO FIRE INSURANCE"

The report finds that no fire insurance is carried on the building, appraised at $161,000, and that operating expenses are "very high" as a result, principally, of antiquated equipment.

Extravagant use of electricity by tenants amounts "to almost flagrant waste" in some instances to more than the rental of stalls, the report states, and recommends that electric current for purposes other than illumination be purchased by tenants from public service companies.

The report recommends that the real estate board be given authority to check conditions in the Allegheny and the South Side Market Houses in an effort to effect economies in operation and increased revenue from rentals.

ASK MANAGEMENT CHANGE

Regarding the operation of other public buildings, the report recommends that the management of the City-County Building be changed from joint authority and placed under the supervision of either the city or the county.

"It is certain that the entire building is over-manned in practically every department and an immediate reduction in the operating force should be made," the real estate board declares.

GARLAND RAPS KLINE RULE

Councilman Robert Garland assailed Mayor Charles H. Kline's administration, in an address at the Rotary Club's banquet at the William Penn Hotel last night, as sponsible for the prevalence of slot-machine and lottery racketeering in Pittsburgh.

"In this respect," he said, "we are gradually going Chicagoward."

Garland blamed the taxi strike, too, on the administration, which he characterized as "notably inefficient."

He gave his listeners to understand, however, that the administration was not fairly representative of the citizens of Pittsburgh, of whom more than one-half, he asserted, "failed to express themselves in the vote."

"After all," Garland declared, "it is the people of a city and not the government that represents its soul, and what I have to say will not reflect on our people."

Garland gave the address of welcome at a dinner in honor of Eugene Newsome, international president of the Rotary Clubs. Other speakers were Royal Goldsbury, toastmaster; Edward B. Lee, president of Pittsburgh Rotary Club, and James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

HOYT-BUTT MARRIAGE ON ROCKS

'Perfectly Darling' Grid Star Wed Before Final Decree; Wife No. 2 Asks Annulment

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The Examiner today quoted Mrs. Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt Butt, daughter of Representative William Bankhead, of Alabama, as saying she was en route to Washington to procure an annulment of her recent marriage to Lawrence Butt, Jr., Nevada University football star.

Mrs. Butt, who married the gridiron star in Reno, December 18, nine days after she had obtained a divorce from Monton Hoyt, arrived here yesterday from Honolulu, scene of the Butts' honeymoon.

PERFECTLY DARLING

"He is a perfectly darling person," the Examiner quoted Mrs. Butt as explaining, "but when we were married in Reno he did not tell me that his divorce did not become final until January 19. Besides he has a mind much younger than mine."

The Examiner says Butt's first wife revealed this detail of their divorce when she learned of his marriage to the sister of Tallulah Bankhead, the actress.

Mrs. Butt was quoted as having told the newspaper she intended procuring an annulment in Washington and then leaving for Europe. The newspaper said she separated from Butt two weeks ago in Hawaii while on their honeymoon.

FINAL DECREE PENDING

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Arthur Verge, attorney, said here today that a motion for a final degree of divorce had been filed here for Mrs. Lawrence Buttt, first wife of Lawrence Butt, Jr., Nevada University football star, but had not been granted. Final procedure is likely, Verge said, in a day or two.

The attorney said he knew nothing of any legal complications arising from the marriage of Butt to Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt before the divorce decree of his first marriage became final, and had no knowledge of any action intended by the first wife other than that looking toward obtaining of the final decree.

FREE GANGSTER IN N.Y. HOLDUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Ciro Terranova, the former "artichoke king," was freed today when he was brought into West Farms Court on an affidavit charging him with being one of the seven bandits who held up the famous testimonial dinner to Magistrate Albert H. Vitale on the night of December 7 last.

Terranova was accused by the police of having instigated the "stick up" of the assembled guests for the purpose of obtaining a contract calling for the murders of Frankie Yale and Frank Marlow, both of whom were mysteriously slain. The "contract" was alleged to have been in the possession of a Chicago gang leader who sat in at the dinner.

The nonchalant Terranova, whom Police Commissioner Grover Whalen once termed "the Al Capone of New York," was released when 23 witnesses failed to identify him.

The state charged Howard with having shot Rushton on the night of June 22 last, during an altercation in the Booth & Flinn brickyard, Addison and Filmore streets.

The argument of Assistant District Attorney Earl T. Adair and the charge of Visiting Judge Samuel E. Shull, of Monroe and Pike counties, concluded the case.

BANDIT STEALS $17,600 GEMS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Pavley, of Philadelphia, reported to police today that a young man entered their apartment at the Ambassador Hotel early today, held them up and fled with cash and jewelry amounting to $17,600.

Mr. Pavley said the robber overlooked a diamond necklace valued at $190,000.

Shortly after they returned from a party at a fashionable Hollywood cafe, Mr. Pavley told police he answered a knock on the apartment door and was confronted by a man, armed and masked.

The robber, he said, forced him back into the apartment where Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Blumberg, of Los Angeles, were visiting with them.

Lining them up against a wall, Pavley said, the robber took $1,200 in cash from Blumberg and a $15,000 diamond ring from Mrs. Blumberg. Pavley said the man obtained $800 in cash from him and a $600 diamond ring from his wife.

After a survey of the apartment, Pavley said, the robber marched them into a dressing room, locked the door and escaped. The two men broke down the door and spread a warning, but the man has disappeared.

AWAIT VERDICT IN BUS CRASH

BEREA, O., Jan. 23.—Coroner A. J. Pearse today was expected to issue a formal verdict following an inquest into the grade crossing tragedy that killed nine school children and a bus driver when a speeding New York Central train yesterday demolished a school bus here.

Fifteen witnesses testified at the inquest called late yesterday, and Coroner Pearse withheld his verdict until today when He expected to question John Hand, engineer of the train, and the locomotive fireman.

Pearse unofficially blamed John Taylor, 36, dead driver of the bus, for "negligence," pointing out that he had "an unobstructed view of the railroad."

The locomotive, traveling nearly 50 miles an hour, crashed through the motor bus as it crawled in front of the speeding mail train. Wreckage and mangled bodies were strewn along the right of way for hundreds of feet.

A passenger train for which the bus had waited before crossing may have hidden the mail train from the view of the passengers and driver, for as soon as the first train had passed, the bus started to cross the right of way and was struck.

POWERSVILLE, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Green Hartley, both 80, were found clubbed to death in their farm home early today. Robbery apparently was the motive for the attack. Kidnaping Mystery Stirs Exclusive Girls' School

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Smith College campus, with its nearly 2,000 girl students from various sections of the country closely guarded by campus police, hummed with speculation today over the latest college mystery, the reported kidnaping of a pretty girl senior said to be a resident of Greenwich, Conn.

The story of the girl's kidnaping and subsequent release was contained in an announcement made yesterday by President William Allan Neilson.

Identity of the victim or the trio of alleged abductors—two young men and a girl—as well as the object of the kidnaping were the unrevealed angles of the strange case. Even the name of the girl was kept from state police investigators.

The case approached in interest the mysterious disappearance within the last five years, of two other seniors—Miss Frances St. John Smith, of New York, whose body was found more than a year later in Connecticut river, and Miss Alice Colbett, of Utica, N. Y., who vanished completely.

The spectacular kidnaping story was defended by President Neilson. The girl's name, he said, was withheld because the father of the senior recently suffered a shock and was in a serious condition.

Alimony Insurance Makes Debut in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Alimony insurance made its debut here in the divorce court of Judge Joseph Sabath with Frank E. Mueller, construction engineer, presenting a $30,000 policy to assure the payment of $500 a month to Mrs. Mary E. Mueller for the next five years.

At a previous hearing of the couple's divorce suit, Mrs. Mueller had demanded some security that her husband would pay her the $500 monthly.

"I'll get an insurance policy for it," Mueller proffered.

So the case was continued until Mueller appeared with the $30,000 guarantee.

Judge Sabath, veteran divorce jurist, said the new insurance was a boon to the divorce courts.

"It not only helps husband and wife, but it simplifies the problems of the court. These people will not return here for at least five years and the court is relieved of the job of forcing a husband to pay alimony."

Page, Eastern sales manager for Graham, and Arden Yinkey, of Manheim, Inc., advertising representatives for Graham.

R. C. GRAHAM

The visiting Graham executives addressed Graham-Paige dealers of the Pittsburgh and Altoona districts at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel, which was presided over by E. S. Carpenter, president of E. S. Carpenter, Inc., local Graham distributor. M. M. Milliken, head of the Altoona district, was a guest of honor.

DISCUSSES SPECULATION

"The business depression of October and November was the result of overspeculation rather than of a fault in fundamental conditions," Robert Graham told the dealers.

"The high call money rate during the period of widespread speculation diverted large sums of money from regular channels," continued Mr. Graham. "This now has been released for industry and business generally. Credit conditions are easier and there is more confidence in rural districts as a result of good crops and the indication that the Federal Farm Board is about to afford the farmers real relief.

"This has caused a stabilization of prices and adjusted production as never before. While production and sales for this month and next will not be normal, I believe that by spring healthy conditions will exist. Under conservative operation, we should enjoy a good volume of business throughout the second and third quarters.

PREDICTS BRISK YEAR

"The prosperity of this country still depends upon the wealth of its natural resources plus transportation. Because of this general principle and because the makers of automobiles, commercial cars, trucks and buses are contributing largely to transportation facilities, I feel that 1930 will be a prosperous year," concluded Mr. Graham.

Raymond Graham, in his talk to the dealers, outlined the history of the three Graham brothers and their associates in the glass, truck and passenger car fields during the last 25 years. He explained how the company is continually working to better its products and how, through its researches, it has been enabled to pioneer many automotive improvements and safety devices. He also sees prosperity ahead and believes it will be speeded by a maintenance of confidence between the public, dealer and manufacturer.

Mr. Page spoke on the many new features of the Graham cars and the company's plans for the future, which also were entered into by Mr. Carpenter. Frank W. Judson, director of sales, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, spoke on the laminated safety glass which is now being used in all windows of the Graham cars. Mr. Yinkey outlined the advertising program for the future.

EIELSON FLIERS REACH TELLER

By T. M. "PAT" REID,
Flight Commander, Aviation Corporation
Various Borland Relief Expedition

TELLER, Alaska, Jan. 23.—After many delays entirely beyond our control we landed here from Nome with the two Fairchild closed-cabin planes on the first leg of our actual search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, missing since November 9. Bad weather held us at Nome for a week, but we were able to get away this morning.

Mechanic Bill Hughes was with me in one of the planes, while Pilot Ed Young and Mechanic Sam McAuley flew the other.

With the first sign of decent weather we will take off for the fur trader Nanuk, ice-bound off Cape North, Siberia. We will carry as much gasoline and supplies as we can for our base at the Nanuk, making a return trip to Teller for another load.

On our way to the Nanuk we shall follow the Siberian coast line all the way, keeping a sharp lookout for the missing men and their plane.

As soon as our second cargo is delivered at the Nanuk we expect to search farther inland should the coast line search be without results.

FIGHTS POLICE HOURS, SLAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS)—A bullet-riddled apartment house stained by tear gas bombs today gave testimony to a fierce revolver battle between police squads and Pacifico Ciammetti, which ended when the latter was shot and killed after holding the police off for nearly an hour in his barricade.

Ciammetti, believed demented, appeared unclothed before his landlady, Mrs. Louise Riggert, and threatened her with a revolver. She summoned police and Ciammetti barricaded himself in his room, officers tossed tear gas bombs inside. He then fired out the window at police who had surrounded the building.

Finally Officer Eugene Monally pushed the door open and Ciammetti charged forward. Bullets from five guns struck him as he came and he staggered back into the room and died.

NEGRO LEADER SHOT DEAD

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ernest Tidrington, nationally-known Negro attorney and political dictator of his race in Evansville, was shot to death here last night by Luther Bell, Negro, as he sat in his automobile. Bell surrendered to police and said he killed Tidrington because of the latter's "political persecution" of him.

Tidrington headed several state fraternal organizations and held high offices in the Negro national Knights of Pythias and Elks' bodies. He was one of three men of his race appointed by President Coolidge in 1925 on an interracial commission to study Negro conditions and questions in the United States.

NEW GARDNER, FRONT DRIVE DISPLAYED

Car Presents Unusual Appearance; Crowds at Auto Show Still Large

By H. W. DIETRICH,
Automobile Editor.

A new front-drive automobile, the Gardner Six, was brought to Pittsburgh yesterday and placed on exhibition in the show rooms of the L. & S. Motor Company, Craig street and Baum boulevard. The car was brought here by E. J. Fennell, divisional manager of the Gardner Motor Car Company, and Friday will be shipped to Chicago for the automobile show there.

In appearance the car is long and low lithe and graceful. Aside from the front-wheel drive principle one of the most striking things about the new Gardner creation is that as far as appearance is concerned the car has no radiator in the generally accepted sense of the word. Instead, the top and the sides of the radiator core are encased in a metal covering which describes a graceful outer curve and then runs downward to the hood ledges on the side and to the splash apron in front which incidentally conceals both the differential housing and the drive shafts.

EARLY DELIVERY

The car is expected to be ready for delivery within 60 days. It is equipped with radio.

The Automobile Show, open daily from 1 to 11 p. m., all this week in Motor Square Garden, continues to draw large throngs of Pittsburghers. There the many refinements and innovations adopted by the manufacturers for the present year are continuing to result in much comment and many whispered expressions of approval.

Rolls Royce and Duesenberg, because of their large size, high horsepower and finish and appointments, are features of the show.

RADIO EQUIPMENT

Jordan, with a sport roadster equipped with radio, is attracting much attention. Both the Deusenberg and Jordan have instrument boards somewhat similar in content to that of airplanes.

Lincoln and Cadillac also are receiving favorable comment in their rappointments and mechanical excellence. Reo and Pierce Arrow are featuring silent-second gearsets, while at the Graham display there is much heard about laminated safety glass, four-speed transmissions and brakes.

BUS DRIVERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Bus drivers of the Great Lakes Stages, Inc., operating between New York and Cleveland, went on strike at 4 o'clock this morning, having failed to reach an agreement with operators regarding working conditions and wages.

Frank Steele, spokesman for the drivers, stated that the strike order was issued from the Cleveland office of the drivers' organization. About 200 drivers are affected by the order. Forty have headquarters in Scranton.

Drivers on busses en route between terminals when the order became effective were under instructions to take their busses to the next terminal ahead before going on strike. Terminals are located at New York, Scranton, Buffalo and Cleveland.

An attempt is being made to affiliate the unions of the Colonial and Greyhound lines with those of the Great Lakes Stages.

The local office of the company was informed that drivers enough to handle the work out of Scranton were being sent here from Syracuse.

One Slain, Two Shot In Row, Man Held

WACO, Tex., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Alex Bush, 70, a waiter, was shot and killed, and two other employes of a downtown lunchroom here were wounded seriously last night in a shooting affray. Lew Whatley, a barber, surrendered to police after the shooting in the lunchroom. He declined to discuss the affair. Witnesses said Sam Kuss was shot first and that Bush and Alonzo Mendiola were shot when they attempted to disarm Whatley.

Mysterious Bullet Kills Man in Home

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 23.—Carmela Ciriucome, 21, Italian of Monessen, died in the Monongahela Hospital from a gunshot wound. He said he answered a knock at the door and was shot down.

Statue to Assassin Stirs Anger of Austria

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. (AP.)—A Vienna dispatch today said that a statue would be erected at Sarajevo, commemorating Ferdinand Gabrillo Princip, the Bosnian student who killed Archduke Francis Ferdinand, of Austria, and his consort, June 28, 1914.

The dispatch quotes a telegram from Belgrade, published in Tageblatt, and says that the news caused great indignation in the Austrian capital.

During the war the Austrians erected at the corner of the bridge over the River Miljacka, where the shots were fired, a memorial to the murdered archduke and archduchess which was destroyed when Sarajevo became a part of Jugoslavia.

The Jugoslavians replaced the memorial with a memorial tablet to Princip, who died from consumption and wounds in the Austrian prison of Maria Thereesia-nople while serving a life sentence of solitary imprisonment in a darkened cell, having been judged too young for the gallows.

Princip's body was removed to the cemetery at Sarajevo. The grave has become the scene of an annual memorial ceremony by Serbian nationalistic societies. Recently the memorial tablet to Princip was covered up by the authorities because of hostile foreign comment.

Now, according to the Tageblatt, a large monument to "the man who began the war" is to be unveiled February 2 before the assembled Serbian patriotic societies.

DRY LAW ISSUE IN BAY STATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—Louis K. Liggett, Republican national committeeman for Massachusetts, after a conference with President Hoover, said the dominant problem in the election of a senator to succeed Senator Gillett was prohibition.

Liggett was in conference with President Hoover for over an hour. He said he had discussed the problems of the Republican party in Massachusetts, among which is choosing a candidate for the Senate seat to be vacated by Senator Gillett.

He recalled that the state had rolled up a 250,000 majority in 1928 in favor of memorializing Congress to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

In Massachusetts, he said, only 25 per cent of the Republican voters take part in the primaries and they are mostly dry.

This situation, he added, probably will mean an effort of the Republican party to elect a dry senator in a wet state.

Questioned as to whether he thought Calvin Coolidge would be a candidate, he replied he had never given serious consideration to the possibility.

"I know Mr. Coolidge very well," he said, "but I would be the last man on earth to say anything to him about running for the Senate. I don't know what would happen, but I'd bet that it would be unpleasant."

COUNTERFEIT RING SPREADS

BERLIN, Jan. 23. (AP)—The operation of what the Berlin police describe as a European counterfeiting ring has assumed wider ramifications with the report of discoveries of new batches of counterfeit American hundred dollar bills in Germany.

The Deutsche Bank alone has discovered transactions in which thousands of dollars in counterfeit American notes were cleared.

The police also are constantly receiving reports from other countries about similar counterfeit bills. They announced yesterday that a Communist named Franz Fischer, alias Voigt, had circulated counterfeit hundred dollar bills that had been detected by the Federal Reserve Bank. The counterfeiters, the police said, had a widespread organization outside of Germany. Spurious bills also were made in denominations of $10, $20 and $50.

Experts here are of the opinion that the bills were forged on genuine American bank note paper, which could have been stolen only in America.

FAILURE FACES DRUG PARLEY

By STANTON B. LEEDS, Universal Service.

GENEVA, Jan. 23.—Petty questions that occupied the advisory committee of traffic in opium of the League of Nations prompted the Italian delegate, Dr. Stephano Cavazzoni, to declare that the general conference to be summoned to discuss the limitation of the manufacture of drugs faced slight possibility of achieving its aim.

The general lassitude with which the committee discussed the agenda and plans for this conference and the failure of Bourgois, the French delegate, to answer grave charges brought by John Kenneth Caldwell, the American unofficial observer, prompted the Italian delegate's statement.

Caldwell has accused French authorities of permitting the export of one-sixth of a ton of heroin to the United States during the past year without the necessary legal import certificates. Bourgois said that he would be unable to explain his government's position in this matter until the chief of the French narcotic division arrived at Geneva.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Following conference with his administration officials, Representative Porter (Rep.) of Pennsylvania said he would introduce in the House today strin-ent legislation to combat the dope evil.

Those attending the conference were Under Secretary of Treasury Mills, Assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman, George W. Wickersham, chairman of the President's Law Enforcement Commission, and Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

Porter wants to establish an independent narcotic bureau under a commissioner, while the Treasury chiefs are inclined to think the same purpose can be accomplished under the legislation recommended by the Law Enforcement Commission to create a bureau of narcotics and industrial alcohol in the Treasury Department. The latter proposal has already been incorporated in a bill and endorsed by the administration.

When no compromise could be effected, the conferees agreed that Porter should introduce his bill today and further conferences would be held to adjust the differences in viewpoint.

1 KILLED, 5 HURT COASTING

A boy is dead and five other persons are suffering injuries as a result of coasting accidents here yesterday.

Wilbert Lindner, 10, of 21 Birmingham avenue, Avalon, was fatally injured when his sled collided with a truck in Howard avenue. Pasquale Balsamo, of 231 Fisher avenue, driver of the truck, gave bond to the coroner pending an inquest.

Walter Peslaski, 12, of 1306 Muriel street, was cut on the head when his sled hit a pole at South Thirteenth and Muriel streets, South Side. He was treated at the South Side Hospital.

When their sled collided with an automobile in Woodmont street, New Kensington, Anna Marsalka, 21, of 1727 Kimbal avenue, Joseph Hanuf, 21, of 1518 Woodmont avenue, and Francis Campbell, 21, of 1525 Woodmont avenue, were cut and bruised. They were treated at the Citizens' General Hospital, New Kensington.

Michael Faachino, 13, of 28 Orphan street, was cut on the head when his sled collided with the automobile of James Thompson, of 1254 Auburn street, in Larimer avenue, last night. He was treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital.

DENVER BISHOP SPEAKS HERE

Men members of the local Methodist Episcopal Churches last night attended a mass meeting in the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Center and Liberty avenues, at which time they were addressed by Bishop Charles L. Mead, of Denver. The service was one of a series of evangelistic meetings being held by Methodists here.

A capacity crowd heard Bishop Mead. Many of those who attended parked their automobiles on the church lawn, all other available space being taken. Tonight Bishop Mead will address women members of the local churches.

At a meeting yesterday in the church, Bishop Mead presented plans for a week of evangelism to be held here soon in observance of the anniversary of the Pentecost.

The banquet will be held in the Hotel Henry and the principal speaker will be James C. Shanessy, of Washington, president of the union.

Arrangements for the banquet were completed by Local No. 20, of Pittsburgh. Union leaders of several other trades will speak and there will be a program of entertainment. John Hohen, of Washington, will be toastmaster.

Soldier Must Hang For Killing 'Buddy'

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Private Louis Galvano, of Brooklyn, still in his teens, must hang for his part in the slaying of Arthur C. Cline, a fellow soldier at the Fort Du Pont barracks, near here, on Christmas eve.

He was found guilty of first-degree murder by a jury last night. Private Alonso Emery, of Huntsville, Tenn., tried with Galvano on a charge of murder, was acquitted, but he will be tried again on the charge of being an accessory after the fact. He also is stationed at Fort Du Pont.

Six Fire Crews Put Out Blaze In Sam's Pants

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Sam White, 40, a laborer, put his lighted pipe into a back pocket of his dungarees and six fire truck crews, led by three deputy chiefs, gathered to put out the blaze that resulted.

When White discovered he was afire, he went to an alarm box a block away, pulled the lever and walked back to his boarding house to await the firemen.

They found him enveloped in smoke, standing in the boarding house doorway. They managed to save all but a square foot of the dungarees.

Life Insurance Day Observed at Dinner

Life Insurance day was observed here yesterday in connection with the National Thrift week and members of the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters' Association celebrated the occasion with a luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel. About 150 members were present. The speaker was Dr. Charles Reitell, of the University of Pittsburgh faculty.

FLOG FILIPINOS IN RACE CLASH

WATSONVILLE, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Several Filipinos were flogged and beaten here last night following a new outbreak of anti-Filipino sentiment in which a mob of several hundred whites was reported to have broken into residences and attacked the Filipino occupants.

Hastily organized police detachments, under Chief Robert Hastings, confronted the mob and forced it to disperse. Other officers rescued about 30 terrified Filipinos in other residences and took them to the City Hall, where they were placed under guard.

After the first mob dispersed, a second, of about 300 persons, formed on Van Ness avenue, where they fired revolver shots into windows of Filipino residences. Windows were broken, but police broke up the crowd before any one was injured.

The riot, similar to one which took place Tuesday night in which several whites and Filipinos were wounded, climaxed several days of growing tension over the employment of white girls as dancing partners in a Palm Beach Filipino social club.

WARSAW POST ELATES MOORE

PALM SPRINGS, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Alexander P. Moore, of Pennsylvania, spending a few weeks at this desert resort "just to get a little sunshine," expressed pleasure when informed by the Associated Press that he was nominated by President Hoover to be ambassador to Poland.

Moore said he was aware the nomination was to be made, but he had received no official notification of it and expects none until the Senate acts upon it.

"That's very nice, indeed," he said. "Warsaw is a very nice post.

"Oh, yes, certainly I will accept," he added. "If it is approved, but we will have to wait until the Senate takes action upon it before we can go into that."

Moore came here from Los Angeles six weeks ago. He intends to remain in California, he said, at least until his nomination is acted upon by the Senate. He formerly was ambassador to Spain, and more recently to Peru.

COST OF LIVING STATIONARY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP.)—The cost of living remained virtually stable in the United States during the last six months of 1929, reports to the Department of Labor showing less than one per cent change between June and December.

From June to December, average food prices in 32 cities were reported to have increased 2.1 per cent, fuel and light prices 2 per cent, and miscellaneous items less than 1 per cent. Rents decreased 1.2 per cent, clothing five-tenths per cent and house furnishings goods, four-tenths per cent.

PROTEST CLOSE OF FERRY

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—Opposition to abandonment of a ferry across the Monongahela River at Rice's Landing has developed from the County Commissioners, residents of Rice's Landing and owners of the ferry. Work now under way by the government in lengthening the lock wall may make it impossible to continue operation for vehicular as well as pedestrian traffic.

At a conference between Lieut. Col. Jarvis J. Baun, Army engineer at Pittsburgh, Paul Debolt and J. N. Scott, of the County Commissioners, and others, an informal protest was made.

In 1929, 6,548 passenger cars and 486 trucks were transported.

BRIDE ROBBED, HUNT SPOUSE

A former New Kensington man was being sought today by state police in connection with the abandoning his wife after taking $900 from her.

According to information received here from Harrisburg on the telegraph typewriter at the County Detective Bureau, the man was Edward L. Sanford. 50. He is alleged to have married a Clearfield widow on January 15. Taking her to Jamestown, N. Y., Stanford is charged with having deserted her. Police claim Stanford was engaged in manufacturing patent medicine at New Kensington for a number of years.

Stunning Spring Frock

Pattern 1830

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The latest style development is reflected in this two-piece frock smartly buttoned and belted. It is extremely simple, too, relying on the lines and fabric, instead of trimming, for its chic. The collar and revers, the rounded pockets and the inverted skirt pleats are features of decided interest.

Design 1830 may be developed in cotton or wool for equally charming results: piqué, kasha, jersey, sheer tweed, wool crepe, etc. A leather belt is worn at the natural waistline or below, which ever is more becoming.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of 54-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

WARNING
to Local Women:

Water here is too hard for best washing results

Add this new water-softening cleanser to soap and water in any home washing . . . Note almost magic results!

12 oz.
32-oz. pkg. 25c

IN spite of the hard water in this city you can get the finest results in any type of washing by following the example of other local housewives.

They are using a new discovery that turns hard water into soft—thus increasing cleansing power of soap 4 times over! It eliminates dingy gray and faded washing. Stops "soap eat" of fine fabrics. And it actually cuts washing time one-half.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends danger of "soap eat" to fragile things.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time, too—in either dishpan or washing machine—ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1929 women used over 24,000,000 packages of Climalene—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's home washing.

We wash gold encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages.

SAY GAS BOMB KILLED 'SPY'

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Charging Marvin Johnson, of Charlotte, was fatally gassed while "spying" on persons held in the Gastonia jail in June, 1929, in connection with the slaying of Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt, a Charlotte law firm filed a claim for compensation for Johnson's mother with the State Industrial Commission here.

The claim was filed under provisions of the state workman's compensation act requiring employers to insure their employes.

Johnson, his attorneys said, was employed to be locked in the jail on the pretense that he was wanted for stealing an automobile in Richmond, Va. They said he was instructed to make friends with Communists there and gather information, if he could, concerning the killing of Aderholt.

The attorneys said that on June 28 or 29, "some unknown persons" in an attempt "to extricate the prisoners," threw "tear bombs and gas bombs of various types into the jail."

Johnson died early last fall, the Charlotte attorneys claim, as a result of the gas.

GASTONIA, N. C., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Solicitor John A. Carpenter, of Gastonia, said last night that a Marvin Johnson was confined in the Gastonia or Gaston County jail several months ago, but that he could not recall which one. He said he could not remember whether Johnson had ever been employed by the city or county as a detective.

The solicitor denied any attempt was ever made to "extricate" or injure in any way prisoners held in jail here in connection with the death of Police Chief Aderholt. He said he knew nothing about any "gas attack" on the jails.

Ammon, Jr., Industry; Beatrice Frankle, Butler; Sarah Fleeger, Butler; Frances Fiscus, Apollo; Abigail Jones, Homestead; Hilda Ballard, Mt. Lebanon; Louise Davies, New Castle; Elizabeth James, Cleveland, O.; Ruth Husband, Sharon; Mary E. Reed, Greenville; Frances Markowitz, Pittsburgh; Clara B. Roessing, Cheswick; Rebecca Espey, Rural Valley; Elizabeth Lepsch, Butler; Katherine Connor, Wexford; Alice Mitchell, New Castle; Elizabeth Campbell, Portersville; Tena Davis, Universal; Katherine Jameson, New Castle; Edith Palmer, Grove City; Lena Steinhiser, Karns City.

Woman Begins Term For Libel on K. of C.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Edward C. Alumbaugh, convicted last year in city court here of criminal libel in circulating a spurious oath attributed to the Knights of Columbus, began serving a sentence of six months in jail in lieu of paying a fine of $500. She said she was unable to pay.

Mrs. Alumbaugh's case went to the Court of Appeals and to the Supreme Court of Georgia and in both instances the lower court was sustained.

New Mail Plane Crashes in Test

TETERBORO, N. J., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The first test of the new type air mail plane manufactured by the Fokker company for the Western Air Express Company ended when the ship failed to leave the ground and crashed into another plane.

The plane, known as the F-14, was almost demolished when it caromed from the parked ship into an auto and then into the side of a building.

Italy to Publish Full Nobile Story

ROME, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Because of recent publication of books on the Italia airship disaster of the Nobile Polar expedition and unfavorable comment by the foreign press, the government ordered publication of the entire report by the committee which investigated the conduct of the leaders of the expedition.

Wile to Describe Naval Meet on Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

BROADCASTING direct from London by short wave, Frederick William Wile tonight will tell of the work thus far consummated by the Five-Power Naval Conference. His 15-minute talk will be picked up by the Columbia short-wave station at Philadelphia, then relayed to the network which includes WJAS in Pittsburgh. The broadcast will take place at 8:15.

We Now Present

Clerks at the NBC have a merry time assorting Vaughn de Leath's fan mail. A search revealed 17 different ways of spelling her name. Some of them were Wanda Lee, Bonda Lee, Vonda Lee, Wan de Lis, Vonda Liett, Vandaleeth.

Cyril P. Engelmeier, of 20 Bonvue avenue, has logged 350 stations since February 22, 1928. KTM at Santa Monica, Cal., was No. 350.

He has picked up WLAP at Louisville on 30 watts and WQAM at Miami in the daytime.

THE MADAME SIGNS

Radio at last has Madame Enestine Schumann-Heink. She has signed a contract to serve as operatic counsel for the National Broadcasting Company.

One thousand Majestic dealers of this territory paid tribute to Hamburg Brothers, Majestic distributors, at their tenth anniversary celebration here yesterday.

Elmer Hamburg, president of the firm, recalled how he merchandised galena and cat whiskers a decade ago while James A. Simpson, m. c. at a big banquet last night, said he could remember when the Hamburg boys started out on $110 capital.

The three boys, Elmer, Louis and Joseph, have done a great work and are recognized today as the leading distributors of Majestic Radio in the United States.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

TERMS UPHELD IN STOCK SALE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The interpretation placed by Henry L. Doherty & Company on the clause covering proceedings in the event of default of payments in its contract for the sale of Cities Service Company stock on the part payment plan was upheld by Judge Wendell in city court.

The suit against the Doherty company was filed by Augusta Levy, of New York, who had contracted to purchase Cities Service stock on the installment plan but who after the break in the stock market last fall defaulted in her payments. She sued to recover an amount based upon the market price of the shares on October 15, which was prior to the break, claiming that the language of the contract might be so construed. This claim was denied by the defendant on the contention that the contract was clear in its meaning and that it should be liquidated on the basis of the market price on November 15, which was after the break and on which date the market price for Cities Service stock was considerably below the level of a month previous.

Store, Pool Room, Destroyed by Fire

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—A store owned by Walter Koloszka, of Mount Braddock, near here, was burned by fire which started from an overheated stove. A pool room, operated by Mike Sedlock, which adjoined the store, was also destroyed. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

CONGRESSMAN INDICTED

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Indictments charging Congressman Stanley H. Kunz and his son Stanley, Jr., with conspiracy were returned here and the Congressman will be asked to return for trial, waiving extradition, Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin said.

Lavin, in charge of the investigation of alleged sale of civil service promotions, said the indictment grew out of a charge made by a candidate for a police job, who did not get a place on the department, and involved passage of $400 between the candidate and the Congressman, which the latter has said was merely a loan which has since been repaid.

Prosecutor Lavin said he was writing to the Congressman at Washington to ask him to waive extradition proceedings, citing an old statute which Lavin claimed did not exempt members of Congress from legal service on felony charges while Congress was in session.

Bishop Archibald Carey, Negro, and former member of the Civil Service Commission, has been indicted in connection with the alleged irregularities in the civil service promotion lists and his case is pending assignment for trial.

Railways Officer Speaker on Safety

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 23.—William H. Boyce, of Pittsburgh, commercial manager of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, will speak here this evening at the third of the series of safety meetings being held by the Beaver County Safety Council.

AN EXPECTATION SURPASSED

It was expected that the men who now control Durant Motors would introduce a line of good motor cars.

That they would build honest cars. Cars of character that would serve long and economically and well—precisely the kind of cars they have been in the habit of building for many years.

It was also regarded as certain that the new Durants would bring a new response to the throttle and a new thrill to the wheel. For no group of manufacturers has more consistently stressed the importance of motor car performance.

That each of these expectations has been realized is attested by the reception accorded these cars wherever shown.

But few would have prophesied that Durant, or any other builder, could have produced, at Durant prices, a line of motor cars so comfortable, so roomy and so smart in line and design.

Durant has surpassed public expectation.

FIGHT BARRIER ON MEXICANS

WASHINGTON Jan 23 AP Ill feeling which might endanger lives along the border and lack of Mexican labor which would hamper development of the southwest were explained to the House Immigration Committee as results which might come from taking the bars against immigrants from Latin American countries

Appearing with a group from the southwest to present the opposition of agricultural interests to proposals to place Western Hemisphere immigration on a quota basis Judge H L Yates of Brownsville Tex said that if the supply of Mexican labor were cut off it would stop development of the lower Rio Grande Valley

The pictures presented by Yates and by Burton P Fleming manager of the Elephant Butte reclamation project in New Mexico of the serious effects that might come to the southwest from cutting off the supply of Mexican labor led Chairman Johnson of the committee to announce that subcommittees would be sent there for a study before making a final draft of the bill

Fleming said cotton growers needed this labor and proposed a system of seasonal passports to assure pickers at harvest time

Yates said that if ill feeling should result from the legislation lives of citizens along the Mexican Border might be endangered He also cautioned against the danger that this dissatisfaction would injure American commerce with Central and South America and Mexico

The witness contended this labor did not compete with American labor because Americans would not go into the fields and do the work required of the farms Restriction by 65 per cent of the influx of Mexicans in the past 10 years through establishment of more stringent requirements for immigrant visas he added "Already has effected the economic and commercial development of this community"

Would you SNUB her?
...you Would

Attractive isn't she? And just as charming as she is attractive. Yet you'd probably snub her after you met her. Everybody does. She's the loneliest girl in Milwaukee—and doesn't know the reason for it and, sad to relate, there are millions like her.

How about yourself?

What makes you think that you haven't got halitosis (unpleasant breath), the social fault no one forgives?

One person out of three has halitosis—and doesn't know it. It never announces itself to the victim. It is prevalent because caused by common daily conditions (many of germ origin), arising in the mouth. If you wish people to like you, keep your breath beyond suspicion by rinsing the mouth with full strength Listerine which ends halitosis.

Kills germs — destroys odors

Listerine, used full strength, is an effective germicide which kills even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) in 15 seconds.

Therefore it combats odor-producing conditions in the mouth. Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant, it destroys the odors themselves.

Keep it handy in home and office. Take it with you on your vacation. Our free book of Etiquette is yours for the asking. Address Dept. H 1, Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

MUSIC
SYRIA MOSQUE

The Cast.

Siegfried	Karl Jorn
Wanderer	Gotthold Ditter
Alberich	Hans F. Hey
Mime	Alexander Larsen
Fafner	Laurenz Pierot
Brunhilde	Frederic Boggs
Erda	Sonia Sharnova
Woglinde (first Rhine maiden)	Edna Zahm

Richard Wagner's Siegfried was sung in Syria Mosque last night before a most appreciative audience The newly-organized German Grand Opera Company was a genuine surprise from the first to the last note and may now compare its work with Bayreuth without too much apology For the surprise to the public must have been the fact that, contrary to all impressions that Wagner is declamation with an occasional shriek and call these players did sing most beautifully

J. Fred Lissfelt

The new stage sets are most impressive and considering the shallow Mosque stage permitted the actors considerable freedom The compactness of Mime's cave contributed more than usual to the realism throwing Mime's and the Wanderer's stature into marvelous contrast The drop for the Erda scene too was clever

Musically the performance was on a par with excellent opera throughout Germany Ernst Knoch is a conductor not only of tremendous energy but of great consideration for the singing voices as well as the exquisite detail within his orchestra The orchestra alone could have won laurels for last night's performance with its playing of the interlude before the Brunhilde awakening

Karl Jorn the title role a veteran German tenor sang with an astonishingly fresh voice, but his playing left much to be desired not only in the illusion of youth but for actually following his text Throughout the Nibelungen Ring, Wotan and in his disguise as the Wanderer is perhaps the most overpowering character Gotthold Ditter's interpretation upheld that tradition physically and vocally, and indeed was the equal of the last Wotan of Bayreuth The large resonance of his fine baritone easily soared beyond the orchestra and created a glorious scene with Sonia Sharnova's Erda

The dwarf Mime and his brother Alberich were outstanding impersonations Usually they are grotesques musically, but both Alexander Larsen and Hans Hey got their effects by straight singing and as players were easily the stars of the opera Laurenz Pierot megaphoned Fafner's few stanzas to the delight of the audience Edna Zahm as the forest bird was somewhat too far off the distance to get the necessary brilliant effects of her words or tones it was the only bit of wrong management during the evening

Juliette-Lippe who has remained a favorite since her Sieglinde and Isolde of last season re-established herself in our affections as Brunnhilde For continued joyous and high sustained singing there is hardly an equal to this music and her voice is admirably suited to the great scene at the opera's climax Her voice is more mellow than the clarion tones we are likely to expect in this role but none the less beautiful when modulated so artfully, and accompanied by such accurate gestures How well she knows her score is proven in her utter security, and it will always be a joy to welcome her among us

The Dusk of the Gods with the inimitable Gadski as Brunnhilde, will be sung tonight. Every Wagnerite should be in his place early.

PENNSYLVANIA mother's story will interest you

"MY little son, Billy, became bilious, pale and listless," says Mrs. Florence Rhodes, 5454 Irving St., Philadelphia. "He was never hungry and didn't digest what he ate. He was constipated.

"I decided to try California Fig Syrup; and it has been a blessing. Now his bowels are regular; he has a fine appetite and perfect digestion. I give him a little Fig Syrup, now and then, when he seems to need its help, and it keeps him gaining."

Giving children California Fig Syrup is the finest way to do away with the ills caused by constipation. This is the way children like; that doctors approve. This pure vegetable product just suits a child's system. It moves the bowels gently without griping or discomfort. It helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach so they continue to act naturally. A child's whole system soon reacts to its purifying and energizing qualities. Prove it the next time your child develops those first symptoms of a clogged system—bad breath or coated tongue.

Emphasize the name California in buying, to avoid imitations.

NEW BOARD MAY END FOX SUIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—The suit for equity receivership brought against the Fox Film Corporation may be terminated by the appointment of a new board of trustees, it was learned today following a conference of the various interests concerned.

Among the names suggested for the board were those of Charles Evans Hughes and John W. Davis.

The conference was held in the chambers of Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman. William Fox, head of the corporation, was expected to attend a later session of the conference.

Negotiations are in progress for the sale by the Fox Corporation of its extensive British holdings to a British Company for about $25,000,000 cash, according to partially confirmed reports here today.

It was pointed out in financial circles that the British sale would help considerably in meeting the company's short term obligations of about $30,000,000, which become due starting April 1.

'Li'l Artha' Wanted By New York Police

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—John Arthur Johnson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, was the object of police search today. He is wanted in court on a traffic charge.

"Li'l Artha," had been too busy opening a new night club to come to court, his associates said.

Insect Powder in Kraut Leads To Court

Gabriel Nasiadka, 52, of 1967½ Federal street, poured insect powder into two barrels of sauer kraut in his home, his wife, Mary, 49, testified before Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today, during Nasiadka's arraignment on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Nasiadka and her son and daughter, Michael, 23, and Victoria, 21, testified that Nasiadka had on various occasions used vile language and become violent in his actions towards them. During the hearing today Nasiadka became excited when his son testified and said that the son was of no use to him and refused to work. The case was turned over to social workers.

87 Per Cent of Cars In State Inspected

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Approximately 87 per cent of the registered motor vehicles in Pennsylvania were inspected during the compulsory examination period of last October, Motor Vehicles Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon said today.

Lebanon county was an exception to this rule, however, as only a few more than half of the owners had their cars tested there in this period. In contrast to Lebanon county was Adams county where 9,231 of the 9,300 vehicles were inspected. Allegheny's percentage was 85.

DORMONT LAUDS EX-C. OF C. HEAD

The Dormont Chamber of Commerce at its first meting of the year, gave its retiring president, L. (Sim) Price, an ovation in recognition of the chamber's greatest year of activity, and presented him with a suitable engraved pen and pencil set.

The president-elect, C. F. (Cap) Lauer, was presented by the retiring president. With him will serve as vice-president, Walter Phillips; second vice-president, John A. Brownlee; secretary, C. J. Thomas, and treasurer, J. Harry Schloter. Directors for the year are: Mr. Price, W. Wade Miller, R. W. Elton, A. C. Purdy, C. C. Cooke, C. C. Poling, Joseph Beach, James A. Zewe, George Hards and C. T. Paull.

The new president is pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church, a retired disabled Army officer, past president of the Dormont Rotary Club, and the South Hills Ministerial Association.

In his key-note address he stressed the fact that Dormont has passed through the promotional stage, it is no longer necessary to "sell" Dormont to the world. Dormont has long since arrived. The duty of the chamber now is to see that Dormont be kept a desirable residential district for desirable people. Partisan or factional politics will not be played.

A constructive program will be worked out with Mr. Price heading the municipal affairs, and Mr. Brownlee, the civic improvement committee. Mr. Purdy and three other attorneys, S. W. Pringle, John S. Cort and Robert Cunningham will be in charge with legislative affairs. Other committee chairmen are: Mr. Schloter, educational; Mr. Cooke, entertainment, and Mr. Zewe, business men's.

The Dormont Chamber voted to affiliate with the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The annual banquet is to be held in Masonic Hall, West Liberty avenue, February 25. George Hards is general chairman.

BRIEF RITES FOR MRS. BRYAN

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Brief private funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers, in Forest Lawn Memorial Cemetery, Glendale, for Mrs. Mary Baird Bryan, widow of "the Great Commoner," William Jennings Bryan. After the simple services the body will be cremated and the ashes sent to Washington, there to be interred beside the body of her husband, in Arlington National Cemetery.

The arrangements were announced by Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves, a daughter, at whose home Mrs. Bryan had lived and where she died, Tuesday night, of arthritis that had afflicted her for 12 years. Mrs. Bryan was 69 years old and had survived the great Democratic leader by four years. Her condition had not been considered serious until her return, three months ago, from Miami, Fla., where she had visited another daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, member of Congress.

William Jennings Bryan, Jr., a Los Angeles attorney; Mrs. Hargreaves, and members of both their families were with Mrs. Bryan at death. Mrs. Owen, who will not be able to reach here for the funeral, will attend the interment of her mother's ashes in Arlington National Cemetery.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germladen phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

PRESBYTERIAN UNITY MEET SLATED

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

PROBABLY the reason George M. Cohan (he pronounces it Co-hann) is one of the most popular figures in or out of show business is that he is, as he puts it, just one of the boys. This was the busiest week he has experienced in years, but he went out of his way to attend a luncheon of the Variety Club the other day.

Not only that, he asked for the privilege of singing a few songs. He sang two of his own, "Over There" and "Give My Regards to Broadway," which is our idea of the perfect dessert for any meal.

Housewives have their problems. One of them is using the word cotton when she really means thread. The case of Mrs. Ethel Rosenthal, of Beechview, is a good example. Mrs. Rosenthal was telling her young maid to wrap cotton around the celery and drop the celery into the soup for flavoring. The maid, a stickler for correctness, interpreted Mrs. Rosenthal literally, and there was no soup on the Rosenthal table that night. If you clip each item in Sidewalks, this one should be placed under Soup Tragedies.

JOE WHITE, the silver-masked tenor who has tossed away the mask, is entertaining visitors to the auto show with his rich Irish voice. Joe tells Bill Owings, head man at the show, a story which should find favor with thousands of wives.

It was during the period when Joe was wearing his mask. Outside a theater one day he overheard one woman telling another that the silver-masked tenor had to conceal his features because a jealous woman had tossed acid in his face.

Joe told his wife of the incident. Mrs. White, who came to the States from Ireland six years ago, replied, "Faith, and who could be jealous av you?"

Sidewalks is able to reveal just how Waldo Pierce, who had five paintings in the 1929 international exhibition, got his start. Pierce, who has always done whatever he felt like doing, dropped in to the studio of his friend, the late George Bellows, one day while Bellows was at work.

"You know," he decided after watching Bellows a few minutes, "I think I'll try that."

He did. He slapped expensive paint on canvas in just whatever fashion appealed to him. Bellows finally tired of financing his whimsical friend's art education and told him so.

Pierce persisted. He dabbled with colors until he was gunned by a desire to paint. He studied. And Penelope Redd is authority for the statement that he succeeded. Among artists he is recognized as one of the capable oddities. His favorite pastime is painting portraits of himself.

Miss Redd raised her right hand when she told the story of Pierce jumping from a London-bound steamer into New York Bay and swimming back to shore. He had suddenly decided he didn't want to go to London.

LOVEJOY

Lovejoy Asks Oglebay to Kiss Her at Party

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Tom Nicholson and his young and beautiful wife are happy with their baby and tiny bungalow until their wealthy neighbors, the Aldersons, come into their lives. Mrs. Alderson, whose husband is elderly, has an affair with a man named "Jack." Tom's suspicions are unjustly directed to Lovejoy when Jack telephones and hangs up abruptly. Lovejoy speaks to Mrs. Alderson about it. When Lovejoy takes Tom to a card party at the Aldersons, Norrie Shane comes to look after the baby. Lovejoy is amused to discover Norrie's fondness for Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIV.

IT sounded to Lovejoy as if the Aldersons' big house was filled with people when she and Tom stepped into it that night.

From behind the thick velvet curtains that hung in the doorway of the living room there came a babble of loud voices and the silvery clink of ice in glasses.

"We're not having a real party—there are only eight of us," Aline told her, coming out into the hall with a cigaret in one hand and a highball glass in the other.

"You go on in, Tom, and tell Al to give you a good stiff glass of 'likker'—we're three drinks ahead of you!" And she gave Tom a shove towards the living room. "I'll take the Little Woman upstairs to powder her nose. It needs it. Go ahead, Shiny!"

She followed Lovejoy up the wide steps that led to the second floor.

"You're white as a sheet tonight, aren't you?" she asked when Lovejoy had slipped out of her coat and was beginning to powder her nose.

"I'm tired," Lovejoy answered. "I've been up since six this morning, and I've cleaned the house from the front door to the back porch today!—I'm fairly walking on rubber legs. May I borrow some of your rouge? I left mine at home."

Aline pulled out the top drawer of her dressing table.

"Help yourself!" she said generously. "There's five kinds of rouge there and about 15 lip sticks. Put on plenty—you need it!—I stayed in bed today until noon so that I'd be wide awake tonight. We never go to bed before dawn on Saturday nights."

Lovejoy nodded, her face close to the toilet mirror, as she outlined her lips with bright scarlet paint.

"I know," she said. "I've seen your house lighted up lots of times and wished I was over here . . . Tom and I just sit at home night after night. He seems to like it." She sighed.

"Don't you ever think he likes it!" Aline explained, her eyes meeting Lovejoy's in the mirror. "Men are all alike! They try to whitewash themselves to their wives and pretend they like the quiet life—but they don't really! What they honestly want is a hot time and the bright lights. And don't you forget it!"

She snubbed out her cigaret in a blue glass powder bowl on the dressing-table.

"And if they haven't a Bright Light at home, they're going out somewhere else to look for one," she went on, laughing a little. "I'm quite a Bright Light, myself, I am!"

She certainly was. She shone and twinkled and radiated pep from the fluff of gunn-silk hair on her head to the rhinestone buckles on her feet.

"Put on some more lip-stick!" she said. "I want you to look nice tonight. There's an old friend of yours, downstairs."

"Friend of mine?" asked Lovejoy. She swung around from the mirror, her eyes wide with curiosity . . . What friend could they have in common, she and this spoiled rich woman?

Aline laughed.

"Stephen Oglebay," she said. "He's an old friend of my husband. The other night he was here for dinner and he asked us if we knew you. He said you lived back here in Stallings Lane—He's an old sweetheart of yours, isn't he?"

Lovejoy nodded. How on earth, she asked herself, had Steve Oglebay found out that she and Tom had moved to Stallings Lane?

He must be keeping track of me, she thought.

The thought made her heart beat a bit faster, somehow . . . Not that she cared a snap of her fingers for Steve any more, but it was oddly exciting to know that he still thought about her and knew where she lived.

"I met Steve ages ago," she said, turning away from the glass. "He was buying a watch, one day in the jewelry store where by Uncle James works, and we saw a lot of each other after that until I got married. He's awfully nice, isn't he?"

"He plays a slick game of poker," answered Aline. "You'd better watch your step tonight, Lovejoy. These people downstairs are sharks at poker—especially Larry and Jane Goodsell. They say that they paid for all the Oriental rugs in their house with their poker winnings!"

She took a small gold mesh bag from the drawer and stuffed it with bills and silver that she shook out of a leather shopping bag.

"I always lose my shirt," she said cheerfully.

Lovejoy's heart sank. She couldn't afford to lose a dollar tonight or any other night.

"I didn't bring a penny with me," she murmured, following Aline down the stairs.

"Oh, Tom will write you a check if you lose," the other woman called back over her bare shoulder. "And beginners always have grand luck, anyway."

The big living-room was filled with a gray-blue haze of cigaret smoke. Around the wood fire in the grate was a group of people, all of them with high-ball glasses in their hands.

Steve Oglebay leaned up against the mantel, facing the doorway. His blue eyes caught Lovejoy's as she came in and held them.

"Here's your drink, Lovey," Aline said, picking up a tall glass from a tea-wagon just inside the door.

"Don't give it to her! She never drinks!" Steve called out.

Then, remembering himself, he turned around suddenly and stared down into the blazing pine logs, his broad back to the room.

In the old days, before her marriage to Tom, Steve often had taken Lovejoy out among his friends. And he never had let her take a drink, carefully keeping a promise that he had made to Aunt Em who called liquor "the broth of the devil."

The Goodsells were a merry-looking couple with loud voices and wide happy smiles. Jane Goodsell, a tiny brunette, sat on a floor pillow at Allen Alderson's feet with her head against his knees.

Beside her sat a girl named Mary Mont, who was evidently Steve's partner for the evening. She looked like the fashion-magazine beauties, with her brown hair cut in a "windblown" shingle and her black dress cut to the waistline at the back, showing a great deal of

PITT STUDENT COUNCIL HIT BY EDITOR

'Weekly' Chief Scores Group As Inefficient and Cites Problems Needing Action

The Student Council at the University of Pittsburgh has been termed "an unusually inefficient group," by Norman L. Park, editor of the "Pitt Weekly," in a letter read at a council meeting last night. Park also said that the council was willing to meet once in a while to "eat a free meal at the university's expense." He said the council contributed nothing else to the welfare of the student body.

In recent issues of the Weekly, Park had criticized the council and he was asked to attend the council meeting last night to make suggestions.

LISTS PROBLEMS

He was unable to attend the meeting but sent a long letter in which he enumerated several of the problems he thought the Council should attempt to solve.

Park called upon the council to demand of the Athletic Association an explanation for leaving behind on the California trip of football team, two members of the squad who had practiced faithfully since Thanksgiving and why many students were unable to get in the Notre Dame basket ball game on their student tickets. He also asked council to call upon the administration to suppress "The Rebel Yell," anonymous student publication attacking the administration; to demand that the university library be kept open on Sunday and to secure a rifle range for the rifle team.

URGES STUDENT VOTE

Council received and accepted with thanks Park's letter. Emanuel Fishkin, a member of the council, presented a motion that the editor of the Weekly be elected by the students. This was held over. Robert Kleeb, another member, explained that the council only receives a free meal, whereas certain staff members of the Weekly were compensated in money for their work.

George W. Kimball, 31, former teller in the First National Bank of Lawrence County, at New Castle, Pa., pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to embezzling $2,340 of the bank's funds. He was sentenced to eight months in the Lawrence County Jail by Judge Nelson McVicar.

Kimball told the court he made $125 a month. Illness of his mother, purchase of an automobile and payments on a mortgage prompted him to take the money, he said. Judge McVicar denied a plea for parole.

VITAL STEPS AT SESSIONS EXPECTED

Conference Next Week Seen As Marking Start Toward Union of 11 Denominations

Important measures toward effecting Presbyterian unity are anticipated in the meeting here next week of representatives of the five leading denominations of that family of churches. Far-reaching results already have been attained by committees appointed by the governing bodies of the Presbyterian denominations last year, and the belief is expressed that the Pittsburgh gathering will be historic in that it will mark the first step toward the unification of 11 denominations.

The campaign for unity will begin with a fellowship banquet in the William Penn Hotel Tuesday evening, which will bring together a large group representing these denominations: Presbyterian, U. S. A. (Northern Presbyterian); Presbyterian, U. S. (Southern Presbyterian); Reformed Church in America (Dutch Reformed); Reformed Church in U. S. (German Reformed), and the United Presbyterian Church.

MEET IN FIRST CHURCH

The conference was called by a committee of which the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, is chairman. On Wednesday morning the committee will convene in the First United Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue. Action at the Pittsburgh conference will be reported to the General Assemblies of the Presbyterian and the United Presbyterian churches and the governing bodies of the other denominations.

Speakers at the banquet will be the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Speer, of New York, representing the Northern Presbyterian church; Dr. F. Raymond Clee, of Jersey City, Dutch Reformed church, and Dr. J. I. Vance, of Nashville, Tenn., Southern Presbyterian church. The Rev. Dr. John McNaugher, moderator of the United Presbyterian church, and president of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, will preside.

At the meeting Tuesday the discussion will be led by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary; Dr. W. R. Dobbyns, moderator of the Southern Presbyterian Church; Dr. W. E. McCulloch, of Los Angeles; Dr. Harris E. Kirk, of Baltimore; Dr. Harry W. Noble, of Jersey City, and Dr. H. C. Swearingen, St. Paul.

CREATES WIDE INTEREST

Wednesday evening a service will be held in the First church, where the findings of the conference will be summed up by Dr. Noble, who is chairman of the unity committee of the Dutch Reformed Church, and Dr. Swearingen, one of the leaders of the Northern Presbyterian Church.

The German Reformed Church will be in attendance at the conference, but the chairman of the committee of that church requested that he be omitted from the list of speakers, and his request has been complied with. William M. Duff, who has charge of the dinner arrangements, stated that the meeting has created wide attention in this community, where the lay members of the Presbyterian churches regard the event as one of historic significance in these denominations.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question—A well-known Omaha woman physician (picture on page 24) advises business girls to assume mannish attitudes such as sitting with feet propped on a desk during working hours. Do you favor it?

LOU LEHIFTHAUER, South Hills, telephone operator: I don't favor such postures because they are not ladylike. A girl should try to be herself and not ape men. It is a well-known fact that when a woman imitates a man she is placed at a disadvantage and loses her quality of appeal. 'Be yourself' is the best motto for the business girl."

Miss Lehifthauer

ALICE KIBLER, Mt. Washington, clerk: "Men do it, why can't we? I can see nothing terrible about a girl sitting with her feet on a desk imitating men's actions in business. Men have been in business longer than women so they should know the best way to get in order to become a captain of industry."

Miss Kibler

THELMA YAGGI, Mt. Washington, bookkeeper: "You can't beat a person at his own game so why try? Assuming mannish attitudes is exclusively a man's game. A girl would be sure to look silly if she attempted it. Anyhow, how long would a working girl last if the boss found her taking it easy with the desk for a foot rest?"

Miss Yaggi

ELSIE KAMHALEY, South Hills, bookkeeper: "Many an office girl would give her right eye to take a restful posture after a particularly hard stretch of work, but she must be a lady and sit up straight as a stick. Men sprawl out in a comfortable position. The girl should be permitted to do it also. Yes, I favor girls assuming mannish attitudes while engaged in the great war of business."

Miss Kamhaley

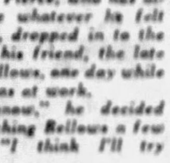
MARY L. ANDERSON, South Hills: "No. It is unladylike for a girl to sit with her feet on a desk. Even if she did assume the position it wouldn't aid her in business life. There is nothing more desired in an office than a ladylike business girl. There are things that a sensible girl won't do and that's one of them."

Miss Anderson

ANNE SUNSHINE, East End, bookkeeper: "If a woman can't be successful in business by using her brain power instead of doing something foreign to her nature she had better stay at home and do the dishes. The girl who acts the part of a lady always gets approval; while the mannish girl gets the laugh."

Miss Sunshine

Will Rogers Says:



LONDON, Jan. 23.

WELL, the conference is synthetic now they have decided to hold no public meetings. The big one Tuesday was just a decoy. Now they meet secretly and disarm synthetically. We won't really hear what was done at this conference till we read one of the delegates' memoirs after the next war. Writers are searching for fast boats home. They have some marines here so they can just tell it to the marines, and the marines can tell it to us.

If any American correspondent sends any news home today he has made it up. I donned over to see Lady Astor's troop perform at the House of Commons. Why, one prohibition argument in the Senate at home would make these people think they didn't belong to a legislative body.

Yours,

WILL.

Wife Out Nights, He Cares For Children; Divorced

Charges that Mrs. Frances Elizabeth Brukner, of Natrona Heights, neglected her husband and two children, stayed out at nights and corresponded with another man, were supported in an opinion by Judge Ambrose B. Reid in Common Pleas Court. He granted Godfrey Brukner, proprietor of a general store at Natrona Heights, a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and indignities.

Mrs. Brukner, on the pretext she was attending bridge parties, frequently absented herself from home, returning sometimes at daylight and on occasions remaining away for several days, Brukner alleged. He testified that he had to care for their two children, aged 9 and 11, preparing their meals and putting them to bed, and presented correspondence between his wife and another man.

They were married November 24, 1917, at Erie and have continued to live in the same house at Natrona Heights.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.

Bits of news that may interest you. In Chicago it is 8 below zero despite the fact that Clara Bow stopped here on her way to New York.

Mrs. Alta Eastman, of this city, met her husband, Homer, in 1921, sent him to high school, then three universities and when he received his degree, Homer left her flat, literally and figuratively. Now I know what Mrs. Cantor is thinking about when she says, "Eddie, don't read too much, it will hurt your eyes."

In Florida, John D. Rockefeller took an airplane ride, but the plane never left the ground, just taxied up and down the field. Well, it looks like John D. remembers the slogan of the financiers: "No advance without security."

GAS RATE FIGHT ABANDONED BY JEANNETTE

Borough Satisfied With Rate 8 Cents Below Pittsburgh; Long Dispute Now Over

Satisfied with a gas rate eight cents lower than in Pittsburgh, citizens and officials of Jeannette have decided not to press their protest against the rate set by the Greensboro Gas Company, which furnishes fuel to that town.

Pittsburgh and Allegheny County have abandoned their nine-year fight against the 60-cent per 1,000 cubic feet rate, and late yesterday Attorney Roy Bostwick, representing the Greensboro Gas Company, informed Public Service Commissioner S. Ray Shelby that he had been advised that Jeannette intended to withdraw its protest. When the Jeannette case was called for hearing no one answered.

LONG BATTLE

At the time protests were originally filed in 1921 by a score or more of municipalities in Western Pennsylvania, against increased rates charged by the Peoples Natural Gas Company, the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, the Greensboro Gas Company and other gas companies, these were operating as separate units. Now the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company and the Greensboro Gas Company are subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas and Electric Company. As a result of the situation, Jeannette is receiving gas 8 cents per 1,000 cubic feet cheaper than Pittsburgh, although the same owners supply both communities. In Pittsburgh the rate is 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas used, but a discount of 3 cents per 1,000 cubic feet is allowed, provided bills are paid promptly, making the net charge 60 cents.

OTHER WITHDRAWALS

Attorney Bostwick informed the commission he understood that Irwin, Donora, Smithton, Charleroi and other sections also intended to withdraw their protests, just as was done by the City of Pittsburgh yesterday.

The city had agreed to withdraw its protest against the rates charged by the Manufacturers company, provided the Peoples Gas Company won its fight for the 60-cent rate. Other municipalities also agreed to do the same thing. Most of the cases still before the Public Service Commission have been on the docket for the last eight years.

The customers leaped through windows onto the roof of an adjoining building and escaped. In the club the raiders reported the seizure of several gallons of gin and whisky. Search for the proprietors of the club was instituted.

A small quantity of whisky was seized, agents reported, in a raid on a saloon at 6435 Frankstown avenue. No arrests were made.

A 50-gallon still found in the home of Ben Budny, 38, at 948 Herron avenue, resulted in his arrest, according to the agents. A letter praising energy and vision of Americans was received yesterday by Albert J. Stowe, manager of the commerce division of the Chamber of Commerce, from Otoichi Kinoshita, director of the Industrial Rationalization Association, of Tokio, Japan, members of which recently visited the Pittsburgh district. Mr. Stowe conducted them through the industrial section. The letter reads in part:

"One of the points which have been unfolded before us was the fact that there were, beyond our imagination, countless phases of business which connected the United States and Japan on a firm common bais of co-operation and reciprocity. The developments of nations on the Pacific ocean can best be helped by co-operation between us. We feel it our duty to drive home these facts in a more illustrative and familiar way in the mind of every boy and girl of our country."

East End police today were searching for burglars who last night ransacked the home of Mrs. Albert Ellis, at 6339 Marchand street, after they had forced a cellar window of the house.

After entering the cellar the robbers broke open a door leading to the first floor. Every room in the house had been ransacked and clothing and furnishings were found strewn about the floors. Police were unable to determine if anything had been stolen because of the absence of Mrs. Ellis, who is wintering in Florida.

LOCKS CHANGED ON POLICE STATION

Borough's Two Police Forces Function as New Council Dominates; Hearing Feb. 4

Burgess Seward J. Gross, of Glassport, was still locked out of the borough's police station today.

Judge Ambrose Reid, in Common Pleas Court, yesterday granted the burgess a writ of mandamus against Glassport's nine councilmen directing them to show cause why the burgess should not have access to the police station. But the writ is not returnable until February 4, so until that time, Glassport will continue to have two police departments—the old one, discharged by the borough's new council and re-hired by the burgess, and the one hired by the council and dismissed by the executive.

FACTIONS SPLIT

The war between burgess and council broke out January 16, when the new council of which County Detective James O'Brien is president, ignored the burgess' dismissals and ordered their appointees to take charge of the law and order of that section.

The burgess dismissed the new men when they refused to abide by his working hours, he said. He hired a new force.

Then came the dawn—both forces reported for duty. Council's force men were the only ones admitted to the police station. They had keys for the new door locks, which were changed.

Burgess Gross did not get a key. He is holding headquarters for himself and his police force in his private office on the second floor of the municipal building.

City-County Building To Oust Loiterers

Loiterers will not be permitted in the corridor of the City-County Building, according to an order which goes into effect today. Director James M. The order came as a result of a complaint from City Treasurer Roy Schooley that a man had been robbed of his pocketbook while paying taxes in his office.

Judge Henry H. Rowand has set January 27 for a hearing.

KAROLYI, HERE, HITS FASCISM

Count Michael Karolyi, first president of Hungary, now in exile, attacked Fascism last night in an address in Carnegie Music Hall, North Side. Karolyi, who is on a lecture tour of the United States, says he is not a Communist or a social democrat. He states he is an anti-Fascist and is a presiding officer in the Anti-Fascist International League, under whose auspices last night's meeting was held.

"As long as countries arm themselves and keep up a warlike spirit, naturally the war danger is increased," he said. "The countries which are controlled wholly or in part by Fascists are poor and cannot afford to spend half of their budget for armament."

The speaker declared he had broken semi-feudal Hungary and made it a republic by forcing great land owners to distribute their land to the peasants. He started with his own estate, he said, and sold properties to the poor at low prices. However, today, Hungary is more than ever a semi-feudal country, he said.

OFFICERS DENY BEATING MAN

Members of the Homicide Squad of city detectives today discredited the report that Harry Rivers, 36, of 17 Isabella street, who died in the Allegheny General Hospital Sunday night, had been beaten by a policeman at Sixth street and Penn avenue early Sunday morning. J. C. Shipley, of 205 Hammond street, yesterday partially identified Rivers as the man whom he saw being abused by an officer.

A police report shows that Rivers died in the hospital after being removed from a cell in Central station. He had been arrested at Sixth street and Penn avenue for disorderly conduct on a street car. City Detective Jerry Deasy, of the Homicide Squad, said there could be no connection between the prisoner's death and the alleged attack. Deasy said 13 passengers on the car had witnessed Rivers' arrest at 5:02 a. m. Sunday morning, nearly four hours after Shipley is said to have seen an officer beating a man.

However Shipley yesterday asked morgue officials to notify him of the date of inquest into Rivers' death. He said that he and his fellow workers, C. J. Dawson and W. L. Pollock, would appear to testify at the inquest. Shipley is a railroad engineer.

COURT PERMITS VOTE CONTEST

Quashing of the Wilmerding election contest has been refused by Judge Thomas J. Ford, in an opinion handed down in Quarter Sessions Court, and the next step will be the fixing of a date when hearing of the contest will begin.

The proceedings are directed against James Volpe and Charles H. Ray, councilmen; Harry Biggs, justice of the peace, and C. R. Shiring, tax collector, elected last November. Petitioners alleged that about 450 illegal votes had been cast in favor of these candidates in the fifth and sixth precincts. As soon as this was filed by Attorney John D. Meyers, a counter move was made by Attorney O. K. Eaton, who moved to quash on the grounds that some of the petitioners were not qualified electors. The hearing on this motion was held last week.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folk Brave Cold For Opera

WITH disrespectful Jack Frost nipping the fingers and toes and noses of everyone who ventured out it was surprising that so many folks left their warm fireplaces for Syria Mosque last night to hear the German Grand Opera Company sing "Siegfried." And tonight the company will sing "Gotterdamerung."

Among the younger set there last night watching Siegfried slay the dragon was Louise Evans who wore an interesting gown of black velvet fashioned with a bolero jacket with white ermine forming a novel collar and wide cuffs and with rows of circular flounces giving the skirt the popular petal effect.

And I caught sight of Mrs. John Byerly walking up and down in the corridor during the intermission. Her gown was of black net reaching to the instep.

Very quaint looked Elizabeth Graham in a gown of shell-pink taffeta and tulle with the full skirt reaching the instep. And she wore a finger-length velvet jacket with a collar of white lapin.

And I saw Elizabeth Jenkins talking with friends. She wore an interesting gown of black with a gold leaf figure and with the skirt draped and tied in the back to simulate the bustle vogue of a few decades ago.

There were box parties, of course. The J. Gerald Firths were entertaining in their box and so were the William Watson Smiths.

Mrs. Smith wore black chiffon and Mrs. William McClay Hall, one of her guests, wore black velvet with a coat of black velvet and ermine. And Mrs. Howard Hale McClintic was in black velvet with a wrap of maroon velvet and beige box fur. Mrs. McClintic's daughter, Mrs. George H. Love, was also a guest in the Smiths' box. She wore a wrap of ermine over a gown of black net.

The J. Porter Gillespies were there last night with Mrs. Gillespie wearing a gown of garnet red crepe.

Among others who are interested in the German opera are Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Harvey Childs, Mrs. A. K. Oliver, Mrs. Joseph C. Dilworth, Mrs. Ralph Flinn, Mrs. T. Clifton Jenkins, Miss Martha Jamison, Mrs. George M. Laughlin III, Mrs. J. E. Lewis, Mrs. William R. Jarvis, Mrs. Frank W. Jarvis, Mrs. J. Frank Drake and Mrs. Taylor Allderdice.

BANGKOK FAVORITE STRAW FOR MANY LATEST HATS

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A top note of the sartorial scale is the brimmed hat in a variety of straws of which bangkok seems to be one of the favorites. This year it is going to be difficult to avoid entanglement amidst the maize of straws that are already making their debut. Panama straws, especially an exotic looking weave known as Panama-laque, bakou and ballibuntl, are other wisps of straw news as it relates to resort and early spring hats. Felt, of course, will continue its triumphant career, and will be most decoratively treated and combined with other fabrics as well as with straw. Many believe that hair hats both plain and combined with lace will appear on the summer horizon, as well as fabric hats, such as linen, crepe de Chine and grosgrain. A wealth of styles from which to choose with the assurance of an attractive hat for every type with the advent of the brimmed hat and the cloche.

WE ARE sending you sketches of two hats that are very expressive of the mode of today and of tomorrow. The first is a becoming hat observed at the Ritz. It is of supple black felt. The wide brim flares up and off the face and is drawn in at one side beneath a cluster of small green feathers. There is no brim in the back, as is the case with several hats of the moment. The second hat is from the midseason collection of Mareelle Rose, and can be obtained in a variety of straws. It is shown here in bangkok. A slightly sloping brim, wide at the sides, curves in to a narrower line at the back, and the crown is shirred in flat pleats at either side of a band of straw running over the top from front to back. A double strand of red and white leather is looped around the crown.

* * *

THE evening gown is one of the gems of Worth's new collection. The material used is black faille. The deep V shaped decollete is cut into a long flat panel at the back, on either side of which falls a puffed drapery of the fabric giving a bustle effect. The front of the dress is slightly shirred across the hips at the waistline, softening the severe effect of the princess lines. The skirt is somewhat shorter in front than at back, but only slightly so.

JURY TO HEAR MRS. O'BRIEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, William J. O'Brien, today was scheduled to take the witness stand in her own defense.

The young widow, an expectant mother, will be the first and the only actual witness to the shooting that defense attorneys will produce. It was indicated after the first day of her trial was brought to a close.

Mrs. O'Brien is to recount the "story of her life" from the witness stand in an effort to save herself from the penalty which the state is asking.

Sitting at her attorneys' table in the crowded courtroom late yesterday, Mrs. O'Brien heard the statement she made to police a few hours after the murder. It was read to the jury by Prosecutor Walker Butler.

"Yes, I love Howard Dorr! Since last August I have known I love him. I still love him!"

Thus the statement of her love for Dorr, who was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment Saturday for the murder of O'Brien, found its way into the court record.

"Dorr told me things couldn't go on the way they had been," the document continued. "He said he wasn't getting along with Rose Dorr, his wife. I told him he was right," the statement read.

"The week before, when I took poison, he told me that he wouldn't have me acting this way, even if he had to kill both his wife and my husband."

The . . .

Vanishing Mansions--

Where are the large mansions of the Nineties? Gone—at least, GOING—fast!

THOSE sumptuous homes were constructed in the horse and carriage days—before the automobile came to speed up the age and take people abroad—away from their tree-shaded grounds and vine-screened porches.

Among the 200 families residing in Schenley Apartments are many who formerly maintained large residences, with expansive grounds.

They could tell you of the important economies in time, money and effort, and of increased comfort and luxury, gained in the change to high-type apartment residence.

And they now have more actual room than they had in their large mansions, for every foot of space is liveable. "White-Elephant" expenses for unused rooms, halls and grounds have been abolished.

But the most important achievement by the change is—SERVICE! Through service, household drudgery has been relegated to the past. The perplexing servant problem is solved for all time.

The Schenley service system employs a corps of 125 attendants, specifically for the apartments—Then, too, there is the added service of the excellent Hotel Schenley, as adapted to apartment requirements—

And—a feature of importance—the service of numerous fine shops on the premises as well as the Schenley Delicatessen, Coffee Shoppe and Restaurant.

There is no better manner of living than is afforded by residence in

Ghost Witness Against Young Mother in Jail Found, Confesses Plot

By WOOSTER TAYLOR

SALINAS, Cal., Jan. 23.—Henry Miller has been found. The long-hunted "ghost" witness in the Sue Brown case was located by the San Francisco Examiner.

He is Wesley Owen Patton, an auto mechanic of Monterey.

He is an "under cover" agent by night working by direction of Sheriff Carl Abbott, who has been asserting all along that he never set eyes on him and under the [illegible] of D. M. Laughery, the six-foot-four deputy sheriff, who broke in the door of Mrs. Brown's home and dragged her off to jail for possession of three cases of home brew.

He admits that he was a house guest of the Browns.

He admits partaking of the hospitality of the Browns.

He admits attempting to "frame" the Browns, under the guise of friendship.

He admits the proceedings under which Sue Brown was jailed are illegal.

The whole sickening "confession" has come from the quivering lips of the agent whose plan was to collect 20 per cent of the fine he thought would be imposed upon the expectant mother.

[illegible] baby was born dead in the filthy Salinas [illegible] mother him. The [illegible] of his conversation [illegible] he was knocked out of a good piece of coin." He is most concerned with the question of whether he can still collect the money from the county.

Most astounding of his admissions is that, just as the attorney for Mrs. Brown suspected, the affidavit of sale was never sworn to before a justice of the peace.

The same "affidavit mill" that Sheriff Abbott used in other cases was used here, he admitted reluctantly.

"I signed the sworn affidavit in Deputy Sheriff Laugherdy's home," he declared.

"It was late in the afternoon and they told me that they could not get in touch with the judge, but it would be all right."

"So I signed it there in Laughery's home, just as though I was standing up in front of the justice with my right hand raised and swearing to it according to law."

This in the face of repeated statements of Justice of the Peace Ray Baugh, who sentenced the young matron, that the man who signed the affidavit had appeared in person.

Patton declared that the affidavit had already been signed—that it bore the signature of Justice Baugh.

Ever since Mrs. Brown was arrested and the hue and cry arose over the way the young mother of two children was "railroaded" to jail, there to suffer her tragic torment, Patton says he has been warned by repeated phone calls from Laughery to "lay low and keep his mouth shut."

He was located by the Examiner despite the frantic efforts of the Monterey County officials "to cover up."

He confessed despite his own vehement denials and those of his wife, when the clue first led to his door.

And he told a story of how things are run wide open in this county, with agents such as himself being allowed to vent their personal spite on those they dislike.

In mortal dread of being maltreated in this community where sentiment over the Brown case is at white heat, Patton asked the Examiner representatives who ferreted out his secret to furnish him with a body guard, which is being provided, while the details of this outrage upon American motherhood, perpetrated in the name of prohibition, are being secured.

5 HURT AS AUTO HITS TROLLEY

Two girls and three men were injured this morning when their automobile crashed against the side of a Castle Shannon street car at Grant street and the Boulevard of the Allies.

TROLLEY RIDERS WIN REVOLT

Refusing to leave an Oakland-East Liberty-Wilkinsburg street car at Point Breeze when the conductor directed them to change to the following trolley, 16 passengers took a stand against the Pittsburgh Railways Company and demanded to be taken on to their homes.

They won the first round and the motorman was unable to turn back as he had been directed. He went on to Fifth avenue extension and Frankstown avenue and there turned back to the city. The passengers "stuck" through the return trip to Seneca street. There the trolley was turned eastward again and the people taken to their regular stops.

"MADE ME LIKE ANOTHER MAN"

"Everything Looks a Lot Better Than It Did a Few Weeks Ago."

"World's Tonic has made me like an entirely different man," declared Carl Relsch to the World's Tonic interviewer. "Everything looks a lot better to me than it did a few weeks ago," said Mr. Relsch, who is employed at New Kensington, Pa.

"For several months I had attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia. I was actually afraid to eat, because after each meal my stomach filled with gas so that it bloated, and this gas pressed on my heart. Sometimes it made me so short of breath that I felt I was smothering. Several times I lay gasping for breath and expecting each one to be my last. My bowels were all out of order and only the strongest kind of physics every day would give me any relief. My liver was sluggish and I was bilious most of the time. This gave me terrible headaches, and often I was so dizzy I felt I would fall over. At night I was so nervous I could not sleep, and lay there with my body jerking and my muscles twitching. In the morning I felt I could not get up, and with all my pains and aches I was irritable and morose. My weight dropped off greatly.

"So many of my buddies talked about World's Tonic, the new wonderful medicine that creates excitement everywhere it is used, so I thought I would give it a trial, even though some widely advertised medicines had failed to help me. I took almost two bottles before I would admit that it had done me any good. But after that improvement was rapid. Now I enjoy my meals and eat freely, without fear of any bad results. Gas does not worry me any more, and there is no feeling of smothering after my meals. My bowels are regular, and I am free of headaches and dizziness. My nerves are stronger. I sleep restfully and get up in the morning refreshed. I certainly would be most ungrateful to this great remedy if I did not urge other people to use World's Tonic." This good medicine can be obtained at Bow's, May's & Liggett's Mayflower, or any other first class drug store. (A-60)

under the strain of a COUGH

ON his toes—tense to go—pep—push! Stored up energy and endurance. And yet, a 15-minute cough spasm will bring him down weak—exhausted—unfit.

Medical science says that a spasmodic cough is more weakening than almost any form of bodily exertion. It wrecks the nerves, strains the ligaments and tears at the delicate membranes of the throat. In fact, it affects almost every vital organ. Few people realize the serious effects an ordinary cough may bring. When your body is weakened and your energy and resistance is reduced, that's the time when dangerous germs make most headway.

Pertussin checks coughs quickly because it gets at the immediate cause. It relieves the cough by (1) clearing the throat of dangerous mucus, (2) soothing the irritated throat tissues, and (3) quieting the cough in a natural way without the aid of harmful drugs.

Pertussin is absolutely safe because it is purely herbal preparation and is pleasant to take. It does not upset the stomach nor disturb digestion. Doctors in the past 25 years have prescribed it for coughs more often than any other advertised cough remedy. Keep a bottle handy at all times. Safe for children, ask your druggist or doctor about it.

REVOLTERS KILL 20 IN ALBANIA

ATHENS, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Twenty Albanian government officials were said in reports reaching Salonika today to have been killed at Dibra, in an insurrection which broke out there against the reign of King Zog.

An assembly of the chiefs of the various clans, including the Mardites, held at Episkopi, proclaimed the dethronement of King Zog despite the efforts of an Italian officer to pacify the chiefs by offers of money, and despite the arguments of the chief of gendarmerie.

Several Albanian political refugees have returned to the insurgent districts from Jugoslavia. Chiefs of the insurgent clans were reported to have killed King Zog's local partisans, notable among them Rusten Bairam Ghasi.

BOOK CRUSADER CITED IN COURT

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cited for contempt of court, the Rev. Philip Yarrow, who is carrying on a campaign against indecent literature, was given until February 4 to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for declaring "he had as much chance of getting a square deal in the municipal courts as a cake of ice has in the mouth of Mt. Pelee."

At the same time, the Rev. Mr. Yarrow was given his continuance, the state dismissed its case against John Youngman, bookstore clerk, against whom the militant minister was the state's chief witness. Youngman was charged with possessing indecent literature after the Rev. Mr. Yarrow, as head of the Illinois Vigilance Society, had caused his arrest.

CORPORATIONS AID CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Chicago's financial gloom was brightened somewhat today with an offer of relief made by several large corporations that have promised to buy tax anticipation warrants.

This rescue move developed just as the final refusal of the banks to buy any more tax warrants confronted the local governments with no money to meet expenses.

At the same time there was means of reducing the $50,000-a-day interest piling up on $290,000,000 in debts.

City, school and county employes are working on without pay in the hope that an emergency measure will provide them with the salaries due. The 40,000 employes have $11,276,157 coming to them in back wages and salaries.

RAIL UNION SUED IN LAND DEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A suit for $900,000, growing out of Florida real estate development in 1925, was filed against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and George T. Webb, trustee of the brotherhood, in Federal Court here by E. H. Price Company, Sarasota (Fla.) real estate operators.

The complaint alleges that the brotherhood purchased 50,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Sarasota for $18,000,000, agreeing to pay the Price company, as agents, 5 per cent of the purchase price. Huston, the suit sets forth, guaranteed the payment of the 5 per cent and made the obligation his own.

Webb, it is alleged, received $547,000 from the brotherhood to pay the Price company, but the amount was never paid.

HUDSON'S Great 8

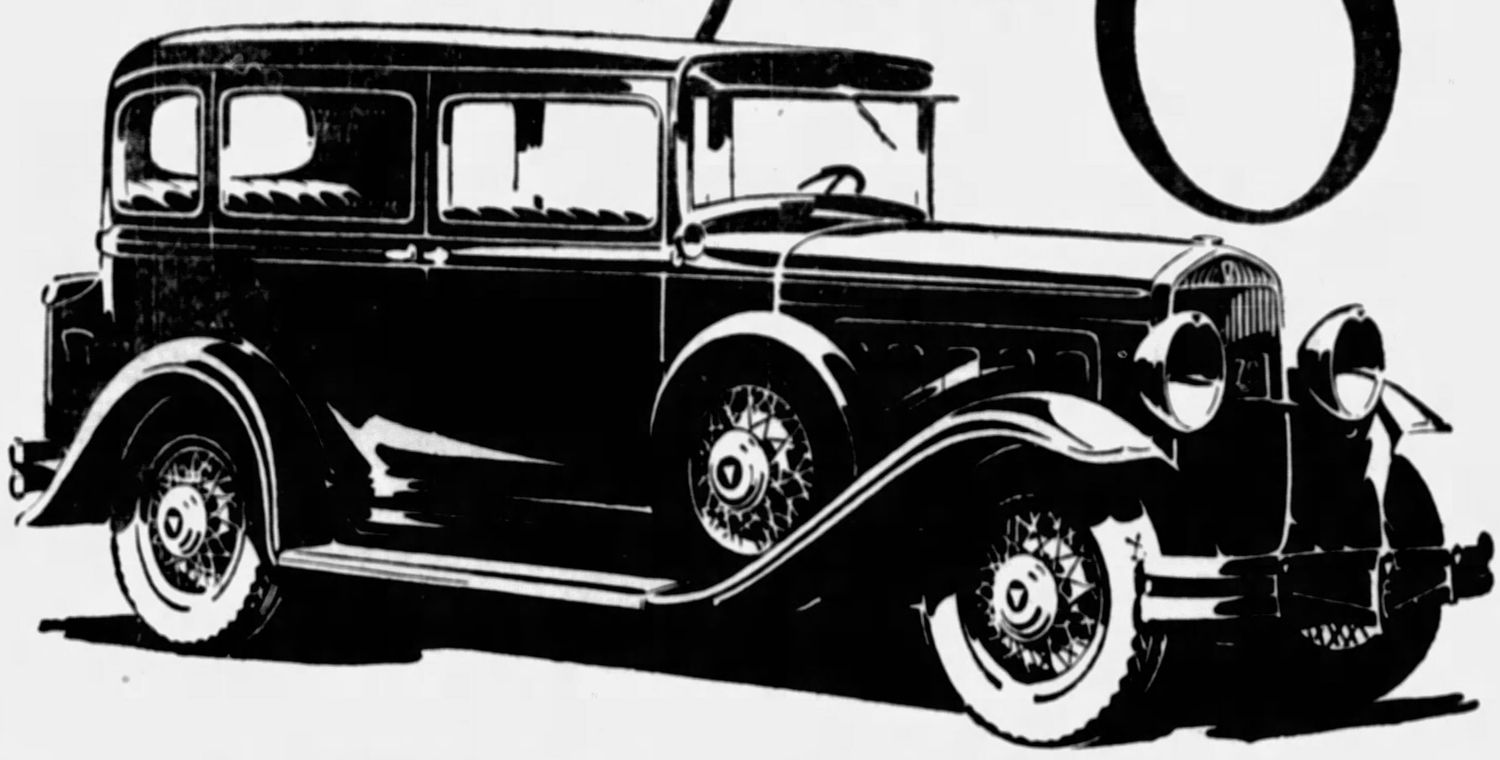
IN TEN BODY TYPES AND, AT NO EXTRA COST, A WIDE VARIETY OF COLORS TO SUIT YOUR OWN GOOD TASTE.



It Supersedes all HUDSON Achievements of the past . . .
It sells in Hudson's well-known price range

This is a new type. This is Hudson's Great 8. So tremendous its advancements that Hudson's famous achievements of the past are unhesitatingly set aside to produce it.

The motoring world thoroughly understands that no ordinary car or merely conventional eight would be entrusted to take up the onward stride of Hudson leadership. How searching, then, the tests, and supreme the proofs that we have required of it.

It is a complete new car throughout. New ideas, new beauties, new comforts, with Hudson's same price advantage. Important in principle is the relation of horse-power to car weight. It accounts for unusual alertness in get-away and in speed. It contributes much to operation economy.

Here, then, is performance more flexible and smooth in all ranges than any in Hudson's famous past. Here is quicker get-away and greater hill climbing ability. Here is a motor so smooth and powerful that it imparts a new riding sensation—active, free, effortless.

Only a car possessing these qualities in pre-eminent degree could earn the right to carry on Hudson leadership. It sells in Hudson's well-known price range. It must continue Hudson's reputation for producing the world's greatest value. And it questions the wisdom of ever paying more for any car.

DAILY TRUE STORY

NEMESIS:

Love Him for Himself, Fay King's Advice to Girl Perplexed

THERE seemed, to Bob Frazier, no reason why he should remain single when pretty Sally Duram was willing to become Mrs. Frazier.

Bob was working for the Universal Stronghold Company at a salary sufficient for their needs and a few modest luxuries. And so Sally resigned from her high chair behind the cashier's grill in the Phoenix Cafe.

Bob and Sally set up their lares and penates in a little three-room apartment and started out bravely and happily.

A small bookcase was part of their furnishings. This held the dozen or so love stories Sally had picked up and the score or more volumes of illustrations that Bob had found interesting, for Bob was a mechanic specializing in locks.

Coming home one Saturday noon Bob saw in a bookshop window a small marble bust. He liked the look of it, the poise of the head, the half-sardonic twisted smile. It would look good on top of the bookcase at home which needed some sort of an ornament.

How much, he asked the bearded Greek in the shop.

The price seemed reasonable.

"Just what is it?" Bob asked.

"Nemesis," he was told.

"U-huh," said Bob and then with a frank smile: "Bet that doesn't mean a thing to me, mister."

The proprietor smiled at Bob's honesty.

"Nemesis," he explained, "is from mythology, a Greek goddess. She is the goddess of vengeance of retributive justice."

"I've got you, Bob says, she was the dame who always got square with anyone who double-crossed her or her bunch, is that it?"

"Something like that, yes, my friend. Nemesis always gets square."

So Bob took home the little marble head of Nemesis and put it on the bookcase.

Her Misfortune

"It looks swell," Bob Sally agreed, "but gee, she's got a kind of hard-boiled face."

Bob proudly explained all about Nemesis, neglecting to give the book-shop man credit for his information.

"You got a swell education, honey," Sally told him.

"I got a swell wife, too," he assured her.

They had been married a year then.

The Universal Stronghold Company manufactured strong boxes of all sizes from a foot square up to mammoth safes and vaults. Bob assembled the intricate locks. With delicate instruments he made sure that bolts and tumblers and whatever mysterious gadgets go into such locks were accurate down to a ten-thousandth of an inch.

Not that there was anything unusual in this. There are plenty of mechanics like that, unfortunately for Bob for otherwise he would have been drawing down twice or three times the salary he was getting.

In the second year of Bob's marriage they expected the stork and were duly proud and happy over the prospect.

Then a hit-and-run driver smashed into poor Sally, and she was in the hospital several months. For weeks it didn't seem as though she would live, and of course there would be no baby.

Poor Bob went through the Gethsemane that only a young husband sincerely in love with his wife can know.

When Sally was finally restored to her home all of Bob's savings had gone for hospital bills, but he didn't mind that. He only wanted to see Sally's pale cheeks grow into their old pinkness and to see the light of fun and laughter in her saddened eyes.

Weeks passed into months but the pinkness did not come back. A little cough developed. Then the brightness that came to Sally's eyes wasn't one of health, and the faint color in her cheeks betokened but one thing to the doctor when Bob took Sally to him.

The doctor told Bob when he was alone.

"Jees!" Bob cried.

The hurt in his eyes gave a tug to the heart of the hard-boiled doctor.

"Jees, haven't I had enough tough luck, hasn't th' poor kid been through enough without getting T B?"

"It was the result of the accident," the doctor explained "and her condition at the time."

"I'd like to get my mitts on that so-and-so driver who bumped into her," Bob muttered, and then: "Isn't there some chance, Doc?"

"Baranar, perhaps, but I should say Arizona, out in the sun and the high dry air, she would be pretty sure to pull through."

"I'll do what I can, Doc," he promised.

"You must do something, she won't improve living here—Arizona is the place."

Bob nodded.

If he hadn't spent his savings for hospital bills—but then, if there had been no accident there would have been no necessity for Arizona.

Tells Story to Boss

Bob did some tall figuring. He told his story to the boss.

"Tough," said the boss.

"You said it and I know it. What's the chances for more money?" Bob asked.

"You got a little raise three months ago; you are getting a shade more than the other boys now, Bob—that's all the company will stand for," he was told.

Bob frowned. He knew that was true.

Bob Admits Truth

"Well, he said you got to be careful."

He said I wouldn't get well some crazy honey don't try to fool me."

But he didn't say anything of the sort, Bob protested.

He said I got it," Sally tapped her chest, "now didn't he? Don't think I'm so dumb I haven't guessed what ails me."

"Well, he said you'd got a touch of it, but I'm going to send you to Arizona, you'll get all well in no time, cut there, Sally, so don't you worry none."

"Send me? You are going to send me?"

"Sure, I can manage that all right."

"No sending honey—if you can't go with me I won't leave you."

"But listen, there isn't any work out there for me—they don't make safes and things out there. I'll stay here and earn the dough and you'll loaf around in the sunshine out there, high, dry air—you'll be all O K in no time."

Sally shook her head.

That night Bob couldn't sleep. He discovered that Sally was trying to stifle her sobs.

He told her worry was bad for her and that she would get well in Arizona.

"I won't get well anywhere—I'll die in no time without you and I'm not going to die away off there in the sand and cactus and things all alone—I'm going to be with you to the finish," Sally declared.

There was no argument—Bob knew Sally—he knew that when she decided on a thing she meant it.

Bob decided that he had been mistaken that time he had thought it was a wonderful world. It was a rotten world—a punk world—one helluva world.

That time he was sent over to the Gregg Company to open a safe that had been tampered with and wouldn't open; they gave him a hundred dollars as a personal present aside from paying the Stronghold Company's bill. If it had been five thousand he could have taken Sally to Arizona and get along until she got well.

Meets Criminal

The piece in the paper about him and how cleverly he opened the safe didn't give him an kick. Nothing on earth could give him a kick except getting Sally to Arizona.

Right after this a chap named Jim Ryan made Bob's acquaintance.

"You got troubles, kid," said Ryan.

Bob admitted it and told about them.

"All right, I know how you can get out there with the wife," said Ryan.

"Sure, go rob a bank," answered Bob with a grimace.

"You said it."

"Aw, heck," muttered Bob.

"I mean it—you are the fair-haired lad who can make them big safe locks say 'uncle' to you and I'm the smart guy who can get you in to 'em and get you out with th' coin."

Bob studied Jim Ryan keenly for a moment.

"You won't get caught. Our crowd is too clever. You don't have to do no shoodin', you don't do nothing except open up and then take a third of th' maguma."

"Too big a chance if I got caught, Sally."

"Wait, listen. If you don't get money you can't take her out to that place she'd die sure here."

Bob groaned.

"There ain't no chance of you gettin' caught. One good haul and there you are. Plenty of coin, ten grand, probably."

"Gosh, ten thousand bucks?"

Jim Ryan knew, right then, that he had him.

Bob pictured a little cottage out in Arizona with a garden, and Sally getting stronger and healthier every day!

"It's a go," Bob finally agreed.

They shook hands on it. Bob was to keep right on working. When Ryan found the right place and had everything set, Bob would go along and open up the safe—it would be easy.

Bob took home the half-pint of brandy, which wasn't half bad. Ryan had paid $4 for the half-pint. Sally had the drink, with water and sugar, as the doctor ordered. She marveled at the change in Bob, he was almost cheerful. She believed that he had some sort of an idea she would get better. She believed she would not.

She got much worse and remained in bed most of the time. Bob told the doctor that within a few weeks he would have some money coming to him and then he'd take his wife to Arizona. Meanwhile what could the doctor do for her, she was suffering a lot after her coughing spells.

The doctor fixed up an opiate in a pint of such rye as only a physician in good standing can secure.

"Half a whisky glass at a time—no more, mind you," he ordered Bob, "and it will make her sleep and forget the pain."

Two weeks passed before Bob heard from Ryan. Ryan met him as he was going into his apartment.

"Tonight," said Ryan, giving instructions.

Bob was grateful that Sally slept well after her fit of coughing. It was the tiny drink of doped liquor that made her do that.

Bob sat in a lunch wagon, pretending to eat, until Ryan came in. Bob paid and went out. Ryan bought cigarets and joined him. They walked around back of a building and entered. The watchman was tied, gagged and blindfolded. It took Bob exactly 40 minutes to open the safe.

"Give me my share now," whispered Bob.

"Beat it before you're caught. I'll bring it," said Ryan.

"Give me now," demanded Bob. They counted the cash and Bob took fifteen thousand. He left the place and was home in half an hour.

He sat there, planning. They'd leave the next night. Everything was all right, after all!

Then Jim Ryan came. Bob let him in.

"You ain't going until we pull a couple of more jobs we need you," he said.

Bob laughed at him. Ryan pulled a gun on him and took the fifteen packets of bills Bob had covered with the tablecloth.

Sally in the other room began to cough. Fearing that she would be terribly frightened if she found out what was going on, Bob poured another tiny drink of the liquor containing the opiate, and took it in to her.

When he came back he had a plan. He was going to agree to everything Ryan said and then smash him senseless with that marble head of Nemesis, that stood on the bookcase.

But Ryan was standing in the middle of the floor, drinking that doctored whisky! Bob started to call out—and caught himself in time.

"Good stuff," needed it—here's a century and when you've opened up a coupla more places you get all your dough and can beat it—glad you was so sensible," said Ryan as he tossed the emptied pint flask on the divan and handed the hundred dollar bill to Bob.

"Burr," agreed Bob, toying with the marble head of Nemesis.

"Who's that, Jane represent, Kid?" Ryan asked.

"Er—"

Ryan took a step and fell on the divan.

"Nemesis, you fool," muttered Bob. He got back his money and the money Ryan had for his own, then he dragged Ryan out, down the stairs, out the back court, through to the next street and left him propped in a sitting position down an areaway.

The evening papers that Bob took along when he and Sally started for Arizona the next night contained an item about a notorious crook named Ryan who had died from what was presumably wood alcohol.

Sally always thought it queer that Bob took along the marble head of Nemesis.

This was four years ago. They are living on a poultry ranch in California now.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Expert Care Needed in Glaucoma

THERE is no wonder that thoughtful persons observe the remarkable perfection of Nature's methods. The human body, in its every part, is an instrument capable of adjusting itself to every condition it is likely to meet. Of all its parts the eye must take first place in its remarkable adaptability to its purposes.

DR. COPELAND

It ought be expected that an organ so complicated will at times meet with trouble. One of the disabilities affecting the eye is known as "glaucoma."

The name given this disease is derived from a Latin word meaning greenish-blue or gray. It is appropriately applied to the disease glaucoma, because this ailment produces a peculiar greenness of the pupil of the eye. This is quite characteristic of glaucoma.

The victim of this complaint is likely to suffer great pain. The eyeball becomes very hard. The tension is sometimes so great it actually feels like a stone.

If you will close your eyelids and place the ends of your index fingers upon the closed lids, you will get an idea of the normal tension of the eyeball. Pressing first with one finger and then the other, you will observe the elasticity of the eye, its softness. In glaucoma the feeling is entirely different. The tissues do not give at all under pressure of the finger tips.

The symptoms are due to an interference in the drainage of the eye. The fluid which accumulates in the front part of the eye is constantly renewed. The excess is carried away through a canal and ultimately gets into the general circulation. If this drainage system is interfered with the fluid accumulates in the eyeball and, eventually, of course, must fill it almost to the bursting point.

As you will see, the symptoms of glaucoma are just what might be expected. The accumulated fluid produces hardness of the eyeball. Pressure upon the sensitive nerves causes great pain. The eye becomes inflamed, the vision grows dim and, unless relief is afforded, blindness will result.

Various operations are recommended. In most cases they are successful. There are remedies which can be dropped into the eye to reduce the tension and relieve the pain. Every case of glaucoma is one requiring the expert attention of a specialist in eye disease.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, January 24

A TRAIN of most propitious planetary auguries is noted among this day's sidereal operations, forecasting a very lively and benign state of affairs. There is prospect of an important change, with enlarged and far-flung opportunities for stable progress and prosperity. There may be new employment as well as environment, all of excellent promise, but in dealing with "close corporations," "combines" or crafty individuals an alertness against subtle fraud or treachery is enjoined. Likewise shun personal extravagance and wild speculation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of large opportunity with important change and increased advantages of many natures. There may be changed employment and environment, both beneficial. But beware hidden avenues of fraud or duplicity in dealing with combines, secret organizations, or with irresponsible or crafty individuals. Also beware extravagance with funds.

A child born on this day may be highly gifted with talents and initiative, which should win for it substantial place in life, with prosperity and happiness.

The Marry-Go-Round

Lovers—and Others

A VERY formal party these days is one where nobody kisses anybody else's wife.

The trouble with marriage is that so often everything else about it "expires," except the legal contract.

Marriage is the point at which the average girl stops reading the French millinery advertisements and begins looking for the "Basement Bargain Sales" of frying pans and egg-beaters.

"Tiger love" can still be found—in the moving pictures. But, in real life, most men make love, nowadays, with all the alacrity of a tiger mounting a barrel at the crack of a whip.

In Life's Shop Window: everything comes in "sets," like department store furniture: youth and longing; money and boredom; love and poverty; success and struggle; art and the wrong mate; and Fate never breaks the set!

One way of making men love you is to let them do you a lot of favors; one way of making them forget you is to do THEM a lot of favors.

Men want to pet half the time because they haven't the brains to think of anything else to do, and the other half because the girl hasn't the brains to understand anything else.

When a married pair celebrate their wedding anniversary, these days, it is not so much to show what they have achieved as to show what they have SURVIVED.

Modern marriage is often a lop-sided affair—with all the love sagging on one side, and all the luck on the other.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Royal Romancers Are Rapidly Approaching Open Break

PRINCE GEORGES started violently as Mary called to Noel and Princess Olina, and he flung out his hand in quick protest.

"I beg of you," he said in a low voice, but Mary paid no apparent attention to him.

"I mean it," she said as the princess and her betrothed looked up from their cribbage game. "I've got to prove something to Georges, and I need both of you to help me."

She turned back to her royal suitor who was looking miserably unregal at this particular moment, and made a saucy grimace at him.

"You might as well get used to my little ways, Georgie," she said. "I'm an abrupt person, and I haven't a bit of reverence for anybody or anything in my whole system. Least of all for royal blood. So if you and Olina can't stand for me, you'd better let me know, pronto. Otherwise you'll have a long time to put up with me, for I don't believe in divorce."

It was a direct challenge. It was also his opportunity. I wondered if he realized it, or if he were too chivalrous to take advantage of it. I clung to the latter hypothesis when I heard his low, deep voice vibrant with sadness and chagrin:

"There is nothing for me to say except that you have promised to be my wife," he said with a dignity that made me suddenly ashamed of the tacit support I was giving Mary's game. "I wish that you could realize something of the position it entails. If you cannot, it is my misfortune."

He bowed formally to her, stepped back a pace and folded his arms. It was a stilted gesture, of course, but most effective, and I am sure it would have awed any girl less daring and wrought up than Mary. But in her hectic mood, she had, as she had boasted, no respect for anything.

"Pipe the pretty pose!" she said to Noel and Olina, who had just crossed the room to them. "Regular stag at bay effect, don't you think? And that's just what it is. I've driven the poor boy to desperation, and he's just debating which sack he'll sew me up in and tow out to the bay. Pity you aren't back near the dear old Bosphorus, Georgie!"

She was being outrageous. The conviction was written in Prince George's strained face, in the openly contemptuous look which Princess Olina shot at her, and even in Noel's wondering eyes. She was aware of it herself, better than any of them, but I understand he, well enough to know that their disapproval would only whet her determination to go on with whatever scheme she had in mind.

"Georgie and I," she hurried on, "are just having a little pre-marital argument about our future. It's along the same lines as yesterday, Olina dear, so there's no need of your getting all upset again about it—I'll consider you've repeated it all today. But Georgie, while refusing to give up his prospective job as king, and come over to my country—I'm sure Mr. Veritzen or the talkies would give him anything he wanted—imagine a real king on the stage—yet asks me to give up my job and stay over in Trees all the time."

"Of course. He is perfectly right," Olina said vehemently.

"Will you tell me, Olina," Mary asked curiously, "just what your interest is in the price of onions today?"

The Princess Olina looked at Noel in helpless and real—ignorance of her meaning. The young violinist snatched the cue skilfully, and I saw that he was still letter-perfect in his role.

"She means," he said, "what I also am observing, that for a betrothed girl you are displaying an undue interest in the affairs of someone else."

It was a perfect thing of its kind. Anything more offensively stilted and arrogant in its apparent jealously could not be imagined. It harked back at least seventy-five years. And yet it did not name Georges directly, nor did Noel look at him, so that the young prince could take no direct notice of it.

The Princess Olina threw up her head and gave Noel a look which should have reduced him to dust. But it glanced off Noel as a rapier might slip on a steel surface, and he turned to Mary with as formal a bow as Prince Georges himself could have managed.

"I fail to see," he said with courtesy petrified, "how I can possibly be of any use to you in a controversy. You must see that I cannot interfere—"

"Climb down that steed, Noel," Mary advised flippantly, "or he'll pitch you over his head. And wait till you're asked to interfere before you begin to beef about it. All I want is for you to give me a 'good char-ac-ter to me young man here.' Hasn't your father said repeatedly that I am to be the greatest dramatic star he has ever trained?"

LOVEJOY

:: By BEATRICE BURTON

skin as white as powdered sugar.

I wonder if Steve likes her, Lovejoy wondered, sitting at the poker table a little later, with a pile of chips before her and her third glass of rum-and-water beside her.

Only a year ago Steve had not been in love with anybody except herself. He had been in love with her even after she had married Tom . . . . She had seen that in his face the day he had taken her to lunch with Norrie Shane.

She looked across the table at him now. He was studying his cards and his face was a mask, a poker face. It told nothing. Nothing at all.

By midnight the air in the room was so thick with smoke that it could have been cut with a knife.

One of the straw-covered jugs of Bacardi rum had been emptied, and Al Alderson had brought another one in from the kitchen.

The roses in the room were wilting in the heat, and the flushed faces of the women around the card table made Lovejoy think of wilting roses, too.

She had five of the Bacardi highballs, and she felt anything but fresh herself.

She was dizzy, and every now and then the room would seem to float far away from her and then come slowly back.

On the other side of the table the girl named Mary Mont kept putting her head down on Tom's shoulder every now and then to laugh hysterically at the cards she held.

Lovejoy didn't like that. She didn't like that at all!

Tom shouldn't let her do it, she thought in a confused vague sort of way. If he didn't like it, he wouldn't let her do it!

She made up her mind not to speak to him when they got home. She wouldn't speak to him tomorrow, either. She'd show him that he couldn't let strange women slop all over him like that, and get away with it!

"I'll fix him!" she told herself furiously. "I'll show him!"

When the game broke up at 2 o'clock she went straight to Steve Oglebay.

"It's so hot and close in here, Steve," she said to him, laying her hand on his arm. "Take me out into that nice cool hall for a minute. I'm dizzy."

The hall was dim and quiet. There was a big bunch of pink roses on a table against the wall and they smelled like June in the country.

Someone had turned on the radio in the living-room, and everybody was dancing. Through the long curtains in the doorway, Lovejoy had a flying glimpse of Tom dancing with Mary Mont. Her head was on his shoulder.

"Steve," Lovejoy half-whispered, "sometimes I think I hate Tom Nicholson. Steve, you haven't kissed me for a long time, have you?"

She lifted her face to his in the dimness of the hall.

I'm getting even with Tom, she thought. I'm getting even!

'Shopping' for Husband

By WINFRED BLACK

SHE brought the brand new husband over to see me the other evening. Such a nice, shiny, husband, like a new doll fresh from the top shop.

Shiny hair and shiny eyes and shiny teeth, and shiny shoes, and shiny collar; dear me he did look so new.

And he acted new too.

He waited on his brand-new wife just as if she wasn't a wife at all, but a sweetheart.

He heard every word she said, whether she was talking to him or not and his big bright eyes talked to her all the time.

Her eyes talked to his too, and my word, what sweet mothering things her eyes did say.

But the queerest thing of it all was, the Brand-New Husband looks enough like the shop-worn Old Husband to be his twin brother.

And he is like him too!

He sings.

So did the Old Husband.

He plays the mandolin.

So did the Old Husband.

He plays poker too, and plays it rather well.

So did the Old Husband.

And when the trim little maid came in to serve the tea the Brand-New Husband saw her trim little ankles and approved of them, and the maid saw that he saw, and he saw that she saw, that he saw—just exactly the same little play that I have seen played by the Old Husband a hundred times.

My poor friend—she thinks she has a Brand-New Sweetheart who's going to last forever, and all she has is the same Old Husband with a new name.

Why he even drives the same make of car as the Old Husband.

Haven't you seen them do it before?

These women who get tired of their husbands and go out shopping for a new one, how queer it is that so often they choose one exactly like the one they're throwing away!

Now if my poor friend had chosen a man who's fond of business and fond of home, and fond of children, and fond of dogs, and is a good deal like a good faithful old dog himself—it would be easy to understand.

But as it is—

I wonder how long it will be before my poor little friend goes shopping again, and if she will choose the same model next time.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Formality of Millinery

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a high school banquet given recently for our football boys it was generally conceded that the banquet was to be formal. Some of the girls wore hats and sport dresses; others wore hats and dinner frocks; others wore evening frocks and nothing on their heads. Later a discussion arose between A and B. A insisted that it was perfectly correct to wear a hat if one choose either to a formal luncheon or formal dinner. B agreed with the first point, but not with the latter. Please solve their problem and help if you can, for they are depending on you. T. G.

SINCE it was decided that the banquet was to be formal the girls should have dressed formally for it. That is, they should have worn evening dresses and no hats. This is the attire that is appropriate to a formal dinner—and usually a banquet is a formal dinner. And, of course, the boys, too, should have dressed formally. At least the girls should have worn dinner dresses and without hats. For them to wear sport dresses seems to me not careful of the compliment that they should pay to the formal affair.

No, it is not correct to wear hats to a formal dinner—never. To a formal luncheon one wears a hat and wears the hat, moreover, during the luncheon. Now, indeed, often one sees the hostess of a formal luncheon wearing her hat also.

A Courteous Acceptance

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a gentleman invites a lady to dance with him, and she desires to accept, what should be the correct reply?

CURIOUS.

"THANK you, I should love to dance," or simply "I would love to."

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

MISSING DAYS, FOUND FROZEN

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—Charles Henry McKnight, 63, Vestaburg, who disappeared from the home of a son, Charles F. McKnight, at Fairmont, W. Va., early Sunday morning was found frozen to death along the Monongahela River at Colfax, eight miles north of Fairmont. A coroner said the aged man had probably collapsed in the snow after walking from Fairmont, apparently in an attempt to reach his home at Vestaburg.

McKnight was a native of Fayette City. The body was brought here yesterday for burial. Funeral services will be tomorrow afternoon from the home of a half brother, Alex Federer, at Fayette City. Three sons, Charles F., of Fairmont, and William and Albert, of Vestaburg, survive with four half brothers, Arthur, Federer, of Philadelphia; Frank Federer, and Joseph Federer, of Roscoe, and Alex Federer, of Fayette City.

SHOW GIRL SUES MILLIONAIRE

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—An order for summons against Conkey P. Whitehead, millionaire sportsman of Atlanta and New York, in a $250,000 suit of Frances Porter, show girl, was issued here.

Whitehead's yacht, the Malvern, arrived in Lake Worth yesterday but process servers were unable to locate the owner.

The suit was filed in Miami by attorneys for Miss Porter, but its nature was not made public.

Whitehead's bride of a few weeks, the former Miss Marion Hughes, of New York, did not come here from Miami on the yacht. It was understood the millionaire sportsman made the trip to meet her father.

Difficulties between Whitehead and Miss Porter began about a year ago while they were aboard the yacht in Havana.

OMAHA MOURNS AGED MAYOR

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 23.—(INS)—All Omaha mourned the death of Mayor James C. Dahlman in Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he was stricken Monday.

Dahlman ruled Omaha as mayor for 21 years, longer than a mayor has served any city in the United States. Although 75 years old, he announced he would again be a candidate for the office.

Dahlman died as he had lived, a poor man. Although he was in politics for 40 years he was always regarded as a poor man and carried a heavy mortgage on his home. When friends presented him with an automobile several years ago, he was forced to sell it to meet a note on his home. During his lengthy administration there had been no hint of graft.

He was called the "Cowboy Mayor" because years ago he rode the ranges and before seeking office was a performer at roping contests.

Dahlman is survived by a widow, [illegible] Dorothy, who arrived [illegible] with his personal [illegible] half hour after he had died. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Beautifully designed bodies on the famous precision-built Lincoln chassis

AT THE

AUTOMOBILE SHOW

THE Automobile Show presents a pleasantly environed opportunity to view the latest body designs of the modern coachmakers for the precision-built Lincoln chassis. These designs, after the most careful consideration, have been added to the regular group of Lincoln bodies.

This exhibit is of particular interest, for the cars on display embody three carefully tested chassis developments that materially increase Lincoln ease of operation and riding quality. These developments are in line with the Lincoln policy of having no yearly models; but of steadily developing the car in all its parts, and adding these developments whenever they are perfected.

In COFFEE an old-fashioned gentleman found ROMANCE

His friends left the sunny Southland to adventure in distant gold fields. But this young Southerner of the Old School chose to remain where the grass is blue, and to seek his fortune in a quest for coffee.

The exquisitely flavored blend which finally he discovered, has become the favorite coffee in millions and millions of homes. Enclosed in a friendly blue tin, it stands upon your grocer's shelf. It is worth trying—Maxwell House Coffee—and worth trying today. Its appetite-coaxing aroma, its rich and mellow flavor, its fragrant goodness will send you from the table not only conscious of having dined well, but with memories of a coffee which three Presidents thought deserving of their praise.

Indeed, if you are not completely satisfied, your grocer will unhesitatingly return your money.

Old Grid Duel Renewed. • Pro Basketball Rules.

PITT-MOUNTAINEER FIGHTS RECALLED

ONE interesting feature resulting from the action of Dr. Clarence W. Spears in giving up his football post at the University of Minnesota to become head gridiron coach at the University of Oregon, for the next five years at least, will be resumption of the old duel of wits each season between Spears and Pop Warner. Under the new conditions, the two famous pigskin mentors will be rivals again, this time for honors in the Far West, with Spears at Oregon and Warner at Stanford, recalling to football followers in this region the day when the pair annually matched coaching skill hereabouts.

Clarence Spears

When Pop was in charge of gridiron affairs at the University of Pittsburgh, and Tubby was directing things at West Virginia University, the competition between them was a football high spot around these parts, and the renewal of the fight in a distant part of the country next season will be followed with almost as much interest by the fans of this territory as by those in the home districts of the Oregon and Stanford teams.

IT was Spears who lifted West Virginia to the position of prominence it now enjoys in football as after his coming the Mountaineers began to advance in the game with longer strides than ever before. The period of the greatest improvement in their history dates back to the time when Spears supplanted McIntire and Rogers on the coaching job for the season of 1921.

The toughest contract confronting Tubbs was that of coping successfully with Warner and putting a stop to Pitt's long uninterrupted run of supremacy over the Morgantown lads. West Virginia had not defeated the Panthers in 18 years. It took Spears a year to get things working smoothing, and in 1921 Pitt won, as usual, the score being 21 to 13. West Virginia won five games, lost four and tied one that fall. But in 1922 the tables were turned at last and by a score of 9 to 6 the Mountaineers defeated the Panthers for the first time in 19 seasons.

SPEARS did not stop at conquering Pitt that fall, but gave West Virginia the first undefeated season in its history. Through the regular schedule the Mountaineers beat West Virginia Wesleyan, Marietta, Pitt, Washington and Lee, Rutgers, Cincinnati, Indiana, Virginia, Ohio University and Washington and Jefferson.

To top it off they made their first trip to the Pacific Coast and in a post-season game at San Diego, Cal., they trimmed Gonzaga, 21 to 13. That gave them a record of 11 straight victories for the season, and they rolled up a total of 267 points against only 34 for their opponents.

Pop Warner

SPEARS came right back the following season and hung another on Warner's chin. Pitt being defeated again, 13 to 7. It was not until the final event of that nine-game campaign that the Mountaineers were beaten, though earlier Penn State held them to a tie, so that in 18 consecutive contests in two seasons they were undefeated, winning 17 and tying one. In 1924, when Jock Sutherland replaced Warner here, Pitt gained the upper hand again and triumphed over the Morgantown gridders, 14 to 7.

IN his four years of competition with Pitt, therefore, Spears won twice and lost twice, but for three years against Warner he holds an edge of two decisions out of three, leaving him one to the good for the resumption of battling next fall. The renewed duel promises to be one of the features of coast football.

Spears made a splendid record during his four years at West Virginia. Of a total of 29 games played in that period his teams won 21 against only six defeats and two ties. Tubby's showing was particularly impressive during his last three seasons in Morgantown, when the Mountaineers lost only two games and were tied but once against 26 victories.

ARTHUR DEVLIN, who played third base for the Giants when the recently retired Doe Crandall was pitching for that club in 1903 and later, says the veteran hurler owed his stay of 24 years in the majors and minors to clean living. "He never drinks, smokes or chews. His good habits had something to do with his lasting so long.

"Twenty-three years is a long time to be pitching. Crandall outlasted all of us. It's been a long while since I could throw a ball from third base to first with anything on it, but from what they tell me Otie fooled plenty of hitters as recently as last summer."

J. J. Freund, Jr.

JOHN J. FREUND, JR., local basketball veteran, is strong for the floor game as played in the American League. "Little wonder why the American League style of play has proved so popular," he says, "for it is the nearest thing to the race game that any set of minds ever devised. It is so close in many ways, yet so different, that the difference is ... one or a minute and ... Foul shooting is reduced to a ... A player ... fouled has possession of the ball. By JULIUS LEVIN

Apparently displeased by the removal of L. D. Schmidt as their manager, three members of the Fintex team last night decided to cast their lot with th J. J. Veronas, formerly the Stanos and Franchinas, for the second half of the Allegheny County League race, which gets under way next Monday night. The three stars who quit the ranks of the Fintex Club to play for the Veronas are Lou Reilly, center; Johnny Serbin, forward, and Bill Miller, guard.

As a result of the signing of these three ... performers the Veronas, who started out in the County League as the Franchinas, later changing their name to the Stanos, now loom as one of the strongest contenders for the second-half championship of the league. The club sponsored by the alderman of the Third Ward ... by all of its home games on the Duquesne University floor on Wednesday nights.

WRECKS FINTEX TEAM

The withdrawal of the three stars virtually wrecks the Fintex team for the second half of the race, and Dr. Milton (Mickey) Gross, who was appointed coach following last Monday's game with the fast Renaissance Club of New York, will have to look around for some additional players to fill the vacancies in his lineup if he hopes to make a bid for the second-half championship. With Miller, Reilly and Serbin off the team, Fintex still has Harvey White, Eddie Losman, Wy Paris, Nate Lippe and Sammy Klateman.

Arrangements for the addition of Serbin, Miller and Reilly to the roster of the Veronas were completed late yesterday by Tony Fiano and Augie Manfredo, representing the Third Ward alderman.

The decision of the three players to quit the Fintex team came as a bombshell to close followers of the Allegheny County League. The team, despite the fact that it cracked wide open after getting off to a good start during the first-half of the race, drew exceptionally well at its home games and was figured to split a large purse at the end of the season. The Fintex team during the first half of the race drew the largest crowds of any team playing league basketball hereabouts.

VERONA IS SPONSOR

John J. Verona, sponsor of the team that will bear his name in the County League, has been identified with sports in an unofficial capacity for several years and with the three Fintex stars to form the nucleus of his team the local quintet should make a determined bid for the title.

The disruption of the Fintex team follows the removal of L. D. Schmidt as manager and Nate Lippe as coach. Both were replaced last Monday when the sponsors of the club thought a

Jock Sutherland To Speak At Weston Fete

WESTON, W. Va., Jan. 23.—One of the greatest athletic events in the history of the Monon Valley will take place here February 6, when the Weston High School football banquet will be held in the Masonic Temple.

The chief speaker will be Jock Sutherland, head coach at the University of Pittsburgh. The interest is made greater for West Virginians due to the fact that on the Pitt team last season was a West Virginia boy, Ray Montgomery, Wheeling, who was selected on the all-America team by more than 300 coaches, players, sport fans and sports writers from all sections of the state.

MEN IN BARNS BURNED AT 'ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Fifteen race horses were burned to death and three men were seriously injured in an early morning fire that destroyed two barns at the Fair Ground race track here.

The fire, starting from a defective oil heater in the men's quarters, was caught up by a high wind and quickly enveloped the long frame barn housing about 30 horses.

Wilfred May, apprentice jockey; J. W. Smith and Phil Chatham, stable men, were trapped in the barn and outsiders saved them by bursting in a door. The men were blinded by the smoke and were staggering about the flaming building helpless. They were sent to the hospital.

Thirteen horses were burned to death in their stalls in one barn. All of the animals were taken out of another before it caught, but two horses ran back into the flames and died.

Rescuers were handicapped in their work by a large, vicious watch dog that stood guard before the second barn. He bit one man on the leg and chased others off. The dog held everybody out of the barn until it was stabbed with a pitchfork.

The following is a list of the horses burned to death:

In the Reether stables: Cannon Club and Bourbon.

Gene Lutz stable: Petruchio and Leisure Hour.

Leisure Hour and Miss Paradise.

Joe Leiter and Kenneth Gilpin stable: Clemence, Patsy Jane and Princess Vosky.

J. H. Clark stable: Corvopsis, Blumponion and Rogue's Gold.

Major R. Nicholls stable: Pick Quick and Fly Jack.

A. Pelletero stable, of New Orleans: Counsellor Connelly and Mai Foo.

Smith, the stableman, said that when he struck a match to light the kerosene heater in the Reether stable, there was a great flare and soon the entire stable was ablaze.

May, asleep nearby, was aroused and ran to the heater in an effort to extinguish the flames. Both became wrapped in fire and ran out into the sub-freezing temperature and wallowed in the grass to extinguish their clothing.

The following turfmen had quarters in the burned building:

Leiter and Gelpin stable, 22 horses.

John Ferris stable, two horses.

A. Pelleyero, of New Orleans, three horses.

F. Rutter, one horse.

H. B. Reether, three horses.

Eugene Lutz, of New Orleans, known as the "mystery man of the turf," three horses.

THREE W. PA. MITT SHOWS TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Three professional boxing shows are scheduled in Western Pennsylvania tonight and others involving Pittsburgh district talent at East Liverpool, O., and Clarksburg, W. Va.

A double windup show leads off the bill at McKeesport, with Eddie Brannon, Negro lightweight of the Hill, meeting Tiny Johnson, of Syracuse, subbing for Johnny Sacco, of Buffalo, in the top number, and California Joe Gans, of McKeesport, opposing Joe Coffman, of Buffalo, in the other 10-rounder. Sacco injured an eye in training and Promoter Jim McGirr engaged Johnson, who has boxed Sacco, to take his place.

In one of the two six-round preliminaries, Frank Novak, of the North Side, Western Pennsylvania amateur heavyweight champion, with a record of 18 knockout victories in 23 bouts, makes his professional debut against Sailor Munn, of McKeesport. Eddie Guba, of Glassport, and Hugh Cunningham, of Swissvale, and formerly of Buffalo, are in the six-round opener.

GIZZY VS. SMALLWOOD

Battling Gizzy, formerly of Washington, Pa., and now of Pittsburgh, meets Chet Smallwood, Akron southpaw lightweight, in the 10-round windup of the third indoor show of the Junction Park arena at New Brighton, where Ray Eberle, former popular announcer, holds forth as matchmaker. It is a return bout, the pair having put up a sizzling scrap at Wellsville, O., some time ago. In two six-round preliminaries at Junction Park, Harry Spencer meets Nick Polis and Charley Tarzan takes on Capo Coluba. Both of these are middleweight affairs. Heavyweights clash in the two four-round prelims, Battling Willie

RIPLEY'S SANTA CLAUS

James Martin, postmaster of Santa Claus, Ind. He postmarks all of the mail that goes through his hands "Santa Claus." Read the story about him in an adjoining column.

RIPLEY LEARNS THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

By RICHARD HYMAN.

There is a Santa Claus—believe it or not. But Robert L. Ripley, the man who has been collecting odd facts and strange phenomena for nine years, would not believe it. The rumor that a St. Nicholas really existed swept into the "Believe It or Not" office just before Christmas and startled the man who entertains readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Assistants scurrying back and forth ransacked encyclopedias and history books and dove into endless archives but found no sign of a Yuletide chief.

Ripley wanted to either verify or discredit the story, so I was sent to the southwestern corner of Indiana, where it was said Santa Claus held court. He wanted to believe that there was a Santa Claus. Along with the writer went bags of mail. Ripley letters for Santa Claus to mail. If there really was a Santa Claus he wanted to convince his friends and readers.

Early one morning we—the bags of mail and I—disembarked from a train in Lincoln City, a town of 100 inhabitants and the burial place of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, mother of the log-splittin' Abe. The mailman took us on six more miles when, suddenly dropping into a little valley, we found Santa Claus snug and snowed-in. He wasn't so hard to find.

PLAYS ST. NICK ROLE

His real name is James F. Martin, and he was quite congenial. I wanted to shout that there was a Santa Claus, but my better sense controlled the feelings of one formerly disillusioned.

James Martin, Santa Claus, is postmaster of the village of Santa Claus, Ind. He is king, president and board of governors of this hamlet, as well as owner of the general merchandise store in which is the half-hidden postoffice.

Once a year, Postmaster Martin,

BETHANY SEEKS SUCCESSOR TO NUSS

By JESS CARVER.

Bethany College, where Furman Nuss has been holding forth as head football, basketball, track, tennis, swimming, lacrosse, baseball, quoits and three-card monte coach for the past four years, is seeking a new athletic director, which was the official title of the post Mr. Nuss occupied.

Furman Nuss

Nuss will sever his connections with Bethany at the close of the present scholastic year, to take a job where the dough is more plentiful and the worry less, with a corporation, the name of which Furman neglected to divulge.

Considering the trials and tribulations which have been Furman's since he succeeded Katy Easterday at the Buffalo Creek institution, Furman hasn't done such a bad job. He has had some crackerjack basketball teams, one or two football clubs of merit and some track stars able to hold their own with the best in the section.

The Bethany athletic board will probably cast some hither glances in the direction of graduating athletes from one of the Big Four institutions, Pitt, Tech, Wash-Jeff and West Virginia. George Schoemake, Nuss' present assistant football coach, is in line to get the head gridiron coaching job, but for a general athletic director, it is likely the school will step outside its present circle of acquaintances.

CAGE CARD LIGHT

Tonight's college basketball card is as skimpy as the second helping of boarding house soup,

DUKE YEARLING FLOORMEN REPORT TODAY

FRESHMAN RULE CERTAIN TO BE ADOPTED SOON

Candidates for the first freshman basketball team in Duquesne University history will report to Coach Chick Davies in the Bluff gymnasium today. Announcement was made yesterday by Elmer F. Layden, director of athletics, that several games had been definitely carded for yearling members of the Dukes' basketball squad and that Graduate Manager John D. Holohan was working on a 1930 freshman football schedule preparatory to the adoption of a strict freshman rule on the Bluff.

Coach Chick Davies, varsity basketball mentor, will have charge of the freshman passers for the present and today's call for candidates should raise the Dukes' first year floor squad candidates to 15 or 20. The present system on the Bluff does not bar first year men from varsity competition except in games where the opponent teams observe such a rule. Outstanding instances where the Dukes were restricted to the upper classmen are the Red and Blue's deadlock with the Mountaineers of West Virginia University last fall and their one-touchdown defeat of Wash-Jeff on the latter's home field two years ago. In both instances the freshmen were barred from competition.

FINAL ADOPTION CERTAIN

Final and formal adoption of the first year rule before next fall seems definitely assured in the Dukes' latest step to remove all eligibility obstacles to games with the best schools in the country, possibly including Pitt and Carnegie Tech. The carding of games for the freshman floor club and organization of the first year group will not cause any present radical change in Duquesne University athletics, although it is another well-defined step upward by the Red and Blue.

The only frosh player of note on the current Duquesne University squad is Buck McGeever, center rival of Joe Vernon, who is playing his last year for the Dukes. The removal of McGeever from varsity competition would not be disastrous to the varsity, due to the availability of Vernon. Coach Chick Davies was compelled to keep freshmen passers out of the game during the Western trip which inaugurated the Dukes' season and he likewise will observe the restriction in the Dukes' coming floor game with West Virginia University at Morgantown.

CARD GAMES

Games on the freshman card being compiled by Graduate Manager John D. Holohan, the majority of which are expected to be played as preliminaries to varsity contests, will be with West Virginia freshmen, Geneva College reserves, Clarksburg Collegians, probably Grove City reserves and several others.

The first contest for the yearling quintet is expected to be staged as a preliminary to the Duquesne University-Grove City College tilt in Bluff gymnasium on February 21. The West Virginia Frosh are to be met.

BUCS PREPARE FOR ATLANTIC CITY GAME

By CARL W. SHATTO

In the event that the Pirates defeat the Chicago Hawks at Atlantic City Saturday night should it be classed as a home triumph or as a victory abroad?

This question is of some importance because the locals have not yet annexed a decision on enemy ice thus far this season, and it is going to be an occasion for cheering when this record is broken.

Because it was originally scheduled for Duquesne Garden the Saturday joust with the Hawks will go into the records as a Pirate "home" encounter, but anyone up on his geography knows that Atlantic City is no part of Pittsburgh. It's a home game abroad, and the Bucs can best oblige the keepers of the records by losing to the Chicagoans and thereby eliminating any possibility of a controversy.

DRILL AT RESORT

Manager Frank Frederickson and his puckmen are in Atlantic City after a fruitless trip to Ottawa, and workouts today and tomorrow will be staged to prime the Bucs. The setback at the hands of the Senators on Tuesday marked the Pirates' seventh successive defeat, and Freddie is eager to snap this losing string before it attains the proportions of a rope.

The skipper of the Bucs made a brave effort to bring his men "out of it" last Saturday when he started Andy Spooner in the nets and shifted Hib Milks from forward to defense in a general shakeup which came in the form of an experiment. It was apparent to fans who witnessed the experiment that it was not exactly a success, and Frederickson evidently shared this view, for he returned Miller to goal and Milks to center in the Ottawa fray.

'OLD GUARD' RALLIES

The Pirate pilot cannot be censured for trying, and he is to be commended for his honesty in promptly admitting that his lineup shifts did not work out to the best advantage.

The Pirate pilot cannot be censured for trying, and he is to be commended for his honesty in promptly admitting that his lineup shifts did not work out to the best advantage.

The individual scoring records of the locals show that the members of the "old guard" have stolen considerable of the tallying thunder of the rookies in recent jousts. Milks and Lowrey have climbed steadily and now are tied for the lead with 20 points each, and Darragh, Jarvis and MacKinnon are close on their heels. Jarvis' total is more impressive than the records would indicate, for when he dents the cords he generally has to do it without assistance. The individual scoring records follow:

	Goals.	Assists.	Totals.
Milks	13	7	20
Lowrey	11	10	20
Darragh	8	6	14
Jarvis	8	6	14
MacKinnon	10	3	13
Frederickson	4	7	11
White	5	3	8
Arsdell	3	3	6
Fraser	3	2	5
Gray	2	1	3
Burton	0	1	1

(McCaffrey scored three goals and four assists as Pirate before being traded to Les Canadiens for Fraser on December 26. Manners tallied two goals and one assist before being farmed to London, Ontario, on January 14. Frederickson has been out with injuries since December 16.)

Among the other celebrities to attend the big event will be the three members of the State Athletic Commission of Pennsylvania. This commission consists of Frank Weiner, of Philadelphia, chairman; Havey J. Boyle, of Pittsburgh, and Henry Farrell, of Wilkes-Barre.

The renowned Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis also is listed as a probable guest. The commissioner of baseball has replied to the committee to the effect that he will be here for the dinner barring unforeseen circumstances. John S. PHELAN JOINS N. Y. COMISH

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The New York State Athletic Commission filled its roster yesterday with the enlistment of Brigadier General John U. Phelan, commander of the Ninety-third Brigade of the National Guard. Gen. Phelan will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of George E. Brower, who became district attorney for Kings County.

For several weeks the choosing of the third "Solemn Solon" to help Chairman James A. Farley and the solid man of sport, 85-year-old William Muldoon, minister to the needs of boxing, has stirred up a slight political storm.

Gen. Phelan, at one time commander of New York's famous Sixty-ninth Regiment, also was the center of the storm that rose in New York political and fistic circles in 1926, when the late Tex Rickard matched Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for a heavyweight title battle. Gen. Phelan, then chairman of the license committee, an adjunct to the athletic commission, refused Dempsey a boxing license and forced Rickard to take the match to Philadelphia. The commission itself had favored the match, despite Chairman Farley's contention that Harry Wills, the giant Negro, was the logical contender.

The Y. M. H. A., after staging a great comeback during the closing stages of the first-half race, got off on the wrong foot in the second half, losing to the crack Penn Five at Sharpsburg.

In the preliminary game, the Homewood-Brushton Y. M. C. A. will meet the Y. M. H. A. Reserves in an Institutional League contest.

change in the personnel was needed to get the team out of a prolonged slump. The Fintex team got away to a running start in the first half of the County League fight, holding at one stage of the season a lead of three full games over its nearest rival.

The club, however, failed to maintain its fast pace and as a result the Duquesne Lafayettes, who lost three out of their first four games, came from behind to win the title. The Duquesne Lafayettes have won the title for three successive years.

In Miller and Serbin the Veronas obtain two stellar performers who compare with the best in the league. Both are veterans of the Allegheny County League, having played in that circuit since its organization four years ago. Reilly is playing his first year in the circuit, but has shown enough class to date to rank him with the best in the league.

The Goldenson outfit won over the Veronas, 32 to 22, in their County League game last night in the South Side Market House. The Italians were leading, 17 to 11, at half-time. Leisenring's great play helped account for the victory.

In the only other league contest of the night, Clarence (Kid) Born's Trinity Cathedral passers came back to trim Joseph Hornes, 43 to 34, in a Central loop tilt in the Fifth Avenue High School. Jule Bond was the big scorer, netting seven two-plyers.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

parades to the foul line and give the spectators 40 minutes of real and continuous action. The regulations came from the thoughts of the players themselves—men like Dave Kerr, Pete Barry, Dutch Dehnert and others who have given the game a lot of study. Experienced players are better qualified than any other persons to suggest rule improvements or changes, as they are in there in every game and know what it is all about."

Hans Lobert

HANS LOBERT, a sturdy son of the South Hills, has given baseball part of its rich flavor ever since the day he landed in the majors 25 years ago. For many seasons, John McGraw has regarded the former Pittsburgher as one of the smartest and most dependable of his lieutenants, and, in line with putting Hans' talents in a spot where they would work to the interest of the New York team, McGraw last year placed Lobert in charge of the Eastern League team at Bridgeport, Conn., the same being a "farm" of the Giants. Hans will hold the same role this year.

The Giant chieftain's judgment on Lobert was vindicated in Hans' first season. The team, it seems, had been showing a loss at the end of the season for some time, but Lobert built up the club in such a manner as to make it attractive for the fans and while doing so, he developed at least one player, who, he feels, will shine in the big show.

THE youngster is Infielder Eddie Marshall who has just signed a Giant contract. On top of a good season at shortstop, this recruit was called in by McGraw and Lobert is among those who would not be surprised if he were to gain a regular job in the Giants' infield, or at least win a utility role, this year.

Talking to Pittsburgh friends at the December meeting of the National League in New York, Lobert spoke glowingly of Marshall. It is possible that Eddie may get a chance to play second base for the Giants, that position being much in doubt. In 154 games for Bridgeport last year the youngster batted .312, making 199 hits, scoring 117 runs, stealing 24 bases, and knocking in 87 tallies. Playing 150 games at shortstop, he was credited with 328 putouts, and 548 assists against 82 errors for an average of .965.

Between Rounds

Promoter Francis Flynn, back in the Motor Temple for the remainder of the season, with the closing of the Coliseum arena, has completed his card for his show tomorrow night, in the main bout of which Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, meets Jimmy Goodrich, of Cleveland, who is matched to box Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship, at Cleveland, February 7. Howard Mayberry, of Lincoln, boxes Jack Dehart, of the North Side, in the semi-final, Frankie Brevard, of the North Side, meets Frankie Delaney, of Lincoln, in the six-round bout, and Frankie Jarrell, of the North Side, and Jackie Griffiths, of the Hill, open the bill.

The Joe Tripp-Jimmy Goodrich bout in Buffalo, postponed from last Monday night because of an injury suffered by Tripp in training, has been rescheduled for the new night. Tripp meets Kenny Baker, of New York, in a return bout at Motor Square Garden, February 3.

Leonard Zappasino boxes Nick Abata, of Detroit, meets Leo Lampe and Jackie Schenck tangles with Tony Lambert in 10-round bouts at Newark, N. J., tonight.

GIBBONS-ON CARNERA CARD

Dick Gibbons, Mckeesport heavyweight, boxes K. O. Bill Unger in the six-round preliminary on the Primo Carnera-Big Boy Peterson card in Madison Square Garden, New York, tomorrow night.

Promoter Jim Mosiej, of McKeesport, is angling for the services of Gene Horwitz, of Atlantic City, to box Mickey Solmen in his main bout next Thursday night. Mosiej still recently boxed Sergt. Sammy Baker in a 10-round bout at the Arena in Philadelphia.

Jack White and Abie Wilk, managers of Battling Gizzy, have had to turn down a bout for him with Midget Mike O'Dowd at Wheeling, February 10, because he is box Billy Brown in the semi-final to the Baker-Tripp bout at Motor Square Garden that night. Gizzy-O'Dowd match may be arranged for February 11, and Gizzy also has a winning pending in the Jolly Bout at New Castle for February 10.

James (Red) Mason, local manager, will have a hearing before the boxing commission tomorrow on his suspension, based on the referee's report of his conduct during a bout at McKeesport last week. Mason avers the ban is unfair and has asked for a review of the case.

Mickey Walker may defend his middleweight title against Jimmy DeFoe in Madison Square Garden, New York, March 24.

Benny Bass, the new junior lightweight champion, will box Sammy Fuller in a non-title bout in Boston, February 7.

SMITH, AL ESPINOSA AGUA CALIENTE LEADERS

$25,000 EVENT TO BE DECIDED TODAY

AGUA CALIENTE, Lower California, Mexico, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Like a staunch ship weathering a storm, Horton Smith, young Joplin, Mo., professional rode a gale yesterday into a dual leadership of the Agua Caliente $25,000 open golf tournament here. The close of the third round, with only 18 holes to play today, found this young and most consistent money winner in tournament golf, sharing honors with Al Espino, a Chicago veteran with cards aggregating 224 for the 54 holes.

Mariners in quest of gold in early days prayed for such a gale as blew here yesterday, but golfers in search of the greatest purse of money ever offered to them—$10,000 to the winner—did not relish it. It blew all hopes of par playing into vanished expectations. Five over par was the best card turned in this honor being shared by Al Espinosa and Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, one of the high ranking amateurs in national golf.

Places in the second bracket, with cards aggregating 225 for the 54 holes were shared by Al Watrous, Detroit; Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Cal., and Charles Guest, Los Angeles.

Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla., with 77, was alone in the bracket of 226.

Geneva, following its double overtime battle with Carnegie Tech Tuesday, may find the going against the Yellow Jackets a bit sterner than usual. No one expects Thiel to beat Grove City, but the crepe is still fluttering from the door of Bob Thorn's house. A defeat for the Covenanters will hardly be propitious to the Geneva ambitions in the Conference title race, and will remove Ken Loeffler's hopefuls for the time being from the running.

Pete's appearance in Gotham was the signal for one of the light-fingered gentry to lift his street shoes, and when Petah returned to the dressing room after running fourth in the special 440-yard race, he found his shoes missing.

Pete spent half of Sunday traipsing about New York seeking a shoe store. He walked the soles of his running shoes through until, away up on Eleventh avenue, he found a store where they were taking stock and obtained a pair of new kicks.

I've heard of a guy losing his shirt on a race, but never his shoes.

The condition of Lloyd Waner, Pirate outfielder, has improved to such an extent that he will be permitted to partake of a select soft diet of food tonight. Officials of the Presbyterian Hospital, where Lloyd is confined following an appendix operation performed Monday, stated this afternoon that the patient was making satisfactory progress.

Manager Jewel Ens, of the Buccos, today had a short visit with his clever player. Lloyd was able to enjoy a chat with the pilot of the club.

the genial middle-aged Dutchman plays the role of Santa Claus and likes it, although it entails a lot of work. Children from all about the countryside send in their Christmas letters addressed to Santa Claus at Santa Claus, Ind. And Martin answers all those that have a two-cent stamp enclosed. Quite a role for one man to play.

I pushed my way through the door of the store dragging along my bags of Ripley letters, and deposited them in the center.

Santa Claus Martin glanced indifferently at the mailbags as they were brought and went on moving a barrel of potatoes to one corner. Some of the old-timers chewing the cud and smoking smelly pipes about the coal stove were rather proud of the recent arrival of mail and enjoyed the popularity of their chief citizen—their Santa Claus.

A FRIENDLY SANTA

I said "hello" timidly, not wanting to disturb him at his chores, and intimated that I had come all the way from New York with a message from Robert L. Ripley and bags full of mail. Martin finished his work and walked over to me with outstretched hands and a smile that made me like Santa Claus.

"I often see Ripley's work," said Martin, "and I am glad to greet his messenger as well as his mail.

"And," he went on, "this is a new one for me. I am used to receiving thousands of letters from children all around Indiana where I am known, but not like this."

"Do you mind my sending all these letters from here?" I asked.

And we went to work with the help of his three children and soon had all the letters stamped and postmarked, "Santa Claus, Ind."

"What do I do with all the letters from children? I keep them," said the postmaster, "and read them during the winter months."

When we arrived in Santa Claus snow drifts loomed up on all sides, half hiding the town. The blacksmith shop was closed down and only the general store was alive.

HOW TOWN GOT NAME

Martin has been in charge of the postoffice at Santa Claus for 26 years. At Christmas time, he is the busiest man in Southern Indiana and is the only Santa Claus to whom the postal authorities give official recognition. He was born 52 years ago, near Santa Claus, and early was trained to play his role under the instruction of his father, who operated the store and postoffice before him.

Santa Claus is a village inhabited by a group of people of Dutch descent. I was first named Sante Fe, but the postal officials did not allow this as there was another town in the state of that name. It was around Christmas time in 1846 when the clan gathered together, dropped the Fe and added the Claus. The hamlet was founded when one Thomas Smith was called upon to plot the place, originally composed of lots. Seventy-six years before that Shadrack Hall had built a tannery in that locality, but it was until Smith came along that the village was developed.

The hamlet stands 45 miles northeast of Evansville, just north of the Ohio River and six miles from Nancy Hanks Lincoln Park. It is near Gentryville, a town of Lincoln stories and the historical county seat, Rockport. Not far from Santa Claus is St. Meinard, its academy, monastery and shrine of Mount Carmi. St. Meinard is the place where the priests wear long beards. Nearby, too, is the convent town of Ferdinand. No far to the southeast is the town founded by a group of [illegible]s, Tell City, and [illegible] Cannelton, which [illegible] it the movement [illegible] n 1825.

Al Mamaux Among International League Leaders

★ SUN-TELEGRAPH ★ SPORTS ★

THIRTY-FOUR — THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1930

NAVY BOWS

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The University of Maryland basketball team swept another game into the victory column yesterday with a 43-to-39 win over the Navy.

MAMAUX HIGH AMONG INT. PITCHERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Albert Mamaux, former Prince of Dormont, continues to shine resplendent on the various slabs of the International League. Official pitching records for last season, given out today, disclose that the former crack sharpshooter of the Pirates grabbed off his customary list of 20 victories in the summer's campaign. Al won 20 and lost 13 for the Newark club. He was the sixth hurler of the league in the matter of earned-run efficiency.

Al Mamaux

PRUETT AT TOP

Rene Pruett, veteran lefthander as a member of the Newark club pitched his way to the earned-run leadership of the circuit with a season's mark of 2.43. Pruett was bought by the Giants. James Carleton of the Rochester Champions had the best percentage of victories, his card showing 18 won and seven lost for a percentage .720.

A former athlete of Penn State, Phil Page, Toronto southpaw, was the nominal leader in percentage of victories. This youngster won 10 and lost three for a mark of .769. He was farmed to Toronto by Detroit and has been recalled by that team.

LEE, VIC FARE POORLY

Lee Meadows and Vic Aldridge, a couple of former Pirates pitching for Newark, couldn't do much in the International. Lee won two and lost seven games while Aldridge, before leaving the club, won two and lost the same number.

Chester Nichols, a little right-hander who once wore Pirate spangles, was so impressive in winning 13 and losing 12 for Montreal that the Phillies purchased him.

Chillysauce

Bill McKechnie is back at his Wilkinsburg home after indulging in a two-weeks' outing, most of the while of Arkansas' own Bert of Little Washington, long time friend of McKechnie, accompanied Bill, the two being guests of friends who formerly lived in Washington County. Mr. McKechnie said his vacation bagged a fair amount of game, despite the cold weather. The cold registered 16 below zero when the Wilkinsburg citizen left for home.

Skipper Bill plans to attend the New York meeting of the National League which is set for February 6. He is going on the spring training plans. While in New York, McKechnie will meet with other Boston officials with a view of perfecting the training details.

The Braves of 1929 finished in last place, after they had thrilled the baseball world with a running start that kept them on the top of the heap for more than a month. The team needs strengthening in several spots, but Skipper Bill declares will make the Tribe opposed as a more formidable unit by than that which exhibited in Pittsburgh on the last Western trip.

George Grantham, Pirate infielder and the favorite for the second base job on the 1930 club, has gone from his Phoenix, Ariz., home to Azusa, California, of the same state for the purpose of taking treatments for the illness that kept him out of the Pirate lineup last season. Grantham was requested by the Pittsburgh management to take the step. Manager Dan has a high regard for the skill of Grantham, but he is anxious as regards to his health and he wants George to give himself the best of it before he leaves for training camp.

Free-for-All Fight Marks Floor Game

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—A free-for-all fight, a missing $18 basketball and an 18-to-12 victory for the Chicago Bruins today were the outstanding results of a professional basketball game with the Brooklyn Visitations.

Bill Cooney, of Brooklyn, lined up against Nat Holman, began slugging each other a few seconds before the game ended, and they were immediately joined by all members of both teams.

Spectators and police, rushing out on the Chicago Stadium floor, stopped the riot before little damage was done, however.

Babe Ruth Is Beaten In Miami Golf Play

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23.—Don McCallister, Miami High School athletic director and medalist, advanced to the semi-final round of the Glenn Curtiss trophy golf matches yesterday by defeating R. C. Thompson, 4 and 3.

D. Edmondson defeated Bob Stillman, New York, 6 and 5 in another quarter-final round, while George Dockerty, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., defeated 16-year-old Bob Moffet, Miami, 2 and 1. Mark Fisher won his match with T. Mack by default.

Babe Ruth dropped from the play in the third flight, losing to Larry Taylor, Toledo, O., 4 and 2.

Comiskey Deserts Shires, Goes South

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Modest Arthur Shires, recently of ring fame, was informed today that Charles A. Comiskey, boss of the Chicago White Sox, has departed for the Sunny South, carrying with him C. Arthur's 1930 contract, if any.

Thus the contest of watchful waiting was postponed for at least another two weeks or until Comiskey returns from Florida.

Shires is awaiting reinstatement and a contract to play first base, although he was dismissed last season for blocking the eye of Lena Blackburne, his manager.

SALEM SHIFTS DATE

[illegible] Salem College will play Bethany College at Bethany instead of Westminster, January 25, as previously announced. Faced with conflicting games, Coach Hartman and Manager [illegible] of Salem, decided a postponement of the game was best, as it was the date selected.

U. S. FAVORITES NET VICTORS

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The favored stars from the United States and a few Canadian "dark horses" dominated the play as the Canadian indoor tennis championships went through the first two rounds yesterday.

The defending champion, J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., won his two matches in impressive form, as did his leading rival for the title, Pritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Hall defeated Leo Boucher, of Montreal, and Edward Burns, of New York, in straight sets.

Mercur trounced P. Bedard, of Montreal, 6-2, 6-2, in the first round, then went on to eliminate another American contender, Emmet Pare, of Dayton, O., holder of the United States national clay court championship, 6-3, 6-3.

STRIB STOPS DE MAVE

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, of Macon, Ga., knocked out Jack De Mave, Dutch heavyweight, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Stribling weighed 188, and De Mave 198.

Making his first ring appearance since defeating Primo Carnera in Paris, six weeks ago, Stribling waded into the Hollander and De Mave dove into a clinch. They broke away and Stribling shoved over a left hook and followed it with a smashing right cross which sent the Dutchman down for the count, after one minute and 45 seconds. De Mave had held Stribling to an eight-round decision several months ago.

State Commission Bars Red Mason Indefinitely

Joseph (Matt) Rice, Gilberton, Pa., 30 days.

Ike McFowler, Johnstown, indefinitely.

SCHOOL BOOTERS TO PLAY

Munhall and Bridgeville will meet Saturday at Westinghouse High field at 1:45 p. m. in the final round of the Cameron Scholastic soccer cup competition. The contest will precede the final game of the West Penn cup which is billed to start at 3 o'clock.

PHIL SCOTT ARRIVES

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Weighing 215 pounds, five pounds over his fighting weight, Phil Scott, the battling British fireman, arrived here today from England to prepare for his match with Jack Sharkey in Miami, February 27.

Scott said he would leave for Miami Tuesday and do his training there and at Palm Beach.

Concerning Sharkey, the English heavyweight said: "I think he is a good strong man, but I believe that a good boxer could beat him."

Scott left New York for England December 14 to spend the holidays with his wife and two daughters in Croyden. His English manager, Charley Rose, was with him when he landed today.

ROBERT WARWICK BELIEVES ROMANCE WILL RETURN LIKE KING IN EXILE

By GEORGE SEIBEL

ALPHONSE DAUDET wrote "Kings in Exile," and the drama at the Pitt Theater this week tells a story of a king in exile, and the first play in which Robert Warwick appeared in Pittsburgh years ago also was about a king in exile—for he played Jerome Bonaparte when Mary Mannering was Elizabeth Patterson in "Glorious Betsy." So it was only natural that Robert Warwick should talk about kings in exile during the pauses of "Her Friend the King," in which he has the part created by William Faversham.

George Seibel

"Romance is at present the king in exile from the American stage," said Warwick. "Take this play George Sharp is producing this week. It is romance with a vein of comedy. When James K. Hackett and E. H. Sothern were in their prime, it is the sort of play the people would have raved about. Today realism has its turn—but there is always a tomorrow."

Warwick looks like a king in exile. He has the nonchalant charm, the grand manner, the aquiline aspect, the voice that commands. No wonder he was the idol of the matinee girls when the movies still were young.

"Romance is coming back," he continued. "Coming back, because without romance the human race would die out. When there are no more dreams to be dreamed, when life is all on the same dead level of uniformity, when the moonlight no longer sleeps upon a bank of violets, our planet will go into cold storage like the moon."

Illusions Broken

He attributes the present vogue of realism to the shattering of so many illusions during the world war, along with the rushing progress of discovery and science.

"We have come to see that what passed for heroism was barbaric hatred and murder by machinery. Now that war has been exposed as a mixture of mud and blood, the sacrifice and courage are forgotten.

"In the same way our present mastery of natural forces has left us no mysteries to prick our imagination. Every new wonder leaves us cold—we have seen so many wonders that nothing is any longer wonderful. If tomorrow somebody manufactures diamonds or discovers the secret of living forever, nobody will be surprised."

"Romance has become so commonplace, you think, that it is stale and has lost its interest?"

"That is the idea I am trying to convey—and the further idea that when man is tired of all these wonders of the mechanical age he will turn again to the glories of nature and the loveliness of poetry."

The Sun Again Rises

"These things run in cycles," Warwick went on. "Just as we know the sun will rise again, so we may know that an age of romance follows every age of materialism. Shakespeare was followed by Cromwell and the Puritans; Victor Hugo was followed by Balzac and Zola. But always there is a new sun arises—a Tennyson or a Rostand. The wheel turns and Romance is with us again.

"Gunmen and hijackers, dope fiends and toughs, with nymphs of the gutter, will have their day, but the 'kings in exile' will return. Humanity hungers for something better than bread—for beauty and adventure and love. That is why the romantic drama must come back. Don't you see that our realism is already turning romantic?"

Michelson Well, Death Reports Persist

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Prof. Albert A. Michelson, noted Chicago scientist, is enjoying excellent health and a vacation in Bermuda, while his daughter, Mrs. Philip Maher, answers an annoying deluge of letters and telegrams of condolence on his death.

The source of the reports of Dr. Michelson's death remain undiscovered. Recovering his health after serious illness last fall with pneumonia and two operations, the physicist, recently resigned his post at the University of Chicago and left for a sojourn in Bermuda.

Meanwhile rumors of his demise were spread, apparently throughout Europe, and his family continues to receive messages of sympathy from friends abroad.

MR. TIBBETT'S SCREEN DEBUT JOLT TO CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL SINGERS

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.

THE local premier of Laurence Tibbett in "The Rogue's Song" created what, for the colony, was a distinct stir. A sensation is a gasp. A stir is provocative and endures for days. Hence, Mr. Tibbett created a stir.

He may be even constructive. The presence of a rich, cultivated voice in a motion picture should send the correspondence school singers scampering to cover. It takes an expert to survive comparison. The screen correspondent singers can't stand much of anything, including criticism.

We've sat through some pretty awful gargling on the screen. We've apologized for many stars who were cast in musical screechers against their better judgment if not their will. When a few more voices in the class of Tibbett turn vocaloid, we'll get tolty and check away from any box-office advertising a correspondent school flick-ite. It won't be long before a singing actor must hit and sustain through ability and not microphonic cunning.

Law. Tibbett

This department types three cheers for Lawrence Tibbett. He's a vimful actor, a gorgeous singer and a picturesque emoter.

Estelle Taylor Was Only Singing

ESTELLE TAYLOR (Mrs. Jack Dempsey) writes an amusing yarn describing what happened when she played her voodvil act in Scranton, Pa. Estelle sings a song yclept "I'm Looking for a Hero." She no sooner got started vocalizing the look than a burly miner in the rear of the house leaped to his feet and boomed: "Lady, you don't have to look no further." And down the aisle he stalked. Competition sprang up from other parts of the house and it took the police to persuade the Lotharios that Miss Taylor was only looking in song.

Joe E. Brown has gone Holleywood. Yep, after a year of safety, Joe has gone thata way. He joined the Y. M. C. A., an infallible sign. Purpose: Handball and tennis. Before starting a handball game, Joe weighs in. After finishing, and downing a beeker of orange juice, he weighs again. A large tumbler of O. J., he opines, increases weight four pounds. A glass of water increases it only a pound. Athletes, R. S. V. P.

Alma and Edward To Offer Sketch

HEAR tell that a director named Bob Thornby has purchased the screen rights to Percy Crosby's book, "Skippy." Furthermore, that Thornby has a deal on with several film companies to bring this popular cartoon character to the talkies. Of which, forsooth, more anon.

Alma Rubens is rehearsing a sketch in which Edward Everett Horton and she will cavort at the Writers' Club. These playlet offerings at the Writers are given at informal member gatherings. Sometimes sketches meet with such success that they are purchased by voodvil scouts.

Competition is very keen in Hollywood. Very. M. G. M. started to build the largest sound stage extant. They were getting along swell. Until three-quarters finished. Then R. K. O. came out with the staggering statement that their new sound stage would be so large a railroad train could run around in it. Just why a train? . . . But that's competition.

NEW SHOWS BOOKED HERE

Seats go on sale this morning for the operetta, "Blossom Time," which comes to the Alvin for one week, commencing Monday night, with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. In the role of Franz Schubert will be the tenor, Knight MacGregor. Genevieve Naegele will be Mitzi.

Seats are on sale at the box office of the Nixon for Bert Lytell, the famous stage and screen star, in "Brothers," with Grace Menken, which ran a whole season at the Forty-eighth Street Theater, New York, and four months at the Erlanger Theater in Chicago. It will open in the Nixon Monday evening.

The prologue of "Smilin' Through." Allan Langdon McCormick's stage success, which will be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week, takes place 50 years prior to the opening of the first act. In it is seen the tragedy that bears its influence on the children of the present generation.

BARRYMORE FILM TODAY

John Barrymore comes to the Warner today in his first all-talking screen production, "General Crack." He is supported by a cast composed of Lowell Sherman, Marian Nixon, Armida and Hobart Bosworth.

On the screen in the Harris, beginning Saturday, James Gleason will be seen and heard in "The Shannons of Broadway," based on the stage hit written and acted by Gleason. The vaudeville bill will have a new Victor Graff show, "A Trip Around the World."

A society scandal forms the plot basis for Ruth Chatterton's most recent starring picture, "The Laughing Lady," which comes to the Penn Monday. Clive Brook heads the supporting cast.

NEW BILLS TOMORROW

Winnie Lightner, the tomboy of the talking screen, who won fame by her antics and songs in "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," comes to the Stanley tomorrow in her first starring talkie, "She Couldn't Say No." On the stage Dick Powell's Warner-Publix Unit presentation will be "White Caps."

Evelyn Brent comes to the Enright tomorrow in her first starring role in "Darkened Rooms." Neil Hamilton plays the male lead opposite her in this all talking romance. On the stage Jay Mills will present "Melody Makers."

BEBE DANIELS BACK

Bebe Daniels is starred in "Love Comes Along," which will begin a Pittsburgh engagement on Saturday in the R. K. O. Sheridan Square. An island paradise is cast at her feet in the story, but she spurns it for a sailor's song.

Sharon Lynn, one of the principals in "Sunny Side Up," Fox musical comedy, which begins the third week of its run in the Aldine, is a song writer in her own right. One of her songs, "Monte Carlo Moon," has been recorded with the authorship credited to "Lindy," the name Miss Lynn assumed when she sent the song to the publishers.

Tracy-Brown Clubs Get Singing Marine

Wayne Vargason, known as "the Singing Marine," is featured in the Plaza. Vergason will be heard in several songs of the Bert Williams type at the opening of the new Club Tracy-Brown (formerly Kleman's Inn), East Liberty, Saturday evening, January 25.

"The Lost Zeppelin," Tiffany Productions' initial Pittsburgh presentation, will remain in the Olympic as the all-talking attraction for a second week, beginning Saturday.

Always happy and comfortable; free from colds

OF COURSE every family has a "best" baby in it. But some babies are a lot nicer than others just the same. And that is so largely a matter of health. For psychologists and medical men say that good nature in babies is dependent largely on their comfort. They are too little to tell you what ails them. So they cry. And you have to guess it's a rash, or chafed skin, or a stopped-up nose.

That is, you guess, unless you are wise enough to prevent these troubles with the handy "Vaseline" jar.

For "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly is an essential part of any baby outfit. Apply it to the baby's skin after the bath; to the head too; then take little swabs of cotton on toothpicks, dip it into the Jelly, and very gently apply to the baby's nostrils. This cleanses and lubricates. Tends to prevent colds.

These are easy, safe things to do. Ask your doctor. "Vaseline" Jelly has been used by mothers and doctors and hospitals for half a century.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Constipation

A PRESENT DAY MENACE

Doctors tell us that over 50% of present day ills are directly traceable to constipation. Irregular hours, hurried meals, lack of exercise, result in faulty elimination thus clogging the system with harmful poison, and reducing the efficiency of the body machinery.

Keep your system clear of food wastes at all times. Epsotabs, the safe, pleasant laxative, are easy to take and positive of action. Take two Epsotabs at night for constipation relief in the morning. No griping pains—no inconvenience. Two sizes, 25c and 50c packages. Write for free sample. Ask your druggist for Epsotabs.

MARKET RISES ON ENLARGED TRADING

Pools Become Active as Speculative Sentiment Improves—Rumors Rife

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—For the first time this year the stock market today showed strong indications of breaking out of the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating on the up side. The improvement in speculative sentiment, which led to a resumption of pool activities in many issues, was based on merger rumors, predictions that steel operations would be stepped up to 90 per cent of capacity before March 1 and reports that powerful speculative interests were back in the market with large buying orders.

The disappointment shown by the failure of the Bank of England to reduce its discount rate was short-lived, the market quickly gathered headway under the leadership of U. S. Steel common, which was crossed 173 for a gain of about 3 points. Bethlehem recorded a similar gain in expectation of a favorable annual report after the close of today's market, and a brisk demand also was apparent for Superior and Vanadium Steels in which special developments are reported to be pending.

FOX FILM SOARS

Another favorable factor was an unconfirmed rumor that William Fox had agreed with counsel for minority stock interests and creditors to accept a trusteeship for his theatrical enterprises on the withdrawal of receivership proceedings. Fox Film, on which a large short interest had been built up, was run up to 11¼ points to 34 or more than double the record low of 16½ a few weeks ago.

Strength of the advance Rumely issues the preferred soaring more than 7 points and common 3, was based on unconfirmed reports that merger negotiations were pending with Allis Chalmers, J. I. Case International Harvester and the Oliver Farm Implement issues advanced 2 to 5 points.

GOOD GAINS MADE

Air Reduction, International Combustion preferred, Underwood, Elliott Fisher, Eastman Kodak and New York & Harlem sold 4 to 6 points higher, and among the many issues to show gains of 2 points or more were Canadian Pacific, Norfolk & Southern, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Colorado Fuel, Republic Steel, Ludlum Steel, Childs, Loose Wiles, National Tea, Checker Cab and Electric Autolite.

Call money again dropped from 4½ to 4 per cent with the demand light and the supply of funds plentiful.

Pipe Doubles Net Income for Year

The U. S. Pipe Foundry Co. reports net income of $2,581,229 for year ended December 1, 1929, after all charges equal after preferred dividends to $2.74 a share on 600,000 common shares against $1,812,227 or $1.46 a share on same common share basis in 1928.

Directors declare four regular quarterly dividends of 50 cents each on the common and 30 cents each on the first and second preferred stocks.

Payment of dividends on the second preferred is subject to discontinuance in event that issue is redeemed before all dividends have been paid.

Western Maryland Earnings Higher

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Western Maryland Railroad for year ended December 31, reports net income as $2,917,822 after tax and charges equal to $16.44 a share on 177,420 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock on which no dividends have been paid. Allowing for only regular annual dividends on the 7 per cent first preferred and 70,105 shares of 4 per cent second preferred, balance equals $2.66 a share on 523,575 shares of common. This compares with net of $2,375,285 in 1928.

Newton Steel Co. Reported in Merger

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 23.—Reports are current that the Newton Steel Company, this city, with plants at Newton Falls, O., and at Monroe, Mich., may figure in a merger. Newton has completed at Monroe a new eight-mill sheet plant, with capacity for 240,000 tons of sheets annually, within trucking distance of important automobile builders. Newton's earnings last year were nearly 20 per cent of the market value of its common stock.

Japanese Cotton Output Curtailed

OSAKA, Japan, Jan. 23.—Most of the cotton mill operators of Japan have decided to curtail production of yarns by approximately 12.6 per cent. They will suspend operation of 10 per cent of their spindles and institute an additional two days' holiday every month.

Goodrich-Miller Exchange Terms

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—It was reported today that the terms of the exchange of stock in the B. F. Goodrich Co.-Miller Rubber Co. merger are one share of Goodrich for 11 shares of Miller common, and between 7-10 and 8-10 of a preferred share of Goodrich for one share of Miller preferred.

Stocks of Firms Allied With Building Industry Show Strength.

STRENGTH in Johns-Manville and other stocks actively identified with the construction industry was readily accounted for by figures coming to hand showing that estimates of new building this year place the total far above that of 1929 and substantially above the 1928 level, which itself was enormous, running well over the $6,000,000,000 mark. The radical change in the credit situation is perhaps the basis for the rather optimistic estimate for the current year, together with the generally recognized fact that inability to obtain mortgage money last year had been the real influence in retarding construction activities. At the same time report had it that an early increase in the present $3 dividend is likely to be voted by the Johns-Manville board.

Beyond the fact that there was perhaps a little less money on offer in the outside market under the 4 per cent rate, there was no significant change in the money situation during yesterday. The renewal rate was fixed at 4½ per cent, with the charge for new loans being lowered as usual at midday to 4 per cent. The monotony of this performance has evidently begun to get on the nerves of some board room traders. At any rate one individual of long experience in market operations had something of a class in session yesterday, with that situation the topic of instruction. He was bending every effort in endeavoring to put across his contention that the cut to 4 per cent which has been a daily occurrence at noon for weeks past had little or no meaning, holding that approximately 95 per cent of the day's loans go through on the renewal figure.

ACTION started by a stockholder of the Atlas Portland Cement Company in the Philadelphia courts seeking temporary injunction to restrain that company or its officers from selling or conveying its assets to the Steel Corporation on terms agreed upon recently was without effect marketwise. The complaint is based on the belief of the stockholders that the terms were unfair and inadequate. The properties are now being operated by the Steel Corporation, the head of the latter company pointed out in a statement issued in connection with the action. More than 90 per cent of the Atlas Company's stock was represented at a meeting at which the sale was authorized during which no objection or criticism of the deal was forthcoming.

For the reason that the company had already stated its intention of so doing, the raising of the Public Service of New Jersey common dividend rate to a $3.40 annual basis was without effect marketwise. Logically enough it had long since been discounted, inasmuch as the company had stated early in December, coincident with the declaration of a special dividend of 80 cents a share, that the now established rate would be inaugurated at the first meeting this year. Preliminary figures for 1929 show surplus available for dividends at $29,544,617, a new record, as against $22,972,189 reported for the year 1928.

RAIL authorities are looking for a decline in the earnings of Baltimore and Ohio in the first half of the current year, as compared with the like period of 1929. However, they contend that the $7 a share dividend rate will not be endangered. The point is made that if the Baltimore and Ohio plans to acquire Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and Buffalo and Susquehanna are carried out, a new New York to Chicago route will result, which would reduce the distance by 75 to 80 miles, and be a big factor in the affairs of the road in the future.

Many traders who either sold stocks for tax purposes last year and bought others they believed "just as good," and many traders who have switched from stocks held into others they believed would advance more rapidly have not been faring very well. It seems that in many cases the stocks they sold have moved up, and stocks they have bought have either advanced very little, not advanced at all, or have declined. In September one trader bought a certain stock and held it all through the break. He took a loss of $30,000 and purchased 1,000 shares of another stock he believed had better prospects marketwise. The stock he sold is up 12 points and the stock he bought is down 10 points.

Gulf States Steel Year's Profits Gain

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Gulf States Steel Company reports for year to December 31, net income of $1,310,300 after depreciation, federal tax, etc., against net in 1928 of $924,745.

Net income of $223,400 dollars for quarter ended December 31 was equal after 7 per cent preferred dividends to 90 cents on 197,000 common shares, against $326,975 in the preceding quarter or $1.48 a share on the common, and $243,092, or $1.66 on 125,000 common shares in the 1928 quarter.

Net income for the year was equal to $5.93 a share on the common against $924,745, or $6.28 a share in 1928.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The curb market continued to drift today, making but feeble response to the improvement on the "big board." A few industrials and specialties were in moderate demand, and the list generally maintained a firm undertone, but price movements were mostly narrow and irregular. Trading was in slightly larger volume than yesterday.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

LIFE PLAN MAXIMS

Here are ... down to 10 ... want to go ... financial life ...

Formulate a ... and stick to ...

Do not ... what happens ... expenses ... your investment ... pay envelope ... is left over.

Get the maximum benefits ... your purchasing power ... spending in accordance with a budget.

Count on the workings of the compound interest table rather than on the uncertain principle of the lottery for the building up of your estate.

Do not let death, illness or accident interfere with the attainment of your financial objectives. Insurance will take care of these hazards.

Be master of your finances rather than a ... e to money.

Allocate part of your income for unselfish purposes.

Do not confuse thrift with ... gardliness. Education and culture for yourself and your family are good investments.

Buy securities only from houses whose integrity you have checked through independent sources. When in doubt deal directly through a bank. You should have an account in a savings bank before you begin to buy stocks and bonds. Remember that real bargains in securities are without ... never peddled by stock salesmen.

Either avoid speculation entirely or consciously limit your commitments to what you can afford to lose.

TRADE GROUP MEETS

The stock market has been vacillating, waiting for indications from business of the longer term economic trend. On account of the lag between planning and execution business has hardly yet begun to feel the stimulus of the building program coordinated at the White House conferences called by President Hoover after the panic in Wall street. Progress that has been made through this voluntary co-operation between government and business will be reviewed today at a meeting in Washington of the executive committee of the National Business Survey Conference. The committee will also formulate further steps which it thinks can prudently be taken in order to minimize unemployment and mitigate the extent of the current trade recession. In this connection, President Hoover was encouraged by the Department of Labor report this week to the effect that current statistics indicated an upward trend in unemployment for the first time since the big stock market break. The President said that he was informed that there had been a distinctly favorable turn in the tide of employment in the last 10 days.

The Hoover effort is to meet unemployment by providing work, which is a sensible program. However, there is another side to the situation. Since experience shows that more or less unemployment is inevitable, social means should be devised for lifting the cost of unemployment from the shoulders of victims. Unemployment should be made a charge on industry itself, which should be encouraged to regularize its operations and obviate the economic loss entailed in intermittent use of the human factor in manufacturing.

Senator Wagner's unemployment bill contains fruitful suggestions.

Price Situation In Oil Fields Muddled

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. Big buyers forming the bulk of purchasers of crude oil in Oklahoma and Kansas have failed to follow the price reduction initiated last Thursday by Standard Oil of New Jersey. Prairie Oil and Gas, the largest purchaser in the area, Sinclair Crude Purchasing Co., Texas Corp. and Gulf Oil Corp. had not met the change by late Tuesday. This leaves a condition where some buyers are paying an average of 25c a barrel less than other big buyers. Such a situation cannot last long without one side or the other yielding.

STEEL DEMAND IMPROVES

Further improvement is noted in specifications for steel bars, plates, and shapes although business still cannot be described as brisk, says Daily Metal Trade. Specifications for merchant bars are running ahead of expectations here, where incoming sheet business also is of fair size despite the light automotive demand. At Chicago, a well defined betterment is being shown in sales of finished material as well as in releases against obligations.

A striking feature of the situation is that specifications represent only the urgent needs of consumers who are not anticipating for the future. Automotive demand for cold-finished steel is picking up and specifications for tin plate are holding to a rate equal to that at this season a year ago. The tin plate outlook in both packers and general line of cans is regarded as promising at least for the first half of the year.

Merchant steel pipe is moving at the restricted rate of the past few weeks. Cast iron pipe prices are firmer in the east but the market has scarcely been tested. Pig iron buying is slower here though shipments are holding at the improved rate of recent weeks.

To PITTSBURGH

National Center of Industry and Commerce

THE PENNSYLVANIA DEDICATES

THIS MODERN FREIGHT TERMINAL

Opening January 27

IMPRESSIVE ceremonies January 24th mark the completion of the Pennsylvania's new Eleventh Street Freight Station—the largest in the city and one of the most modern in the world.

Here is yet another proof of the Pennsylvania's faith in the future of Pittsburgh as a national center of industry and commerce.

In Pittsburgh's great mill districts—the flaming heart of industrial America—are manufactured the thousands of articles which supply the iron and steel sinews of our modern civilization.

Speeding these products to destination—directly to 8 out of 9 of the largest cities in the country and into 12 of the richest American states—is the task of the Pennsylvania Railroad. To and from Pittsburgh the Pennsylvania hauls more freight than any other railroad.

From the new Pennsylvania Freight Terminal—open for business January 27th—millions of dollars worth of Pittsburgh products will start their journeys to the ends of the earth. No wonder that more and more the sign of the Keystone is becoming to the people of Pittsburgh an emblem of world commerce.

NOW . . .
a complete "freight center" for Pittsburgh

THIS new Freight Terminal at Eleventh and Etna Streets—added to the recently completed Produce Terminal—gives Pittsburgh a comprehensive "freight center" containing every modern facility for the expeditious handling of incoming and outgoing freight of all classes.

Centrally located between Eleventh and Twenty-fifth Streets along the Allegheny River—this freight "center" is easy of access, surrounded by concrete driveways, of maximum convenience to patrons.

The freight terminal—like the new Produce Terminal opened last spring—is equipped with the most modern devices. It has a large floor area, with tailboard space at platforms accommodating 200 teams and trucks at one time, eliminating congestion and delays. Adequate team tracks and crane facilities for yard or team track delivery also provided. Both carload and less-than-carload freight may be shipped to or received from all points.

The terminal will be open to the public for inspection Friday, January 24, 1930, from 10.00 A.M. to 4.00 P.M.

"Life Insurance is the Quickest way to create an estate"

JOHN G. LONSDALE
President of the American Bankers Association

IN making this statement, JOHN G. LONSDALE, President of the American Bankers Association, voices the opinion of presidents of leading banking institutions and of great life insurance companies.

America is the best insured country in the world. Life insurance forms the keystone of the majority of men's estates in this country.

It is quickly built up and should be considered from the standpoint of the income it will produce, and the necessities of the beneficiaries.

"A Life Insurance Trust is the best way to conserve it"

THIS statement of Mr. Lonsdale also has wide endorsement. The amount of life insurance money protected by this method has increased almost 300 percent in three years.

The advantages of having your own life insurance placed in trust with us as trustee are:

—the principal will be invested in securities selected after careful scrutiny and deliberation.

—the income will be paid to those you name, periodically, as you direct.

—to meet unusual family situations that you cannot anticipate, you also can instruct us to use parts of the principal as may be required.

There is no set form for a Life Insurance Trust. But one can be made to order to meet your purposes and to take care of the needs of your beneficiaries.

Give us your financial measurements and we can help you lay out a plan that will conform to them.

Re-Building of Prosperity Is Already Here

By B. C. FORBES

THIS roll call confined strictly to facts indicates encouragingly that the country is already over its fright and progressing towards normalcy.

Employment is on the increase, official figures furnished President Hoover clearly demonstrate.

Steel production has been stepped-up quite briskly since last month. Automobile output is being expanded with unexpected vigor.

Railway traffic is now only slightly under the high mark of a year ago.

Price-cutting has been extraordinarily rare, with the consequence that the general level of commodities has most recently shown remarkable steadiness.

Wage rates broadly speaking, have not been lowered.

Retail trade, while naturally affected by weather conditions at different points, is reported as somewhat better than had been anticipated.

THAT confidence and courage have revived in high circles is revealed by the resumption of various important merger deals.

New security offerings are reappearing, including investment trust issues.

The stock market is showing increasing resistance to raids by bears, reflecting that necessitous selling is over. Lately there have been growing signs that very little stock is for sale around current levels and that it takes only moderate buying to start prices rising.

Brokers' loans and other loans have been drastically reduced, placing the nation's ratio of reserve on a most comfortable basis.

Call money in Wall street this week has been available unofficially at as low as 3½ per cent, while time facilities are the cheapest in years.

Gold exports have ceased and several important shipments from foreign (non-European) countries have been arranged.

Official figures supplied the writer by presidents of many corporations bring out that there has been a very notable gain in the number of investors owning shares in industrial and public utility corporations.

LATEST events stimulate hopes that far-reaching Eastern railway consolidations, after interminable delay, are at last making real progress toward completion.

The Washington administration's attitude toward business is cordially co-operative.

The Federal Reserve Board's policy elicits the approval of the financial world.

Apprehension that the panic in stocks would kill national prosperity and that nothing but hard times could be expected throughout 1930 has already greatly abated—indeed, it has disappeared entirely in most circles.

The prevailing sentiment in the financial world, in the industrial world, in the business world, now is one of rational hopefulness, optimism, even confidence that the turn for the better is already in its incipient stages and that improvements will become more pronounced by spring.

In short, the nation has not lost its head but is resolutely looking for and towards the speedy return of normally favorable conditions.

OUR economic structure is firmly based. What was its one notorious weakness, stock inflation, has been effectively eradicated. The rebuilding of prosperity promises to go forward from now on.

Bank of England Rate Unchanged

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Bank of England re-discount rate remains unchanged at 5 per cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Failure of the directors of the Bank of England to reduce the discount rate from its present level of 5 per cent will result, it is generally believed, in the retention of the present 4½ per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank and postpone any reduction of the New York rate for a week at least. The impression in banking circles here persists that lower rates are only a matter of a comparatively short time.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 23. (AP)—The bond market remained in the doldrums today, unable to shake off the lethargy that has held it since last week. Aside from a few small municipal loans, there was no new financing.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—New business done in 1929 by 44 life insurance companies, representing 74 per cent of the country's production in this field, reached the record-breaking total of $12,885,000,000 an increase of 5.4 per cent over 1928.

The Association of Life Insurance Presidents, in reporting the figures, said that with the exceptions of May, September and December new life insurance increased in every month of last year. Industrial insurance, with a rise of 7.6 per cent, showed a larger gain than either ordinary or group insurance. The latter decreased 11.3 per cent, while ordinary business increased 7.3 per cent.

The years total is exclusive of revivals, increases and dividend additions.

BETHLEHEM TO SHOW $10.50 A SHARE

Satisfactory Profit for Full Year Despite Halt In Last Quarter of 1929

New

Estimates of Bethlehem's earnings for the year range between $10 and $11 a share, after dividends of $2.25 on the 200,000 shares of preferred outstanding at the end of the year. Bethlehem reported net income for the first nine months of 1929 of $11,354,720, equal after dividends to $4 a share on the 2,400,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of September. Bethlehem's net income for the three months ended December 31 last totaled $6,000,000, or $2.58 a share on the 2,400,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of the year.

LATE MONTHS SLOW

However, such results may be viewed as satisfactory when it is borne in mind that Bethlehem's earnings for the last quarter of 1929 were considerably smaller than in the preceding three months, when operations at a record level were maintained. In the quarter ended September 30, last year, Bethlehem reported net income of $11,354,720, equal after dividends to $4 a share on the 2,400,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of the three months, totaled $6,000,000, or $2.58 a share on the 2,400,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of the year. Earnings of Bethlehem in the future will reflect the retirement of part of its bonded indebtedness. Since the funds for this operation were raised by a stock offering, the elimination of interest deductions and sinking fund charges may not mean a substantial increase in per share earnings on common.

MORE STOCK OUT

Should the fourth quarter of Bethlehem's operations come for the year to $40,450,000, this would be equal, after dividends, to $10.50 a share on the 2,400,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of the year. However, the amount earned on the average number of shares outstanding would be higher for both the fourth quarter and the entire twelve months.

Bethlehem's share earnings naturally were reduced in 1929 because of the substantial increase in the amount of common outstanding. In April the corporation offered stockholders rights to subscribe for one new share for each three held at $85 a share, and again in September common holders were asked to subscribe for one new share for each three then held at $110 a share. As a result of these operations there was an increase from 1,800,000 shares to 2,200,000 shares in the amount of common outstanding during 1929.

1928 SHOWING

In the year ended December 31, 1928, Bethlehem reported net income of $18,585,922. Allowing for payment of $6,842,500 in preferred dividends, compared with $7,000,000 paid out in 1929, there was a balance available for the common stock in 1928 of $11,743,422, equal to $6.52 a share on the 1,800,000 shares of common outstanding at the end of that year.

Earnings of Bethlehem in the future will reflect the retirement of part of its bonded indebtedness. Since the funds for this operation were raised by a stock offering, the elimination of interest deductions and sinking fund charges may not mean a substantial increase in per share earnings on common.

OPERATIONS GAINING

Bethlehem has made excellent strides in resuming activities since the first of the current year. It has actually been busier than any other large steel unit and at present is credited with operating between 73% and 74% of capacity, compared with a low of 40% and 45% during the Christmas holiday shut-down. Specifications from customers and a moderate amount of new business just placed have been responsible for this improvement.

At this early date some interests in the industry believe that earnings for the first quarter of the current year actually will be better than those for the final three months of 1929. It is too early, however, to make any definite prediction in this connection.

Trade Conference Aid to Industry

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 23. The trade practice conference, becoming one of the foremost agents of self-regulation in industry today, Judge Edgar A. McCullough of the Federal Trade Commission declared today at the opening of a trade practice conference of the crushed stone industry.

More than 90 separate industries of the country have applied for and held these conferences in sincere efforts to eliminate unethical, destructive and uneconomical trade practices, he said. The supreme achievement of trade practice conferences, he said, lies in the fact that it is the industry and not the government which makes the rules.

Auto Makers Prosper At Agents' Expense

BY GEORGE H. SNYDER

AUTOMOBILE makers prospered last year at the expense of their dealers. This charge is being made by the retailers of automobiles in all parts of the country. It is applied to a large number of manufacturers, but Ford is most often placed in the accused list by other producers.

Last year established a high record in automobile production, profits in most cases were lower than in 1928. While the year was marked by an unprecedented demand for new cars, the charge is made that a very large portion of the gain of 1,000,000 cars made in this country in 1929 was attributable to the practice of forcing shipments on dealers regardless of individual estimates of market requirements.

At the close of 1928 stocks of new and used cars in dealers' hands were at unprecedentedly high levels. On November 1 the Automobile Dealers' Association estimated that retail sales of new cars were between 650,000 and 750,000 cars and that used car stocks were between 750,000 and 1,250,000. This is a large number of cars held by independent automobile dealers.

Take Them or Quit

While a few automobile makers have treated the dealers' problems with intelligence, others still follow a policy of utter ruthlessness. The manufacturer estimates the amount of cars a particular dealer should be able to handle. It is common practice to force upon this amount of cars and to draw a draft on their value.

The dealer must accept the cars and pay for them or lose his franchise. Dealer contracts are usually revocable at the manufacturer's pleasure. The cancellation of a franchise leaves the dealer with a service station, a large inventory of parts and accessories and a stock of used cars. The loss of an agency may mean financial ruin, so that the average dealer is at the mercy of the manufacturer and has to go to any possible length to avoid a breach of relations.

Ford Greatest Offender

Of all the manufacturers Ford is charged by dealers with being the most ruthless in his attitude towards the men who sell his cars. At various times in his career he has made investigations to determine the amount of credit his dealers have with their banks and has then shipped them cars for the full amount of this credit regardless of market conditions.

In other cases he has not even given the dealer an opportunity to select the type of cars he wishes to buy. Recently Ford shipped a taxicab to a dealer who is located in a small rural community where he has practically no chance of finding a buyer.

Prices Cut

The greatest howl from dealers followed Ford's recent reduction in prices. Previous to the cut Ford stocked up his agencies on new cars. These were sold to dealers at the old prices and the retailers, not Ford, had to take the losses on most of the finished cars. A reduction was also made in the dealers' discounts which were cut from 20 to 17½ per cent. Thus most of the cut in the price of cars has been absorbed by the dealer organization. This takes a very substantial slice out of the profits of most of the agencies.

The policy of forcing the acceptance of new cars has also left many dealers with large inventories of old models which can be sold only at a loss now that changes in design have been announced.

Survey Made

In a study of the dealer situation recently made by the Standard Statistics Company it was pointed out that 13 of the largest dealers' associations reported that profits of their members were less last year than in 1928. Larger new car stocks were reported by 10 of these and larger used car stocks by 12. Increases in the percentage of dealer failure were reported by seven. Only one showed a decrease in failures while replies from five were inconclusive on this point.

While the survey stated that there might be some measure of truth in the producers' claims than these tactics are necessary, it spoke of the general situation as follows:

"In no other great American industry are the high-handed terroristic tactics that are at times employed by some automobile manufacturers in their dealer relationships any longer tolerated. In the automobile industry they cannot be tolerated much longer, if the industry is to get back to a prosperous basis."

REHEARSED

IN the forthcoming Ritz revue, so-called "The Ritz Revue" there is a line devoted to the merry magdalens of show biz that terpsichorities need not be beautiful to get by so long as they have intelligence. Part of the dialogue appears as follows: "You don't have to be a Marilyn Miller if you know what Gershwin and Schuler."

During the rehearsals of the show the chorus girls were at odds dressing it somewhat. "What's a Schuler?"

Oh, you know, was the reply, "one of those English dukes."

A WHITE LIE

Sardi's one of the magnificos of the Forty-nine Forties for bacon and hash has been making a bid for a larger patronage of scribes. The restaurant's best known for its walls which are lined with framed likenesses of this actor or that actress has been sending out letters to the execs appearing in the various shows. The letter screams in huge type: "Dine at Sardi's where you won't meet any of the Dumbbells." The postscript explains the meaning of the coined word. "Dumbbells" it says, "are uninteresting people."

Meaning one presumes that the pictures of the alleged celebrities on the walls are not of uninteresting people which they are.

REPARTEE IN A GAY PLACE

PEGGY JOYCE: Oh, come now confess it, you men like the dumb kind as well as the others.

Flipcracker: What others?

POOR, BUT HONEST

Among other things that startled us in the literary world was discovering that the Reader's Digest, a fascinating magazine, refuses to pirate material for its fillers. Instead the Digest selects tid-bits or bon mots from such delightful publications as the New Yorker and forwards a check for same. Thus this letter from the New Yorker: "As you may not know, a magazine called the Reader's Digest reprints occasional paragraphs from our Talk of the Town department. Each month they send us a small check to be divided amongst the authors concerned. In their December issue they picked up an item you had a hand in, so I am enclosing a check for $1."

COMPLAINT

ADMITTING that "they stand for nothing" such as Gershwin stands for, "jazz admirers of the Messrs. DeSilva, Brown and Henderson cry out that they are weary of hearing the incessant praises of the Berlins, Gershwins and Kerns. The literati grumble, the fans are the ones who keep reminding us that Gershwin, et al, are the greatest of the song writers, because the trio have never, never, never written a flop song or show in their illustrious careers.

"Besides writing such hit shows as 'Follow Thru,' several 'Scandals,' 'Good News,' 'Hold Everything,' writes an admirer, 'they've written numerous song hits such as 'The Birth of the Blues,' 'Varsity Drag,' 'Cream in My Coffee,' 'Button Up Your Overcoat,' 'It All Depends On You,' 'Aren't We All,' and dozens of other great hits!'"

Quitean quitean, but DeSilva, Brown and Henderson also wrote "Bonny Boy."

DESCRIPTION

And Harry Reichenbach describes an N. G. G. (Broadway for No Good Guy) as "a human parenthesis. you know what parentheses are—something you can get along with or without."

OOP

IT is a well known stage fact that before opening in a new show, for the first time in a long spell, he treated one of his own favorite performing members of the cast to watch him rehearse his particular specialty, dialogue, etc. Called the boys and girls of the ensemble together, the other day, he said:

"My little friends, I will let you all remain to watch me rehearse some of our funny skits, but I beg of you, please do not talk about them outside the theater." The last time I let the chorus watch me rehearse they told some of my best jokes to those columnists who ruined my material by printing it. They all promised not to talk about them and the rehearsal went on.

But one of the girls couldn't resist unfolding the funny skits to some of us last night and the point thing was embarrassed no end because the columnists present told the answers or punch-lines before she did.

ADD SIMILES

Robert Garland's: As dead as a discharged columnist.

OF ALL THINGS!

THE censors still are editing the movies so that our morals won't be blemished. In Canada recently "The Pagan" sub-titles were blue-penciled, one of which was: "A pagan's only god is nature, a pagan's only law is love." In Pennsylvania the censors eliminated this from Lenore Ulric's "Frozen Justice" flicker: "He's after furs and women."

The Pennsy censors, incidentally being the same dear persons who once objected to the subtitle: "She's a streetwalker."

Which was changed to: "She's an actress!"

WHY I'LL GO TO HELL

Our recent column titled "Why I Think I Ought to Go to Heaven" has enticed hundreds of letters from here and there and the Bronx—several of the writers taking advantage of the opportunity so dear to the hearts of newspaper readers. From Lillian D. of the Bronx comes the best, however. She sums it up in a line: "You'll never go to heaven," writes Lil, "because they couldn't possibly have a halo up there to fit your head."

India Independence Dinner Arranged

A dinner to celebrate the declaration of independence of India will be given Sunday evening in the Faculty Club, De Sota street, Oakland. The dinner will be given under the auspices of the Hindustan Association of America.

Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin recently introduced a resolution asking for the support of the Senate if the President decides to recognize India's independence. It was referred to committee.

N. Boroughs Post To Stage Bouts

Seven boxing bouts will be staged in the Avalon Borough Hall tomorrow night under the auspices of North Boroughs Post No. 116, American Legion. Burgess Grant Ritchie will be master of ceremonies. The committee includes C. L. Yost, A. A. Bowdle, Harry Beers, D. B. Golden and W. S. Mershon and Thomas C. Barr, post commander.

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d" to form "mined" would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT

Pool Drive, Ten Days' Old, Still Is Very Small Boy

About 10 days ago Safety Director Clark ordered the police to clean up the clearing house pools, or "numbers" racket.

At that time the Sun-Telegraph editorially commented, stating that it would be good to abolish such lotteries, adding that if only small fry were driven out of the business, leaving the field clear for political racketeers in the game, "not much will have been accomplished."

And in these 10 days very little has come of Director Clark's crusade.

A report that District Attorney Gardner was going to begin a lottery drive resulted in a denial from that official, quoted as saying he did not wish to usurp the job of city officers, but would act if he received complaints of lotteries in the county.

In any event, the public will measure the earnestness of the effort of any official by the result. It will regard with disfavor any result that merely creates a monopoly for political gangsters. We want no "official" pools to bring such scandals as "official beer" did.

Postoffice Bids Soon, Washington News States

According to news from Washington, advertising for bids to begin construction of a new $6,000,000 postoffice and federal building for Pittsburgh will be placed soon. That is good news. Secretary Mellon is said to have discussed the matter with Ferris Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of public building construction, and to have "expressed the hope that the work would be expedited as rapidly as was consistent with regulations."

Everybody in Pittsburgh will say "amen" to Mr. Mellon's prayer.

Britain's Throne Topples

That Means Nothing.

London is more or less agog over an omen. The royal throne of England was moved last week from the House of Lords to the Royal Gallery, where the King formally opened the naval conference.

Workmen dropped it and it fell over on its side.

Loyal Britons refuse to discuss the incident or refer to it except in hushed whispers.

King George, Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales were not alarmed, however, by that.

The British wisely keep their King and WILL CONTINUE to keep him. Years ago they regulated him so that he could do much good and no harm.

In robes of State, with a crown on his head and a sceptre in his hand, he is much more decorative and imposing than our President. Mankind loves a show and pays to see it when it is done well, as British royalty does it.

The fathers of our country, framing our wonderful Constitution, forgot that. Perhaps they judged human nature too highly.

Rush of New Things

This Is an Age of Thought and Action.

George Gershwin, composer, recently engaged in a lively debate on culture with Dr. Blanche Colton Williams, head of the English department of Hunter College. Dr. Williams has her doubts about "the gorgeous rush of new things" which Gershwin believes are sparks, some of which kindle significant flames of new beauty and awareness. Dr. Williams feels that culture is being trampled in the rush of new things.

They are doubtless both right. For every new era that is born something precious dies. But the fine thing about it all is the realization that we live in an age that is very much alive with thought and action. At least no one need complain of monotony if he will venture into main currents of modern effort.

The Case of Mr. Tobias

Sentence Suspended for Good Reasons.

Wife desertion is now a felony in Texas—and J. F. Tobias is the first man to be convicted under the new law. He was sentenced to a year's imprisonment, but the sentence has been suspended. And, we think, for very good reasons. It now appears that Mrs. Tobias—

1. Outweighed her husband by 100 pounds.
2. Indulged in husband-beating.
3. Snapped a pistol at him.
4. Slept with a butcher knife under her pillow.

Men are men down in Texas—mere men.

Note of Pessimism

Cartoonist Evidently Forgot About His Creation.

Mexican patriots have often expressed the conviction that their countrymen should work out their own destiny and not adopt American attitudes. And yet many of our characteristic traits are apparent in Mexican deportment. For example, a young cartoonist in Mexico City was recently awarded a prize for creating the best graphic argument in favor of prohibition. And the very next day he was jailed for drunkenness.

SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit.
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Community Fund for charities.
6—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
7—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
8—Development of river transportation.

A Menace of the Air

Drawn by Nelson Harding

Before this giant of the air
The smaller birds must take to flight,
Or be devoured ruthlessly
By one they cannot hope to fight.

Our Government must guard against
This menacing monopoly,
And with wise legal safeguards keep
Our air communications free. —N. H.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

A SICK man that wasn't very sick got the doctor to say that he ought to go to Europe for a month. When he come back he went around to the doc again.

"Well," says the doc, "you're feeling a lot better, ain't you?"

"No I ain't."

"But didn't the change do you no good?"

"There wasn't any change. My wife went along," he says, kinda hopeless-like.

HE FORGETS SAMMY

By Herbert Kaufman

SENATOR WAGNER, of New York, attributes prevalent unemployment to the robot, improved machinery and a cruel tendency to consider men between forty and fifty too old for maximum utility.

He offers the tariff as ONE antidote against growing industrial idleness.

Higher schedules will make foreign wares more expensive than American products, increase the consumption of domestic merchandise and reduce local factory layoffs.

Nothing new in that proposal. The Republican Party has remained in national power most of the time, just because it HAS consistently handicapped European competition and endeavored to keep alien hands out of the American workman's dinner pail.

But Senator Nobody of Anywhere seems to be worrying over what's likely to happen to clerks, bookkeepers and minor help, who have no collective bargaining might, and whose voting strength isn't YET sufficiently organized to procure a share of the tariff "equalizations" which Senator Wagner champions.

THE tariff deprives this class of consumers of cheap, imported goods, without furnishing a basis of salary boosts to meet advanced living costs.

Sammy, the errand boy, ESPECIALLY finds that so.

When you were a youngster, every hard-earned dollar had a long way to go, but it managed to make the journey without LIMPING.

Granting that Sammy gets more, he ALSO gets less WITH it. The same money that once "talked turkey"—not to mention round steak and pork chops—is now whispering so faintly that the butcher and the baker and landlord can barely hear it speak.

With apologies to the late Claire Briggs, here's where "a fellow needs a friend."

BUT he's such an insignificant factor in your affairs that you're apt to forget what a BIG consideration you represent in HIS.

Sammy's mother has reached the conclusion that their breakfasts won't be quite so lavish as last year's—nor lunch parcels so fat as formerly. And, thanks to the Grundy group, there'll probably be more cotton than EVER in his next near-wool suit.

The Winter's coal is a very acute problem in that household; and so are the Winter's colds, which he, incidentally, can't afford to coddle at the risk of being docked or fired.

BUT suppose you add the other details. Since you were a poor boy, too, and vividly recollect the pinches of poverty, it should take no great stretch of imagination to picture your OWN son in Sammy's place—prematurely galled by the TRACES—rising daily in the dark—buffeting early morning winds—punching the clock with numb, frost-bitten fingers—conforming to rules and regulations with no allowance for the instabilities of adolescence—bullied by every under-strapper and office martinet. . . .

The possibility hardly appeals to you—but don't DISMISS it because it's unpleasant. And don't invoke the balance sheet to PROVE that you can't do better. Dollars and cents haven't the sort of sense to understand the situation.

Sammy isn't a ward of COLD-BLOODED efficiency, but of WARM-HEARTED DECENCY.

You'll never grow rich grinding him down to the last penny he's FORCED to accept. And you won't grow appreciably POORER by making a little less profit out of his services.

At best, his earnings MUST be paltry. He isn't experienced or old enough to take an independent stand. You can't change his AGE, but you can raise his WAGE.

(Copyright, 1930, by Daily Mirror, Inc., and Herbert Kaufman.)

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

"I COULDN'T bare to face the holidays with my darling gone," she writes. "I couldn't bear to see other people happy . . . it makes me feel so bankrupt."

So many crying that this year . . . every year. But we should be proud, we who have loved . . . proud even if we've lost. We should be happier than other folk, stronger and steadier, and more generous. . . like that old proverb which says "noblesse oblige." For love has made us noble. Love is a kingly service and grief its accolade.

We should not act as if we had been robbed. We feel we have been robbed because our thought of love was all awry. We never owned that dear life that has gone. It was no more our own than are the flowers of spring; the far, white stars; the lonely, roving winds. Like these it was a part of everlasting beauty and immortal life. We were its partners . . . but it was not ours.

It came . . . filled us for a while with song. And then it went, and left us to go on alone. But we should not go bitter, envying other joy . . . as though regretting the great price we paid. No matter what it costs, love's worth the price.

For love's the greatest wonder that can happen to a life. Never again will we, who've loved, be quite the same. Never again so selfish as before love shared our hearts. Never again so stupid as before love lit our eyes. Never again so callous as before love taught us pain. Love found us common, but it left us great. It left us richer, even though it broke our hearts. But hearts are never really useful till they break.

Do not cry "Life is over!" Life has just begun. Until now you have lived like a small child who finds content within its box of toys. Now you are grown . . . ready for wider life . . . ready to put aside the little toys of Self. Now you can love all lives where once you loved but one . . . and understand all grief and loneliness and need. And, from your hard-won wisdom, find a way to heal.

And by that healing you will heal yourself. And only through that healing can your own wounds be healed. Tears do not heal . . . nor brooding over grief . . . kissing old letters . . . clutching a tiny shoe . . . sobbing and beating air with frenzied hands. These things leave life hollow as it was before. Only love heals the hurt that love can give. Only more love can fill love's empty place.

So—Love! Choke back your tears and smile! Spread out warm, friendly arms to all the world! If love was worth the having, prove it now! Walk proudly in its living memory!

Text for Today

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—1 John 1:9.

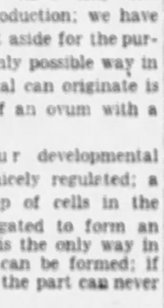
(The text for today is suggested by the Rev. Dr. J. W. Hawley, pastor, First Methodist Protestant Church, East End.)

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

NOW, in many invertebrates, freely moving cells of this kind play other parts in the economy of the organism, not merely absorbing undesirable matters.

In the oyster, for example, the digestion and absorption of food is accomplished in part by creeping cells which elbow their way through the tissues of the digestive tube into its canal; they fall upon the food, taking it into their own tiny bodies, and then they creep back through the wall of the intestine into the tissues of the oyster again.



H. G. Wells

They even assist in transporting food round the body, for they creep everywhere and give up the particles that they have taken in whatever they are required. They can leave the body of the oyster altogether and prowl about in the mantle cavity (the space between the creature's body and his shell), where presumably, they act as outposts against invading bacteria.

In the earthworm there is a similar state of affairs; creeping cells leave his body and wander about over his skin, scavenging and keeping it clean.

The more flexible organization of the lower animals is clearly seen in the reproductive processes.

We ourselves have only one method of reproduction; we have definite cells set aside for the purpose, and the only possible way in which a mammal can originate is by the union of an ovum with a spermatozoon.

Moreover, our developmental processes are nicely regulated; a particular group of cells in the embryo is delegated to form an arm, and that is the only way in which an arm can be formed; if we lose an arm the part can never be replaced.

In the lower vertebrates, on the other hand, the cells are not so rigidly specialized; a newt, for example, can grow a new limb if one is accidentally lost.

Lizards can grow new tails, and they make good use of their ability; if a lizard is pursued and finds itself hard pressed it deliberately breaks off its own tail, which, writhing aimlessly like the body of a newly decapitated man, distracts the pursuer while the rest of the lizard makes its escape.

In those verly lowly organized members of our own phylum, the sea-squirts, the tissues have a tremendous power of reconstruction. There are kinds of sea-squirts in which the animal can be cut completely in halves, and in which each half then grows the missing organs so that two individuals result.

This power, which ascidian tissue has of reconstituting itself, is used for reproducing the species; besides the normal sexual method the animals can reproduce asexually by sprouting out buds.

There are sea-squirts, such as Doliolam, that bristle with buds as a pageboy bristles with buttons.

Often the individual sea-squirts formed in the latter way do not part company, but remain close together, so that by several asexual generations extensive groups or colonies of animals are built up.

In ourselves, the healing of a wound, the formation of new skin to seal a cut, of new fibres when a muscle is torn, of a new bone when an arm or leg is broken—these are the only representatives, the physiological homologues, so to speak, of the great power of reconstitution possessed by the sea-squirt.

Among invertebrates, the lobster is at about the level of a newt in this matter of reproductive power; it can part company with a limb in order to save itself, and it can slowly grow a new one.

An octopus, too, can grow a new arm. And in the starfishes the power of reconstitution is amazingly well developed. If a starfish be cut in halves, each half will sprout new arms and become a whole starfish—if a little of the disc is attached a single isolated arm can grow the rest again.

There are species of starfish which normally use this power, like the sea-squirts, for reproduction. After living harmoniously together for some time the arms seem to fall out and group themselves into two parties; one party walks as hard as it can in one direction and the other party pulls equally hard in the other, so that the central disc with mouth, stomach, anus and the rest is split right across. Finally, each of the two halves grows the missing parts and becomes a complete starfish.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Between 5 and 6 p. m., New York disports in the bath—the metropolitan panacea for overwrought nerves. Save for those who have phones in the bathroom, it is well nigh impossible to get anyone on the wire at this period.

A curious city editor had a relay of three reporters for two days calling up a selected list of names during the bathing interlude. The list included prominent bankers, professional men, shop keepers and so on. Among 300, it was found that 248 were indulging the evening splash.

No city is so "bath conscious." Outmoded hotels having rooms without baths had to install them or have the rooms unrented. People from out of town who never bathe more than once a day at home, are touched by the two-a-day bath contagion in the metropolis.

Many busy New Yorkers, aside from bathing morning and evening at home, have a built-in shower adjoining their offices. If they want to freshen up between appointments they may have a quick spray. Stock exchange members are frequent noonday shower addicts.

In the older New York theaters there was a skimpy shower bath off the dressing rooms of stars. But the new theaters not only provide a shower for each one of the principals, but there is a community shower for members of the chorus.

Dotting the congested business centers are innumerable basement baths where a quick shower and equally quick rub-down may be had. They are open all night and are largely patronized by gamblers and others of the White Way fraternity of night owls.

The mastodonic apartment houses on the upper East Side are featuring baths the size of ordinary rooms. Rental agents have found the first thing a prospective tenant asks to see is the bath. It is a pivotal point in putting over a long lease.

Literary folk are looking forward to the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Arlen shortly—especially Mrs. Arlen. As the very beautiful and youthful Countess Atalanta Mercati she was sought by the beaux of five continents before the dashing author came along and carried her off in a cyclonic courtship. Mrs. Arlen is described as a brunet with a haunting expression of grave-eyed sweetness—and the longest lashes in all Europe. Arlen met her while skiing at St. Moritz. He had gone over from Paris for the week-end and remained five months.

As St. Moritz gossip goes, the Countess had never read an Arlen book until she met him. After a dinner party he sent her an autographed copy of "The Green Hat." She began to read at midnight and did not put it down until finished. And thus the romance began.

The most expensive mausoleum in New York territory is planned for the south shore of Long Island. Eight years will be required for its construction. There will be 12 crypts, priced at $60,000, which includes permanent maintenance.

And on the north shore of Long Island there is springing up an exclusive section between Port Washington and Sands Point to be known as Harbor Acres. It is sponsored by Vincent Astor, and is for the very rich. There is a polo field nearby, many golf clubs and the New York Yacht Club landing is opposite Hempstead Harbor at Glen Cove. Everyone who lives there naturally comes to town in a yacht.

A new whipsy-whopsy is discovered in a recently opened jewelry establishment which has a doorman who stands inside in correct afternoon clothes with a red rose in his lapel and wearing gray kid gloves.

A jobless comedian in a third-rate hotel called up the clerk at 3 o'clock the other morning and announced: "Some of us will have to get out of this bed."

Somehow I wouldn't give a cent for a father who doesn't like to bore people with snapshots of his children.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DON'T patronize the person in your employ or over whom you have control in employment hours.

To a person of fine feeling and good breeding such an attitude is offensive. An opposite attitude would be preferable.

A patronizing spirit is exhibited only when one to whom it is extended is considered an inferior.

To a person of average intelligence and good character respect and consideration are desired. The mere matter of position so long as it is honest and respectable should not be looked upon as permitting the patronage that a servant might expect and appreciate.

Those who have bright minds and keen intellects are ambitious. Their goal is a commendable position, perhaps long deferred.

Do not extend to them anything that savors of patronage.

They want the respect due them, the opportunity to work and earn what they receive in the way of salary or wages. They do not seek any special favors, they don't want any. They want to work their own way upward.
